passage of the bill in the House came at the end of a long debate, at times was as bitter as has been heard on the floor of that chamber in years.

The fight was confined almost wholly to the Republican side. Democratic members joined in from time to time, and taunted the majority members for their lack of unity.

The Democratic leaders also put in the claim that the reciprocity agreement was good Democratic doctrine and declared they were glad to welcome President Taft and many of the House Republicans into the Democratic fold.

The final vote was reached tonight through the application of a cloture rule which shut off amendments and even dispensed with the reading of the bill. This procedure was decided upon only after Mr. McCall, in charge of the bill, had failed to get unanimous consent to do away with the calendar Wednesday.

If that had been secured, he said, he would have been glad to let the debate continue for another legislative day. The Republicans opposed to the bill fought the rule, denouncing it in caustic language. They directed their fire especially against the Democrats and

REAL LEAD IN STAGE BATTLE.

Two Men Wounded in Theater Performance of Western Play in Chicago.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—Two men were shot in a stage battle of a western melodrama in a downtown theater yesterday. The battle is the third act of the play and about 200 rounds of amunition are fired in the fight between Indians and soldiers. By mistake, one of the supposed blank cartridges contained a bullet and as a result one of the company was shot through the calf of the leg and a house electrician was hit in the foot by the same missile. The injured men are: George Creamer, 28 years old of New York, and Harry Warnick, electrician, of Chicago.

DECLARE WAR ON GOULDS.

Battle of Financial Giants Begins.

Kuhn, Loeb & Company Open a Campaign to Get Control of Roads.

Missouri Pacific and Companion Lines Object of Bankers' Assault.

If Successful, Big Firm Will Oust Rivals From the Money Markets.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Kuhn, Loeb & Co. who financed the Harriman lines, today began their long-threatened war against George J. Gould for control of the Missouri Pacific, which is the holding company for the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern, and the Rio Grande System, and which by rotation dominates the Western Pacific and the Texas and Pacific. Should Gould lose his power in the Missouri Pacific, the Gould family will be eliminated almost completely from the transportation domain and cease to be a factor in American finance.

Unless there were at least a good chance of toppling Gould from his throne and making him a mere subject, it is conceded that so mighty a financial establishment as Kuhn, Loeb & Co. would not engage in conflict. Of the $30,000 shares of Missouri Pacific stock, Gould owns less than 235,000, or approximately 40 per cent., and there are about 495,000 shares which the eastern banking house may buy or acquire through proxy.

TOOLS EMPLOYED.

Ostensibly representing two small stockholders, H. S. Priest and F. N. Judson of St. Louis, two of the foremost corporation counsel in America, applied at the Missouri Pacific headquarters with their clients, for the names and addresses of all the stockholders. The two stockholders had made similar demands at the New York offices on Saturday.

Although the Missouri Pacific headquarters are here, only the names of stockholders are among the records kept here. The complete stock list, with addresses as well as names, is preserved in Gould's office by A. H. Calef, the company's secretary. At the New York office the applicants were repulsed with a stern refusal, while at the St. Louis headquarters they were told that the register of names was at their disposal.

NOT STANDARD OIL.

Priest and Judson declined positively to say who had employed them. Priest stated that they were not engaged by the Standard Oil interests, as had been alleged. At the Missouri Pacific headquarters it was said that one of the stockholders gave the name of Steinan. From an authentic source, whose means of procuring reliable information cannot be questioned, it was ascertained that Priest and Judson are acting for Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

Judge Priest, pursuing a conciliatory course, declared his conviction that the Missouri Pacific officials would surrender the list of stockholders, with names and addresses. Should the lists not be furnished, he added, mandamus proceedings would be instituted, and this failing, a more effectual policy would be adopted.

CITY MAY BAR DYNAMITE.

New York Considering Advisability of Forbidding Use of Explosive Even by Contractors.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—It is announced that the Municipal Explosive Commission of Greater New York, which has been informally investigating the recent Communipaw explosion and several other less serious accidents with dynamite and other explosives in the vicinity, is considering the advisability of prohibiting entirely the use of dynamite within the city's limits.

The city's contemplated action would not only shut out dynamite for the purpose of blasting, but would also prevent its transportation or shipment from or to piers of terminals within the corporation.

Engineer and Fifteen Others Victims When Passenger Train Is Derailed at Philadelphia, Ill.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

JACKSONVILLE (Ill.) Feb. 14.—A westbound passenger train on the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern Railroad ran into an open switch this afternoon, at Philadelphia, Ill., twenty miles north of here, which resulted in the death of Engineer Oscar Hennick of Springfield, and injured fifteen passengers.

The passengers were given medical attention and detained for four hours until the track was cleared.

"DOUBLE HOODOO" OVERCOME.

Thirteen Tennessee Convicts Make Escape From County Jail on Thirteenth Day of Month.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHATTANOOGA (Tenn.) Feb. 14.—The "double hoodoo" of the No. 13 had no terrors for a band of prisoners who escaped from the Marion County Jail at Jasper last night.

The successful escape was made by a party of thirteen and they made their "getaway" on the thirteenth of the month.

Five negroes in the party overcame superstition to gain their freedom. They cut through the steel floor, then tunneled to a brick wall surrounding the jail yard. The wall was battered down before the guards were aroused and the prisoners escaped to the mountains.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) Feb. 14.—J. K. Turner, confidential friend of the Griscoms, left this afternoon for New York. It is believed here he is to see the Arnolds, or convey a communication from Griscom, Jr., to the person to whom the personal printed in a New York newspaper on Sunday was directed. This was the day named as the date when whoever the item was intended for would "hear" from "Junior."

LORD AND LADY OFF TO EGYPT.

DECIES AND CHILD BRIDE WILL SAIL FROM NEW YORK.

English Nobleman, Shows He Has Absorbed American Democracy by Greeting He Gives Georgians Who Crowd to Wish Pair Happy Journey—His Wife Radiant.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BRUNSWICK (Ga.) Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Browned by the sun and in the best of spirits over their stay in Georgia, Lord Decies and his child wife left this afternoon for New York to take steamer there for Alexandria, Egypt, to continue their honeymoon under the shadows of the pyramids.

Upon their arrival in Brunswick from Jekyll Island, where they had been occupying the residence of an uncle of the bride, a large crowd gathered and cheered the couple. Lord Decies showed that he had absorbed the democracy of the country by shaking hands with quite a number of well wishers, who introduced themselves while the car was waiting.

Lady Decies was dressed simply and becomingly in a gray suit and was fairly beaming out happiness. The bride and groom stated that they had enjoyed the climate and were high in praise of the beauty of the surroundings and country. Their interest has aroused in them a determination to buy a farm in Georgia and spend a part of their summers in this State.

Lord Decies has shown a profound interest in agricultural and laboring conditions in Georgia.

Danville Grand Jury Excludes State's Attorney From Room—Foreman Refuses to Discuss Action.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DANVILLE (Ill.) Feb. 14.—Late this afternoon, as the result of a disagreement between the grand jury and State's Attorney John H. Lewman, the latter was excluded from the room and it was announced the jury would hereafter proceed without his presence or advice.

When asked if this action meant that the grand jury would seek the appointment of a special prosecutor, Mr. Lewman referred all questioners to Foreman Woodyard, who said he would say nothing at this time.

It was said that the grand jury will adjourn Thursday or Friday after returning about 150 additional indictments, some of which will be for vote selling and perjury.

ALL ABOARD FOR VICE PROBE.

Venire Drawn for Grand Jury at Seattle to Investigate Charges Against Former Chief of Police.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SEATTLE, Feb. 14.—A venire for a special grand jury to investigate the administration of the Police Department under Chief Charles W. Wappenstein, was drawn at noon today. It is expected the jury will meet Friday to consider the evidence which Detective W. J. Burns has gathered.

The charge against Wappenstein will be accepting bribes from men engaged in conducting houses of ill fame and gambling, according to Burns. Account books and papers in the safe of the saloon of Gideon Tupper were seized several days ago by order of the prosecuting attorney and it is said they supply evidence of payments to the police.

Former Chief of Police Wappenstein said today:

"Burns and Murphy have simply dug up and rehashed the say so and hearsay stuff that was gathered from time to time since I entered office. It has been a conspiracy from start to finish, prompted by selfish and spiteful motives."

Mayor George W. Dilling, who was chosen to succeed Hiram C. Gill when the latter was recalled because of the police scandal, said today:

"I have it on good authority that Wappenstein not only profited as a result of vice privileges, but that he went out and organized a vice syndicate. How far this extended into the police or other departments I do not know, but I am inclined to believe that Wappenstein himself was the sole or main beneficiary."

Omaha Supports Bill.

OMAHA, Feb. 14.—The Commercial Club today unanimously indorsed the position of President Taft regarding

Col. Emilio Kosterlitzky and Family.

Col. Kosterlitzky has been ordered by Gen. Torres, commanding the military department of Sonora and Chihuahua, to make a dash against the enemy. While the exact nature of the orders cannot be ascertained, a quick and unexpected movement by this famous soldier of fortune is expected.

Grim.

KOSTERLITZKY TIGHTENING LINES ABOUT REBEL BAND STRONGHOLD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NOGLAES (Ariz.) Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Grim determination not to relax his hold is the only word that has come from Col. Kosterlitzky, who with his rurales is slowly drawing closer to the band of rebels he has surrounded in the Magdalena district.

The rebels are believed to be well armed, and recruits are said to be joining them from the mountain districts.

Twenty-four Federal troops in Nogales, Sonora, who were on outpost duty, played upon the imagination of their commanding officer, by citing the comforts of their room in a hotel. Scarcely was he out of hearing when the outposts deserted and are believed to be hastening to join the rebels. The officer upon his return to his post, finding the men gone, surrendered to his superior, and is now said to be in solitary confinement.

Emilio Kosterlitzky is perhaps the most picturesque man in the Republic of Mexico. By the same token he is one of the most forceful. His influence with President Diaz is without limit, because he is a man of that superior judgment that never strains a relation. Having had to do with courts and rulers all of his life, he is a man of tact and of unsurpassable delicacy. One of the ties which bind him to the President of the Mexican republic is that he is a high Mason. Diaz has himself ascended to the superior degrees of that order.

Col. Kosterlitzky is the ideal soldier of fortune. He has boundless courage, an excellent education and he hates peace. He is like Fate in his seeming disregard for persons and the shedding of blood in a good cause does not trouble his conscience. Duties that are hard for other men are merely duties for him. Heroics are his commonplaces. He has been at the head of Mexico's mounted police in the State of Sonora for more than fifteen years, and outlaws along the border fear him more than they do the devil.

With a little handful of rurales, Kosterlitzky is more powerful than any other officer in Mexico with half a regiment of soldiers. It is safe to say that by his command hundreds of Mexican outlaws have been removed from the realm of disturbance. When the big copper camp of Cananea was shaken to its foundation by fire and bloodshed on June 1 and 2, 1906, Kosterlitzky restored quiet to that camp in thirty minutes after his arrival there. More than 150 men had been killed in two days, yet the mere fact of Kosterlitzky's presence was sufficient to frighten all parties to the quarrel into immediate silence. His commanding-general, Luis Torres, relies upon him implicitly in every emergency.

For Harmony.

GEN. REYES, IN PARIS, FORMS PLANS FOR NEW MEXICAN ARMY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PARIS, Feb. 14.—Gen. Bernardo Reyes has completed the first part of his military mission from President Diaz, of Mexico, and today gave an outline of his conclusions. They have to do with the establishment of obligatory military service in Mexico.

The general said his ideal was a powerful army based on his suggestions, which would make possible a grand homogeneous republic, freed of revolution and anarchy.

Gen. Reyes said he had no idea of returning home now, as his doing so might be interpreted as a desire on his part to profit politically by the present political chaos in Mexico.

He said he would recommend to Diaz obligatory military service for two years, with no possibility for the richer classes to hire substitutes, as had been the practice in Spain.

The greatest difficulty he had found was the refusal of the educated and more prosperous classes to mingle with the poorer. To meet this situation the general will propose three divisions for the army. The first division will be recruited from a military academy designed for the sons of wealthy parents. The second will come from a school especially organized for the middle classes and the third division will provide for a general barracks for the masses.

The first and second groups, which will support their own establishments, will spend four years as reservists. The third will serve eight years in this capacity.

Gen. Reyes thinks the hope of Mexico lies in the Mestizo race, of which he said President Diaz was a noble exponent.

MYSTERIOUS FLOATER FOUND.

Nude Body of Woman, Minus Head and Limbs, Taken From River Near Cincinnati, Unidentified.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CINCINNATI, Feb. 14.—Attempts made today to identify the headless body of a woman found in the river here late last night, which apparently had been in the water about six months were fruitless. The limbs of the body are missing, but it is pratically certain these were removed by the action of the water. Absence of the head is a puzzling feature.

Only one woman is missing from Cincinnati, according to police records, and she disappeared a few weeks. The authorities declare the condition of the body precludes the supposition it is hers.

The police of Huntington, W. Va., have been notified, as it is said a woman resident of that place is absent and unaccounted for.

INSURRECTION "BOTTLED UP."

Navarro at Juarez With Troops.

General Belief Now Prevails That Backbone of Revolt Has Been Broken.

War Correspondents Pack up to Leave Scenes of Late "Unpleasantness."

Snipe-Shooting by Guerrilla's Practically All That Now Remains.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gen. Navarro of the Mexican regular army, with approximately 1600 men, including cavalry, infantry and artillery, rolled into Juarez at 7 o'clock this evening amid the acclaim of the inhabitants. The troops occupied three passenger trains and a work train, the latter preceding and carrying soldiers. Not a shot was fired by the insurrectos and Navarro's command was not intercepted at any of the mountain passes. Bridges on this division of the Mexican Central Railroad were repaired yesterday by workmen and those below were repaired by Navarro as he advanced.

Orozco and the other insurrecto chiefs, camped at Samalayuca and awaiting the arrival of Navarro when The Times correspondent left there at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, offered no resistance to the passage of the troop trains, although the insurgents occupied a strong position on the mountain heights overlooking the railway track and Samalayuca station. It is supposed that after the troops had passed, the insurrectos moved south, toward Chihuahua.

Navarro left Chihuahua with reinforcements for Juarez ten days ago, but made slow progress on account of the burned bridges and wrecked railway track. On the trip northward he was compelled to rebuild twenty-five bridges, one of which was 200 feet long.

Gen. Navarro was tendered a public reception by the people of Juarez after his arrival. When asked for a statement he said he had come to act, not to talk. Some estimates place the number of troops at 1500, but a more conservative estimate is 1000. The reinforcement of the city of Juarez is regarded as the most serious blow the insurrectos have received since the beginning of hostilities and the uprising is regarded as practically at an end. It is believed that it will now resolve itself into a guerrilla warfare with the ranks of the insurrectos greatly diminished.

The claim is advanced that Orozco and the others believed that the best place for Navarro, with his large body of soldiers, was at Juarez, where he is now practically isolated, leaving a large stretch of territory between here and Chihuahua and Casas Grandes unprotected by soldiers.

Any movement of troops southward from Juarez, it is stated, can be prevented by the burning of railway bridges.

With the arrival at Juarez of Navarro's reinforcements and the serious blow to the insurrecto "government" maintained in this city by the issuance of Federal Court warrants for President Madero and Gov. Gonzales, it is the general opinion among Americans here that the insurrection may now be regarded as a closed incident.

Gov. Gonzales was reported at a small town twelve miles east of Juarez this afternoon, whither he fled after the issuance of the warrant for his arrest. Madero has not been located.

The newspaper correspondents are preparing tonight to make their exit from the scene of hostilities.

MEXICAN BANDITS TO BE LINED UP AND SHOT.

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Feb. 14. Seven members of a band of bandits, who have been operating in the vicinity of Fronteras, thirty miles south of here, were arrested today by Mexican Federal troops sent down from Agua Prieta. According to advices received here, the bandits will be lined against a wall and summarily shot.

Col. Eleazor Munox, special representative of the Diaz government, crossed the boundary today to confer with Capt. Johnson, of the Third Cavalry. He thanked the American officer for the vigilance displayed by the United States border guard, and asked for a special patrol to guard against filibusters tonight.

INSURGENTS CLAIM TO HAVE PLENTY SUPPLIES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MEXICALI (Mex.) Feb. 14.—American officers commanding the United States boundary guard have shut down on insurgent supplies being sent over from this side of the line. The principal protest over this action has come not from the insurrectos, but from American merchants who have been drawing good incomes from the rebel war chest.

Gen. Leyvas, principal commandant of the insurgents occupying Mexicali, declared that he had sufficient supplies in sight for four months. Furthermore he apparently has a liberal supply of money, and his men, from the highest to the lowest in the ranks have been dining in the restaurants here daily. The order of the

Weeks Bill in Congress Is Called "Feudalism."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER (Colo.) Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A body punch was delivered at Roosevelt's "new nationalism" by the Senate today in the adoption of a concurrent memorial protesting against the enactment of the Weeks bill in Congress, which seeks to effect the State control of waters. The memorial sets out:

"That while transparently masquerading as a measure pertaining to the navigation on non-navigable streams, an excuse for violating the Constitution, is in reality an undertaking to extend the system of Federal feudalism under the guise of forest reserves throughout the United States.

"That the provisions of this bill, if put into effect, would deprive the people of this State of the ownership and control of the waters of our streams from the head of navigation to their extreme source would place the lands of the forest reserves practically outside the jurisdiction of the State, and would terminate and annul all unperfected lands and mining claims on such lands.

"That the waters and the right to their use belong to the people of the State under the terms of our Constitution—a compact accepted and approved by the Federal government—when Colorado came into the Union."

WILL PROBE DEATH OF MARBLE.

United States Navy Commander Drops Dead in Bathroom, Presumably of Apoplectic Stroke.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEWPORT (R. I.) Feb. 14.—Because of certain mysterious circumstances attending the death today in the naval hospital here of Commander Frank Marble, U.S.N., an inquest has been ordered. He died suddenly and it was first said death was due to apoplexy. Later it was announced that a fractured skull caused his death. He fell in his bathroom last night, striking his head. It is believed the fall was due to an apoplectic seizure.

Openly Advocates His Own Election as Senator From New York and Defends Tammany.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BUFFALO, Feb. 14.—William F. Sheehan's first public speech in behalf of his candidacy for the United States Senatorship, was made here tonight in the home city of two of the insurgent Democrats. Mr. Sheehan was given a cordial welcome.

In his speech, Mr. Sheehan defended the support given his candidacy by Tammany. No Democrat could be elected, he argued, without the New York City delegation and he had no apology to offer because he had received that support.

Big Haul.

ROBBERS SECURE HALF A MILLION DOLLARS IN TWO MAIL POUCHES.

Bags Containing Huge Sum in Negotiable Paper and Checks Stolen After They Had Been Dropped From Train at Junction in Georgia—Postal Inspectors Utterly at a Loss in Search for the Thieves

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ATLANTA (Ga.) Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two mail pouches which contained checks and other bank paper valued at $500,000 were recently stolen at Thalmin, Ga., where the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic Railway crosses the Seaboard Airline. The pouches were dropped from the A. B. and A., to be picked up by the Seaboard.

One pouch was stolen January 19, and the other on January 31, but postal inspectors who have been working on the case only made the thefts public today. The inspectors so far are absolutely without a clew. The pouches were made up in Brunswick and contained checks, drafts and registered letters destined for northern and western banks.

Inquiries among the banks and corporations, all of whom lost more or less in thefts, places the loss at $500,000, much of the paper being negotiable. There was also a large amount of cash and valuables in the registered letters.

The postal inspectors believe the pouches were stolen by persons who had knowledge of their contents.

CINCINNATI JEWELER ON WITNESS STAND IN SENSATIONAL TRIAL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CINCINNATI (O.) Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles Rosen, who was formerly one of the most prominent jewelers in Cincinnati and who was captured in Los Angeles, last fall, after a long chase, went to trial here today, charged with having secreted property in violation of the United States bankruptcy laws.

Rosen is charged with having taken this property, said to be several thousand dollars worth of diamonds and other jewels, and to have hid it when he appealed to the courts to be declared a bankrupt. Later it was found by the creditors and then Rosen disappeared.

He was arrested by the Los Angeles police and later came back to Cincinnati, but only after a long fight in the courts of the western city. It was his explanation that the jewelry found in storage out west is not property that belongs to himself or to his business, but is owned by his wife and was in keeping for her. It was admitted that he had given a considerable part of it to her, but that it had been done long previous to the happening of events that forced him into bankruptcy.

Attorney William Littleford, counsel for the defense attempted to show the jury that most of the property in question had been in household use at the Rosen residence here, and was not taken from the Race-street store as charged by the prosecution. Rosen will finish his testimony tomorrow.

SAY AUTOIST LEFT GIRL HE RAN DOWN UNCONSCIOUS IN HOTEL.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—After a two days' search for an automobilist said to have run down Miss Bessie Hogan and left her, unconscious, in a hotel lobby, Dr. E. G. Frisbie, president of St. Thomas's Hospital, was arrested tonight by city detectives and charged with the offense.

Miss Hogan was found late Sunday night by the hotel proprietor, and was for some time unable to tell how she had been hurt. Both hips were crushed and she suffered from concussion of the brain. Yesterday she described the accident, and the police, investigating her story, found a man who saw her struck. He described the machine which ran her down and on this clue the arrest was made.

Dr. Frisbie admitted taking the woman to the hotel, but denied that his machine struck her. He says that she fell unconscious to the pavement as he was passing, and that he took her to the address she gave as her residence, not supposing her condition to be serious.

OBITUARY.

Rev. Erskine N. White.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—The Rev. Erskine Morman White, D.D., corresponding secretary to the Board of Church Erection of the Presbyterian church, is dead here, of a combination of diseases. He was 78 years old. Dr. White was a Yale graduate of the class of 1854. He served through the Civil War in the Twenty-second New York regiment, returning to the pastorate at the close of the conflict. He was for seven years pastor of a church in Buffalo, N. Y., leaving there in 1886. His son, the Rev. Dr. Harley White, is secretary to the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions.

Woman Runs Pool Room.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—Mrs. Alice Walters, charged with conducting a pool room, pleaded guilty today before Judge Willis and asked to be placed on probation. Judge Willis took the request under advisement. Mrs. Walters was arrested some time ago in a raid on an exclusive women's pool room. She was held to answer for violation of the Walker-Otis anti-betting law.

ROCKEFELLER'S FAMOUS PREACHER MAY COME TO WORK IN THE WEST.

Rev. Charles F. Aked in Remarkable Interview Declares He Has Grown Weary of Fifth Avenue and Believes He Is Wasting His Time in the Fashionable Church Home of the Standard Oil Magnate.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The Rev. Charles F. Aked feels that he is wasting his time as pastor of the Fifth-avenue Baptist Church in this city—of which John D. Rockefeller is a leading member—and the famous English preacher contemplates leaving his present pastorate for some more promising field of labor, possibly in California. All this is set forth in statements of unusual character made by Dr. Aked to a British news agency for publication this week in England.

Dr. Aked is now on a month's vacation in California, where he has met a very cordial reception. The statement regarding his work in New York City was prepared before he left for the West, but, with the condition that it should not be made public either in England or America until today. He says:

WORK TOO SMALL.

"If I could be content with a very easy berth and a salary among the most charming people in the world, my future is settled, but I cannot be content with a work that seems to me to be small.

"It is a question for me whether I can bring myself to accept the limitations of my present position for the sake of friendships and for the sake of the little good I can do in New York.

"Mrs. Aked says that the nicest people in the world are to be found among Americans; that the nicest Americans are in New York, and that the nicest people in New York are in our church, and, as that represents the feeling of both of us, you can understand that it would be an absolute horror to feel that one's work called one elsewhere.

"The question of salary does not weigh with me. It's perfectly true that the church has just raised my salary to $12,000 from $10,000, but I would rather have a third or a quarter of that salary, as I used to have, and feel I was doing some good in the world, than have a big salary and feel that I am, compared with my English life, wasting my time.

VIEW NOT COMMON.

"I know that it is not the view that the people take. The church is crowded at all its various services. The people think it magnificent and their kindness to me knows no bounds. But it all seems very small to me after my English life. I feel as though, after four years, we ought to be in a different position and with different prospects.

"The trustees have understood from the first that I could not contemplate a permanent ministry under present conditions. Now I do not see how present conditions are to be remedied and I have to sit down and consider whether I can accept present conditions for the remainder of my natural life or whether I shall listen to proposals from some other city, or some other country."

Dr. Aked speaks at length of his efforts in connection with the project for the construction of a big new edifice for the church. It is the failure of this scheme on account of the difficulty of securing a site which the trustees could agree upon as entirely suitable, which appears to have discouraged him most of all.

PROJECT BREAKS DOWN.

"The great project," he says, "has completely broken down. We had in mind something that would have given us one of the biggest churches in American protestantism, perhaps in the protestantism of the world. Now we realize the impossibility of this. We are just where we were and that is nowhere, and so far as I can see, there is no outlet and very little hope.

"At the last trustees meeting I said there was no site yet suggested about which I could really feel satisfied and John D. Rockerfeller, Jr., said solemnly 'Doctor' if my life dependeds upon it, I could not say what is the wisest thing to do.'

"That is the position. It is easy to riddle with criticism any scheme presented to us, but it seems impossible to find out what we ought to do."

Of reports that he might accept a call to California, Dr. Aked has only this to say:

"I am to preach three times at the First Congregational Church in San Francisco, but I do not know what the position is until I get there, I cannot say."

But a telegram received yesterday from Dr. Aked indicates that San Francisco looks promising to him. His telegram says:

"The crowds, the enthusiasm and the spirit of the people are very exciting and I find the prospects singularly attractive."

WORKS WRITES ANOTHER LETTER REGARDING JUDICIARY RECALL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator-elect Works, former Councilman of Los Angeles, has "done it again." This time with impunity he has invaded the sovereign Legislature and delivered a scolding. He did it in a personal letter to Senator Leslie R. Hewitt, which was given out tonight by that member. Mr. Hewitt made no comment.

Works is thrusting his defiance right under the nose of Gov. Johnson, but the Governor will not discuss the letter tonight. Neither will Atty.-Gen. Webb, whose affidavit, mentioned in it by Works, seems to contain facts that Works says justifies legislative action.

Once more recall turmoil is to break loose as the special order before the Judiciary Committee tomorrow in the hearing of the Gates' recall constitutional amendment. Gates is having fight enough without Works butting in with another letter. Tonight it is asserted that the recall of the judiciary is doomed. The presence of the Governor at the meeting tomorrow is probable, as he intends there shall be no change of programme at all. The "big stick" may be present in person.

Though the letter is addressed to Hewitt, it does not mean that Hewitt is favoring the recall of the judges. He has not been urging it. It is assumed that Works understands his doubts on this grade of freak-making and consigned his second epistle to Hewitt. A negative vote from Hewitt will be no surprise.

Senator Cartwright of Fresno, who introduced a resolution ten days ago asking the Assembly to investigate the recent Ruef rehearing decision of the Supreme Court, will try to get his resolution out of the Judiciary Committee tomorrow also.

THE LATEST LETTER.

The Works letter, in full, follows:

"A few days ago I wrote a letter to Mr. Wheeler of San Francisco upon the subject of the recall of judges. Mr. Wheeler has given the letter to the newspapers. To this I had no objection, as I have very strong convictions on that subject and am perfectly willing that the people should know what those convictions are. The trouble is, as usual, that the newspapers, so far as I have seen, have none of them copied the letter in full and some of them have attributed to me, professedly as a quotation from the letter, a good many things that I did not say. That is particularly so as to the Los Angeles Examiner.

"I should regret exceedingly to see the Legislature of California go to the extent of applying the recall to judges. This is not because of any supposed sanctity attaching to the judicial office, but because of the fact, somewhat explained in my letter to Mr. Wheeler, that a judge would as likely as not be recalled for the simple performance of his duties as for a violation of them. One of the things I have feared more than anything else is that the present Legislature would go to extremes in the enactment of so-called reform legislation and bring about a reaction that would destroy the good work that has already been done.

"I expressed that fear to some members of the Legislature. It may be that I said so to you. If I did not, I want to say it now. I think no man, knowing my attitude toward these questions, can doubt my sincere desire to see all proper reform legislation enacted and enforced, particularly such legislation as seems to be necessary to protect the State from the great corporations and the control and domination of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and other of the interests, but it does not follow that I must agree with all other of the progressives in the extent to which this legislation should go.

ANOTHER PYHASE.

"There is another phase of the duty of the Legislature that seems so far to have been overlooked. Judges are not immune, under the laws of this State as they are now, from impeachment and removal from office. If the charges made against Judge Henshaw for example, by the Attorney-General of this State, under oath, are true, why is it the Legislature of this State before this has not commenced impeachment proceedings against him.

"The Legislature has no right to shrink from this duty and responsibility and relieve itself from taking such a step by delegating that duty and responsibility to the people of the State by the enactment of recall legislation. If Judge Henshaw or any other judge has violated his duty to the State and betrayed his office, as the charges made against him indicate, the duty of the Legislature is imperative, and that duty should be performed without hesitation and without delay.

"I am writing you thus frankly about the conditions and my views upon them for the reason that my expressed views to Mr. Wheeler on the subject of the recall have been made public throughout the State. It is certainly not my purpose or desire to protect any judicial officer from just punishment for the violation of his duties, but I think the recall as applied to judges is distinctly a wrong way to attempt to bring an unfaithful judge to retribution.

"You are at perfect liberty to show this letter to any member of the Legislature if you so desire."

OCEAN BITES HUGE SLICE OUT OF WASHINGTON SUMMER HOTEL.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

HOQUIAM (Wash.) Feb. 14.—The summer hotel at Moclips, containing 325 rooms, one-half of which was washed into the sea yesterday, probably will have to be abandoned, as a large part of the remaining wing is hanging over the water today.

The sea wall has collapsed and the ocean has cut away more than 100 feet of the land behind the wall and is taking long strips five or ten feet wide at every tide. A jewelry store was washed away last night and the public school building, together with seven cottages, went today.

As the land was washed out from under the school house, the building began to rock, which caused the bell to ring, adding to the alarm of the citizens.

Finally the schoolhouse, which was a pretentious structure, slipped into the sea and bobbed about like a cork, the bell still tolling dismally. A few minutes later a gigantic wave rolling thirty feet high, sent the building against the piling of the wrecked sea wall, and it disappeared like a house of cards.

A little while later Patterson's store was washed away. The total loss thus far is estimated at $50,000.

Salmon Fishing Craft Found in Admiralty Inlet Near Whidby Island Floating Bottom Up.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SEATTLE, Feb. 14.—The power salmon sloop W1833, which is the number of the fishing license issued to the boat by the State of Washington, was found today, bottom up, in Admiralty inlet, on the west coast of Whidby Island. All who were in the sloop when it was struck by last Sunday's furious storm, must have perished.

The craft belonged to James Blair and Charles Drake, of La Conner, Skagit county, and with them were a third man and a woman.

The sloop left La Conner last Thursday to cruise for fish in the Straits of Fuca. She was about forty feet long and not built to weather such gales as that of Sunday.

Take Prisoners From San Francisco to Southern Republic and Are Themselves Jailed on Suspicion of Being Insurrectos—Now They Want to Learn Spanish.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Paul Arnerich and Frank Kiernan, United States deputy marshals, have just returned to this city from the Mexican border, determined to pursue a course of study in Spanish. Several hourse spent in a Mexican jail as suspected insurrectos prompted this resolve.

The officers were detailed to return Gregorio Colin and Caesero Munoz, charged with the theft of 50,000 pesos, to the Mexican authorities. They were arrested at Naco Barracks and escorted to jail at the point of bayonets. Arnerich remonstrated and hurled explanatory epithets at the captain of the guard, without avail. He was stripped of his gun and together with Kiernan and their prisoners, thrown into a cell.

Arthur Brand, attorney for the Mexican Consul, appeared at the barracks and explaining in Spanish, caused the release of the alleged insurgents.

Woman Finds She Worried Over Validity of Marriage Four Long Years, Without Cause.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE, Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The absence of a justice of the peace's seal from the marriage certificate of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reicker, of Oroville, Cal., has caused Mrs. Reicker to lose many a night's slep worrying. She thought that the marriage was not legal, although she had been married since July 21, 1905, and for four years she has been unable to sleep well.

Reicker wrote to W. S. T. Derr, clerk of the Superior Court at Vancouver, Wash., asking if the marriage was on record, and if it were regular, legal and binding. Derr found the license recorded and wrote that while the seal was left off, the document was valid in every way.

HILLMAN CASE UP.
REALTY FRAUD ALLEGED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SEATTLE, Feb. 14.—The trial of millionaire Clarence D. Hillman, the "easy payment" dealer in temple townsites, charged with using the mail to defraud, was resumed, today, and the government continued to put homeseekers on the stand to tell their experiences with Hillman. The government expects to finish its case tomorrow. The defense has 150 witnesses to testify as to Hillman's character.

Burlington Railroad Official Pays Visit to Golden Gate City and Sacramento Investigating Lay of Land Under Orders of Northern Transportation Magnate.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Plans for the completion of a fourth transcontinental railroad line into San Francisco before the Panama-Pacific Exposition opens are being pushed by the Burlington system, according to statements made by C. G. Burnham, vice-president of the Burlington, who has been here and at Sacramento looking over the ground.

While talking with S. Glenn Andrus, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Sacramento, the railroad officer reiterated his former statements about the proposed line to San Francisco and assured Sacramento men that when the Burlington system was ready to push its lines into San Francisco it would come by way of Sacramento.

It is understood Burnham's trip has been made under orders from James J. Hill, who wishes to get an expert opinion on the country and the business possibilities. Hill evidently wishes to rush plans to get early business and be ready to have his lines established for carrying a part of the several million people who will travel to and from San Francisco in 1915.

ENTER SUIT FOR THEIR LETTERS.

PLAINTIFFS WOULD KEEP MAIL FROM NIXON BANK.

Seek to Enjoin Postmaster at Reno—Envelopes Addressed to Them Said to Contain Mining Contract That the Promoters Are Not Satisfied With.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] W. E. Jones of Abbeyville, S. C., and 210 other residents of that State have applied for an injunction in the District Court at Reno to restrain Postmaster Dwight Dawson of Reno from giving 211 registered letters addressed to them to the Nixon National Bank. They also ask for the costs of the suit and other relief.

In their petition, the plaintiffs allege that on February 7, 1911, there were mailed in the Reno postoffice 211 envelopes containing stock of the Kimberly Consolidated Mines Company, and addressed to the 211 plaintiffs, respectively, that each envelope bore the return card of the Nixon National Bank, was registered and was forwarded, but that Postmaster Dawson stopped their delivery, that he now intends to return them to the Nixon National Bank.

It further alleges that the Nixon National Bank has no legal right to know the contents of the envelopes, and no right to have the same. Therefore, the restraining order is asked for.

Postmaster Dawson says that as far as he knows, the Nixon National Bank was the real party sending the letters, and as that bank has requested the return of the same, he intends to deliver them to the bank, unless restrained by an order of court.

R. C. Turrittin of the Nixon National Bank says that the Kimberly Consolidated Mines Company is not satisfied with an agreement entered into with the 211 South Carolina people and wants the letters back.

VICTIM OF OWN DAM.

Constructor of Reservoir, Whose Wife Was Drowned When Walls Burst, Found Dying on Debris.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CARSON (Nev.) Feb. 14.—Charles Jones, constructor of the Humboldt reservoir, whose wife, with her friend, Mrs. Campbell, was drowned when their house was swept away by the bursting of the dam, Sunday night, was brought out of the mountains on a hand sled today in the hope of saving his life.

Jones was found, naked and unconscious, lying in the snow and wreckage of the dam far down the creek bed. One eye was destroyed, and several bones broken. His chances for recovery are slight.

After searching the valley below the reservoir all day the rescuing party abandoned all hope of recovering the bodies of the women. Repairs are being made in the effort to get a water supply to Virginia City before the mines are flooded through suspension of the hydraulic machinery.

SNOW AT EUREKA.

EUREKA, Feb. 14.—For the first time in years snow fell here and lay on the streets today. Reports from the interior show the snowstorm now raging to be the coldest in many seasons. Humboldt bar is very rough and passenger and lumber schooners are bar-bound.

New Advanced Spring Hats That Are Perfect Pictures

Comprehensive in Variety---Moderate in Prices

¶ Our Millinery Department is remarkably ready for spring—ready to assist you in selecting a new hat that will be both becoming and correct.

¶ What a magic unfolding of styles this last week has brought to our Millinery Department. Every style which are showing is founded on the tendencies which are being accepted in New York and Paris.

¶ This brings to mind the extreme vogue for laces, in both trimming and making. Miniature flowers are good—especially in the flat wreath effects.

¶ Our own workroom, following closely to the most recent Parisian creations, has produced new spring hats at which you will marvel, and admire.

¶ Millinery for matronly women has been given no little attention. One very becoming shape is shown in the illustration. It will be a revelation for you to visit this department. Choose Wednesday as the day.

We Particularly Feature Lines at $5, $8 and $10

New Spring Shapes

Representing Milan straw hats, hemp hats and Neapolitan hats. Chip straw hats and fancy braid hats as low as $1.25, then $1.45, $1.75, $1.95 and up to $18.00.

MEXICO.

American army officers will put these eating places out of business, but Leyvas says he can establish his own mess without inconvenience.

It is now generally believed here that Gov. Vega of Lower California, has not at any time been this side of the Cocopah Mountains, but it is certain that a party of men, who may be bandits, are roaming the hill country under a leader who impersonates Vega. Frank Berhaus, a rancher living seven miles southwest of here, reported today that a man who said he was Vega, had appeared at his place with a party of six armed men, and demanded food.

Leyvas today expressed contempt for what he termed the Governor's cowardice. The insurgent commander greeted the report that Mexican troops would surely be a battle. The insurcan territory to this point, with the statement that if they came there would surely bea battle. The insurgents say they cannot credit the report that this privilege will be granted their foes, while the United States withholds from them even an opportunity to replenish their food supplies from points on the American side of the line.

"Bill" Taylor, the British subject who was arrested last week for proclaiming himself "king of Mexicali" and appealed to the British Ambassador at Washington for protection, pinned a red ribbon on his sleeve today, and joined the insurgents. He was given the rank of lieutenant by Leyvas, and is styled chief of the secret service.

The store of A. Miro was entered last night and looted. Much valuable stock was taken. The insurgent leaders promise summary punishment to the robber, if caught.

ARMS RECEIVED FOR MEXICAN FEDERALS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MAZATLAN (Mex.) Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Many cases of rifles and ammunition have been received here by Wells Fargo & Company, for the Fifth Batallion of the Mexican army, stationed here. The troops are now in readiness to proceed to any point along the west coast on short notice. Word has been received here that the gunboat Tampico went aground off Santa Maria Island off Topolobampo. The gunboat General Guerero, stationed at Guaymas, put out to sea at once under orders from the Secretary of War to give aid to the Tampico.

CASAS GRANDES TO BE NEXT FIGHTING GROUND.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The next fighting will probably occur in the Casas Grandes country. Blanco with 300 revolutionists is in that vicinity after capturing Buena Ventura, Galeana and Pearson on the Mexican Northwestern Railway, and Gen. Navarro dispatched 100 cavalry, 100 infantry and 100 artillerymen with two heavy field pieces from Galegos to oppose him. These Federals will march overland to the attack, having left the train several days ago. Navarro's first move in this vicinity will be to throw out a strong patrol along the Mexican border and to guard the railroad leading South from Juarez so that trains may be operated and troops dispatched southward to points where needed.

Orozco, who occupied a strong position at Samalayuca yesterday afternoon, is reported to have left that point last night after Navarro's train had passed. He was seen with 600 men at Mesquite, south of Samayuca moving toward Guzman, where there is a large lake on the Northwestern Railway, seventy-five miles southwest of Juarez.

Navarro reports that on the way from Moctezuma, after reaching the insurrecto country, he stopped his train eight times and sent out cavalry troops to scout over the surrounding country in hopes of inviting a battle, but during the entire trip was not molested by the insurrectos and never fired a shot in battle.

The two railways are now in a condition to resume traffic, except that there are about twenty-five miles of destroyed telegraph wires and poles to be repaired. The country as far south as Guzman, eighty miles distant, has been cleared of rebels and only a small force east of Juarez was still operating in northern Chihuahua as late as last Saturday. These have already withdrawn.

MEXICAN TROOPS TO COME INTO AMERICA.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The State Department has given permission for the passage through American territory of a body of Mexican guards to protect the employees and materials along the dike being constructed to control the Colorado River. The guards will be gathered in Lower California and it is desired to send them across the line by way of Yuma, Ariz., entering Mexican territory near Mexicali, reported to be in the hands of the insurgents.

It is promised, however that the Mexican guards shall not be used offensively, but simply to protect the river improvement works which are being prosecuted in Mexico by American engineers.

REBELS PLUNDERING UNPROTECTED TOWNS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CULIACAN (Mex.) Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rebels fleeing before Federal troops sent out by Governor Redeo are robbing people and committing many depredations, according to El Diario del Pacifico. In Sapotan, three miles from Tamazula, the insurrectos waylaid several citizens and took away their arms. In Redeo they looted a dry goods store belonging to Miguel V. Laveaga, carrying away goods valued at several hundred dollars. At Chacala they secured $600 from Andres Braganza, the tax collector, and $900 from Albino Meza. At Gurrola they secured $400 and a number of horses. Reports of such depredations are being received here daily, the Pacifico says.

CALIFORNIA GENERAL TO INSPECT BORDER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—Brig. Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, commanding the Department of California, and Maj. Bland Winship, judge advocate, left here tonight for the Mexican frontier.

Gen. Bliss will not personally assume direct command of the troops now on duty along the border, but the object of his visit is to make an investigation of the situation and to adjust some of the technical questions that have arisen regarding the attitude of the American authorities toward the Mexican civil officials in the border towns. He will also devise means to carry out his instructions for the arrest and detention of insurrectos who cross the line.

Gen. Bliss and Maj. Winship will go direct to Mexicali.

LUMBER SCHOONER WRECK.

Parting of Lashings and Loss of Deck Load All That Saves Vessel En Route From Willapa.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—Almost capsized by a mountainous sea off Cape Blanco, on her voyage from Willapa, the steam schooner Daisy, which made port in a crippled condition tonight, was saved by the deck load parting its lashings as the vessel lay helpless and rapidly filling.

The Daisy ran into a heavy southeaster and her steering gear was crippled. This caused her to fall off into the trough of the sea, but after the deck load of lumber went by the board, she righted, and temporary repairs were made, enabling her to ride out the gale.

PRIVATE SECRETARY OF GOVERNOR STUBBS MAKES CHARGES OF GRAFT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] David Leahy, private secretary of Gov. Stubbs, was called before the bar of the Senate at 3 o'clock this afternoon to explain an article said to have been written by him in which he stated that "political crookedness was rampant in the Legislature." The objectionable portion of the article to the Senate was as follows:

"Political crookedness is rampant. I know of one man who was boldly approached a few days ago to falsify a legislative record in the interest of a public utility graft, and I have it first hand that a man was three times at least offered a bribe to juggle with sacred legislative documents."

Leahy was sworn to tell the truth. Senator Price, considered the best legal mind in the Senate, then began questioning the Governor's secretary.

Leahy said he had been approached by "Doc" Moore of Pittsburgh in regard to a bill concerning the Pittsburgh Waterworks. "Moore said that the bill had been knocked out," said Leahy, "and he wanted it put back on the records.

"'We can do that,' he told me, 'by spelling the name of a Representative Casy instead of Cashon. If we get caught at it we can say it was a typographical error.'

"Cashon, so Moore represented to me, was willing to do the trick for Moore if he could be protected. I told Moore there wasn't enough money in the State to get me to do that."

Cashon is from Moore's home county.

Leahy said that the assistant journal clerk of the House had been offered money bribes to juggle the records, but was unable to say who made the offers. The Senators are in session tonight considering Leahy's testimony. The stand-pat Republicans are of the opinion that Leahy is trying to "get back" at the Senate for the defeat of the initiative and referendum bill in that body.

FIRST STEP IN FIGHT FOR HURD PILOTAGE MEASURE VICTORIOUS.

Conflict in State Senate Makes Apparent Urgent Need for Prompt and Efficient Effort on Part of Los Angeles Authorities if Southern Metropolis Is to Win Her Free Harbor at This Session.

BY W. R. WILLIAMS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An effort to pass the Hurd bill in the Senate today, by which the old statute authorizing the Governor to appoint pilots for San Pedro harbor is repealed, brought out the fact that if Los Angeles is to get what it wants for its harbor there must be a prompt and efficient effort on the part of the municipal authorities to convince the legislators of the needs. The measure itself is not important except that it contains a principle that Los Angeles stand for, and which is basic to its success in marine commerce.

Under its charter, as Senators Hurd and Hewitt explained, the city has control of pilotage. But the existence of the old statute giving the Governor power to appoint is regarded as offering legal doubt as to the city's powers, and the repealing act is little more than clarifying.

MEETS OBJECTION.

The measure met objection from Senator Welch of San Francisco, chairman of the Committee on Commerce and Navigation, on the ground that it had been passed on by Hurd's committee on municipal corporations, and not by the Commerce and Navigation Committee. Welch made the request that Senatorial courtesy be extended and the bill passed for the day. The request was one that prohibited denial.

But back of it is a reason. San Francisco has been the beneficiary of a State controlled harbor for decades, and looks jealously on the efforts of municipalities to improve their harbors at their own expense by taxation because it means competition. Any advance that Los Angeles or San Diego or Monterey or Eureka make through municipal effort, is received as injurious to San Francisco, which has built up great shipping business as a State up great harbor. Standing on this San Franciscans demand State regulation for all harbors.

Such a programme is without benefit to the other harbors because it means loss of local control and delay in development, as the State, through a commission, would move slowly. It would not possess local enthusiasm or enterprise. The State programme, advocated by many, among them being interior members who feel that the State must maintain its control of navigable waters, assures San Francisco's domination and checks development elsewhere.

COMMANDING POSITION.

With its twenty-seven members of the Legislature, San Francisco is in a position to exercise large control. At this session it is specially entrenched because Lieut.-Gov. Wallace gave San Francisco the Commerce and Navigation Committee through Welch's appointment. This was a mistake and may operate to defeat the plans of Los Angeles in harbor development. Schmitt of San Francisco is chairman of the same committee in the Assembly. San Francisco members dominate both committees. Hence it was helpful to Los Angeles for Wallace to send the Hurd bill to the Municipal Corporations Committee to get prompt and favorable action on it.

But even under these circumstances Los Angeles found a friend in San Francisco, for Senator Burnett advocated the repeal of the pilotage bill covering San Pedro and Wilmington. It will probably pass today, but San Francisco may fight it, especially as Senator Wolfe, who has been laid up for ten days with rheumatism, is back in his seat.

MUST HAVE LANDS.

To carry out its harbor plans Los Angeles must have the tide lands ceded to it, and must have enlarged rights in the exercise of eminent domain to build its harbor highway. The project for a municipal road from the heart of the city to the municipal docks and wharves and storehouses is in a large way involved in the bills Senator Hewitt has introduced. The municipality will not want to spend its millions on tide lands subject to interruption whenever a Legislature chooses, and it might find difficulty in building its highway and road over the obstacles created by private enterprise without enabling legislation. The attitude of San Francisco is inimical to the harbor project and there is work to be done in aid of Hewitt and the Los Angeles members.

Running parallel with the cession of the tide lands at San Pedro, are the bills asking similar cession for Oakland and San Diego. With this difference, however, Los Angeles asks the cession only with the understanding that the lands shall revert to the State whenever the municipality ceases to devote them to public use. Oakland asks unqualified cession, and it is a part of the cession plan to give them at once to private corporations for developments as terminals and shipping points.

ANOTHER QUESTION.

Involved too in this question is the consolidation scheme, set forth in Wolfe's constitutional amendment, on which there is to be a special hearing before the San Francisco Committee of the two houses tomorrow night. The Wolfe measure provides for the absorption of the bay district thirty miles north and south, taking the cream of it for a Greater San Francisco, with the obvious purpose of making it all share the $5,000,000 debt—San Francisco is building, and also to prevent the development of the east side cities as competitors in shipping and industry. San Francisco would include Oakland in its State harbor. Los Angeles is interested in this consolidation measure, even though the Senatorial delegation is divided on the question of city and county consolidation for Los Angeles.

The difficulties ahead of the Los Angeles harbor legislation are no longer imaginary or remote and the members from the South are preparing to devote themselves to a thorough fight for what is necessary to make a free port for an industrially free city. That may be what hurts a whole lot with many members.

Negotiations Pending in Boston for Establishment of Large Machine Shops for Turning Out Parts—Financial Information Being Secured for the Deal.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] According to trustworthy information received today from Wall-street sources in New York, Boston is the center of interest in a $100,000,000 automobile trust that is being formed.

Reports of the J. P. Morgan and the Rothschild interests and the capital of some men who were connected with the Licensed Auto Dealers' Association, together with $9,000,000 belonging to Walter Flanders, the Detroit automobile manufacturer, are reported to be behind the deal.

It is said to be the plan of this combine to purchase all machine shops in the United States that manufacture the machinery that makes parts of automobiles, buying these large factories outright with the patent rights. Not only is the automobile industry to be affected, but the motorcycle and aeroplane business is included.

The negotiations pending in Boston are for the purpose of establishing one of the largest machine shops in Providence for making machines that turn out parts of automobiles.

The representatives of the Morgan-Flanders interests, while not in search of capital, are getting financial information for the big deal.

Footpads Enraged by Poverty of Man, Knock Him Senseless—Only Booty Is Watch and Small Change.

Gray Dorr, of No. 1000 East Vernon avenue, was held up by two masked footpads at 11:30 o'clock Monday night and so severely beaten that not until late last night was he able to report the facts to the police.

Dorr said he was walking past the corner of Vernon avenue and Wadsworth street when the men jumped out at him from behind a telephone pole. One held a big blue gun on him while the other footpad searched him. The only booty he carried was $1.05 and a dollar watch.

The poverty of their victim so enraged the robbers that one struck him on the head with a club, knocking him senseless.

TEACH TABLE MANNERS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MANHATTAN (Kan.) Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At the request of one hundred seniors, all young men, the Kansas State Agricultural College today inaugurated a course in table manners. The idea originated with the students and will be given a practical tryout under the supervision of Mrs. Mary Vanzile, of the Domestic Science Department. Mrs. Vanzil has arranged a course of formal and informal luncheons and dinners, to be served in the dining room of the Domestic Science Building. Five luncheons and dinners will be eaten each week under the watchful eyes of an instructor who will act right. The seniors will observe and profit by example.

PILED THICK WITH MYSTERY.

Detectives Find Blood-Spattered Room Where Opium Had Been Smoked, But No Trace of Occupants.

Opium pipes; a borrowed pistol; a shot behind closed doors; a room spattered with blood; the unaccountable disappearance of a man and woman; a landlady with two names, and more opium smoking, made up the principal features of a mysterious affair at No. 314 North Hill street, which the detectives tried to unravel last night. At midnight they had given up the job for the night, and gone to rest their weary heads.

The plot began to develop early last evening, when young Morris Levy called at the Morris Pawnshop, No. 156 North Main street, and told Charles Morris that his brother, George Morris, of Hartnagel opium scandal fame, had sent him to borrow a revolver. Charles gave up the weapon, but George Morris returned a few moments later from the street corner where he had been mailing a letter, and denied having authorized the loan of any weapon to Levy. After some discussion between the brothers, they called up their rooming-house, only to be told that there had been a shooting scrape there.

When the police gained an inkling of the affair, the detectives were received by the landlady, who gave the name of Mrs. R. M. Harper, but who signs all her receipts as Mrs. J. H. Parker. She showed the officers a room spattered with blood, and said it had been occupied by a woman known as Myrtle, a "hop head" and a "long, lean man," whose name nobody seemed to know.

Neither Morris Levy, the "long, lean man," nor Myrtle were to be found, and it was impossible to say which of the trio had been wounded. An opium-smoking outfit in the room showed that three persons had been smoking there.

While the detectives were investigating the room, they smelled opium coming from the adjoining apartment, where Charles Morris and a woman by the name of Grace Eastman were found deep in their enjoyment of the drug. The Eastman woman was arrested, but neither she nor Morris knew anything about the shooting.

CHIEF'S ORDER TRAPS CRIMINALS.

HOSPITALS MUST REPORT CASES OF TRAUMATIC INJURIES.

Ordinance Hitherto Disregard Will Be Enforced and Police Expect to Apprehend Suspects Who Apply to Have Wounds Dressed and Tell Plausible Tales to Attendants.

Burglars, footpads and other gentry, who, heretofore, have found it an easy matter to elude the police by explaining to hospital surgeons and nurses that they have been bitten by a dog, kicked by a horse, or been hunting and wounded and do not care to have any fuss made about it, will find themselves deprived of this comfortable way out of it in the future.

A general order issued by Chief of Police Sebastian last evening instructs officers to strictly enforce the ordinance which requires all hospitals to immediately notify the police of any case of violence brought in or applying for treatment in any manner. The ordinance covers house surgeons, interns, nurses and others in the hospital who may have a knowledge of the case. The penalty is not more than $200, with the usual alternative of a jail sentence.

The section of the ordinance, which he called to the attention of his men, states:

"Sec. 2. It shall be the duty of every person managing or in charge of any hospital, or of any ward or portion of any hospital, to which any person having a traumatic injury shall come or shall be brought, to report the same both by telephone and in writing to the Chief of Police or other person in charge of the police department as soon as such injury shall have been brought to the attention of such person managing or in charge of such hospital, or ward or portion thereof, and in such report shall state where such injured person is located, the name of such person, if known, and the character and extent of such injury.

The case with which criminals wounded in the commission of crime have been enabled to obtain surgical treatment has been a great handicap to the police in running down offenders.

Last summer, when a young man was stabbed on the street at Fifth and Broadway at 6 o'clock in the evening, he was taken to a local hospital, where he was found to be grievously wounded. The police, however, knew nothing of the occurrence until midnight, when friends of the injured man called at the Central station.

When the rape fiend who terrorized Boyle Heights last year was so injured that he stopped his outrages, he disappeared quietly, although physicians are positive, from a description of his wound, that he must have had surgical attention.

These conditions were called to the attention of former Chief Galloway, and he asked for and obtained an ordinance compelling hospitals, drugstores and surgeons to report to the police all cases of violence handled. The ordinance, however, was allowed to remain dormant on the books.

Flower Girdles.

The correct choosing of a ribbon girdle should be controlled more by the form of a girl than by her innate taste for prettiness.

A stout girl should not wear a flower girdle, which seems to better suit her sister of slimmer stature and slender waist.

Messaline or soft satin ribbon, about six inches wide, should be chosen and cut into lengths to suit. These are made up into soft crush belts. It should be longer if you wish it to droop in the front.

The rest of the ribbon is made up into a large rosette resembling a full-blown rose. The larger flowers can be eight inches, theh smaller six inches in diameter.

In making the loops for the flowers they should be two and a half to three inches long and almost fifteen loops to the smaller flower, while eighteen to twenty-two can be used the larger.

Tie the loops in double tiers on each side of the center. Then curl the whole to resembel flower petals and make into a round shape.

Purchase a hunch of yellow stamens from your milliner and add these to tthe center, bringing them through so they stand in different directions. Also add the green leaves so that theyh appear natural.

WOMAN LOBBIES FOR UNIONITES.

Defeats Efforts of Hotel Men of Los Angeles.

Griffin's Eight-Hour Bill Is Before Senate Again.

Laborites Playing One House Against the Other.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A woman lobbyist in the ranks of the unionites turned the work of the Los Angeles hotel men to naught this afternoon when Miss Maud Younger, heiress and settlement worker, also honorary member of the San Francisco Waitresses' Union, induced the Senate to reconsider the action by which it sent the Griffin eight-hour bill for women to the Judiciary Committee.

Just before the noon recess, Senator Larkin of the Labor and Capital Committee, at the instance of the hotel men, handed in a report asking that the Griffin bill be sent from his committee to the judiciary and the Senate concurred. This was because the committee had already reported favorably on the policy of such legislation, when reporting the Rush eight-hour law, which had been sent to the Judiciary Committee to consider its constitutionality. It was the proper course for both bills to take.

But it had been previously arranged to have a hearing Thursday night before the Labor and Capital Committee and the lobby behind the Griffin bill, of which Miss Younger is the most potent, did not want that hearing interrupted. So she set after Senator Caminetti and others and when the Senate reconvened Caminetti demanded that the Senate return the bill to the Labor and Capital Committee. Larkin explained that he was friendly to the bill and that all that could be accomplished would be another favorable report. He and the committee thought it should be considered with the Rush bill, which is almost identical. But Caminetti grew ugly and insinuated that the committee report had been procured hastily and without a meeting of the committee and that it was an effort on the part of the opponents of the measure to "chloroform" it. He said this was what Senator Hurd said the action meant.

CAMINETTI FURIOUS.

Instantly Hurd leaped to his feet and told Caminetti that the statement was incorrect, as he (Hurd) had opposed the Rush bill going to the Judiciary Committee. Larkin verified Hurd's statement.

By this time, Caminetti was in a fury, but he accepted the correction, saying he was glad "the Senator had once been on the right side."

Caminetti attempted to begin a third speech, when Lieut.-Gov. Wallace called his attention to the rule preventing more than one speech, to which Caminetti retorted that he "had rights and did not intend the chair should invade them."

The vote on the reference back to the Labor and Capital Committee shows how the members fear the labor lobby, for twenty-one voted to obey the labor lobby and twelve voted to send the bill to the Judiciary Committee, where it belonged. Avey of Redlands was the only Southern California member who voted with the labor lobby.

The movement to transfer the measure was started by the hotel men of San Francisco and Los Angeles and other large employers of women in an effort to have the bills brought together and heard on their legal grounds. It is conceded that neither labor committee will make any other than a favorable report, and the attitude of some of the members was shown by the vote of Martinelli and Juilliard, who, after talking in favor of reference to the Judiciary Committee, voted against such reference.

BAKESHOP INSPECTION.

The Senate also passed Cassiday's laborite measure providing for inspection of bakeshops throughout the State through the agency of the Commissioner of Labor Statistics. It forbids bakeries in basements and requires certain sanitary regulations that are not objectionable. The "bug" in the bill is its provision putting the enforcement in the hands of the Labor Commissioner, thus giving him the right to send unionite deputies into the free shops of the South. It slipped through on a roll call where few knew what it was.

In the Assembly the Wolfe bill previously passed by the Senate, repealing the law making it a misdemeanor to entice a seaman from his ship before his term of employment or voyage is completed, was passed by a vote of fifty-three to twenty-one, after a long debate. Assemblymen Cogswell of Los Angeles, Smith of Alameda, and Brown of San Mateo made the fight against the measure and Joel and Coghlan of San Francisco fought for it. Cogswell told of the scene two years ago in Gov. Gillett's office when Tvietmoe, Furuseth and others demanded that the Governor sign it and of how the Governor declared it meant a return to assaults on sleeping seamen in their bunks and an open door for violence during labor troubles. But reason had no influence with the members, who wanted to "keep their records straight with labor" and the bill passed. It has passed twice, and mes. executive veto.

There is a general plan for shifting responsibility on labor measures in the two houses. One passes a bill, trusting to the other to defeat it. The labor lobby pleads for its measure in one house, saying there is no hope for it in the other. In this sort of a game the laborite lobby is winning many new bills. The Wolfe bill, which is specially pernicious on all water fronts, was passed by the Senate in trust that the Assembly would defeat it. Now the Assembly passes it, hoping the Governor will veto it. Members who voted for it say so.

On the Wolfe bill the Southern California members voting for the measure were Hinkle, Judson, Lamb, Lyon and Randall. Benedict and Bishop were absent. Butler, Cattell, Cogswell, Hinshaw, Farwell, Freeman, Mott and Preisker voted against it.

A Novel Plate Souvenir.

Pretty plate souvenirs at a recent dinner given to a traveler were small wicker baskets, five inches long and three and a half high, made in the shape of travelling bags and with handles.

These were in green and white straw and were forced apart and filled with wet moss, in which was stuck pansies (for thought) and forget-me-nots.

The baskets were lined with tinfoil to preserve them, as later they were just the thing to hold a bit of fancy work or crocheting.

Another pretty late souvenir for a guest of honor named Margaret was a small silvered basket filled with moss and yellow marguerites, the handles tied with fluffy bows of tulle.

This idea can be carried out for any girl who happens to have a floral name. Pink baskets filled with tiny pink rosebuds and pink tulle bow for Rose; a green basket with lillies-of-the valley and silver tulle for Lillian; a gilded basket of violets with paler tone of violet gauze for Violetta.

Walter Johnson, the star pitcher of the Washington club, and former Santa Ana boy, is a "hold-out." He demands the largest salary paid any pitcher in the American League. In the opinion of baseball men he is entitled to at least $6000.

ANSWER MADE TO HITCHCOCK.

Periodical Publishers State Their Side of Case.

Point Out Alleged Fallacy in Postage Scheme.

Taxing of Advertisements No Income Producer.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The reply of the Periodical Publishers' Association to the statement of Postmaster-General Hitchcock, yesterday, in support of his proposal to increase the postage on the advertising portions of the large magazines, was made tonight in the form of a statement by the postal committee of the association.

"Mr. Hitchcock entirely ignores," the committee says, "the fact that second-class mail is the chief producer of the first-class postage that finally saves the face of the postoffice balance sheets.

"The publishers cite instances on which the postoffice department has made 10 per cent. profit from carrying magazine advertisements.

"Mr. Hitchcock instances one magazine, perhaps the most profitable periodical in the country, to show that this periodical's recent increase in advertising rates resulted in a profit of $1,000, or enough to pay its postage bill. The absurdity of this sort of postal-deficiency accounting is obvious when it is explained that the publishers magazines cost to edit, manufacture, deliver and administer, nearly twice as much as the publisher receives from subscriptions.

"The difference made up from advertising is given to the subscriber in his opportunity to purchase a much better article than his subscription price alone will produce. The postal committee of the Periodical Publishers' Association have obtained the exact figures from the books of the accounts of the five standard monthly magazines which carried the most advertising in 1909.

"The aggregate final net profits of these five magazines are less than one-fourth of the aggregate advertising income. The reader gets the balance.

"On Mr. Hitchcock's own figures—in his statement—showing that the proposed postal change would mean only two cents a pound postage on the whole magazine—though in the present bill it would mean more—it is easily calculated that the proposed increase would raise less than $2,500,000 for the postoffice department, from which must be subtracted the great new expense of administering this complex and discriminatory measure."

COPPER TRUST PROBE COMING.

Senator Clapp Introduces Resolution Directing Attorney-General to Start Investigation.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Investigation of the so-called copper trust is contemplated in a resolution introduced today by Senator Clapp. The resolution directs the Attorney-General to make inquiry concerning the relation between the United States Metals Company and the Amalgamated Copper Company and the Anaconda Copper Company, with a view to determining whether the relation does not constitute an unlawful merger in violation of the Sherman law.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

CONDITION OF TREASURY.

DEFICIT STILL LOWER.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—At the beginning of business today the condition of the treasury was: Working balance in the treasury, $26,735,457; in banks and Philippines treasury, $32,502,901; total balance in general fund, $54,000,492; ordinary receipts yesterday, $396,387, with disbursements of $3,353,589, leaving the deficit to date this fiscal year, $4,435,912, as against $24,444,321 at this time last year. These figures exclude Panama canal and public debt transactions.

RAILROADS TO GET CHANCE.

Steamship Companies Given Notice of Termination of Existing Freight Compact at Panama.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—Secretary Dickinson has given notice to the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, and the California and Atlantic Steamship Company of the termination of the existing arrangement whereby those carriers are allowed 70 per cent. of the total freight charges on goods transported between New York and San Francisco via the Panama railroad. The arrangement is terminable upon three months' notice, which has now been given.

It is understood this action was taken in the belief that the 30 per cent. allotment to the railroad company is too small to defray the actual cost of handling the freight.

BEVERIDGE SECURES PROMISE OF VOTE ON THE LORIMER TANGLE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—An effort to fix a day to vote in the Senate on the Lorimer case was made today, but failed. Assurance was given, however, that ultimately there would be a vote.

Upon the conclusion of Senator Bailey's speech in defense of Mr. Lorimer, which he had resumed after having taken three hours yesterday, Mr. Beveridge tried to obtain unanimous consent to fix a date to vote. No objection was forthcoming from Mr. Burrows, chairman of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, which had favored the report in favor of Mr. Lorimer after its investigation of his election by the Illinois Legislature. Mr. Burrows said in time there would be a vote.

CHARGES FORGERY.

Senator Bailey resumed today his argument in the Senate in support of the report of the Committee on Elections, exonerating Senator Lorimer of the charge of bribery in connection with his election to the Senate. He virtually charged forgery against the Illinois State Bank of Chicago, in which, he said, Gov. Deneen was interested.

The Texas Senator returned to the consideration of his charge that the bank deposit slip evidencing State Senator Holstlaw's deposit in the bank had been a forgery. He appreciated, he said, the seriousness of such an accusation, but he seemed to find a possible explanation in Gov. Deneen's connection with the bank.

"His friends control the institution, or at least he is a stockholder in it," he said.

ANSWERS SENATORS.

Taking up the legal phases of the case, Mr. Bailey proceeded to reply to the speeches of Senators Root, Cummins and Borah.

"I wish," said Senator Heyburn, interrupting, "that when the Senator from Texas speaks of 'the Senator from Idaho' he would be more specific. I agree with the Senator from Texas."

Mr. Bailey apologized, saying that "It would not do to mix those twins."

Everybody laughed and the chair administered no rebuke. Thenceforth Mr. Borah was mentioned by name.

Idea Spreads.

SOUTH AMERICAN REPUBLICS "WANT IN" ON RECIPROCITY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Practical information calculated to be instrumental in extending the trade of the United States with every country of the Western Hemisphere was developed at today's session of the Pan-American Commercial Conference by the diplomatic representatives of Central and South America. United States consuls and hundreds of American business men.

Among the speeches made by members of the Latin-American diplomatic corps, significant interest was derived from the address of Senor Felipe Pardo, the Peruvian Minister to the United States, who said reciprocity between American countries would benefit now and could be accomplished by balancing the admission of agricultural and material products from South America into the United States with lower tariffs on the entry of American manufacturers into South American republics.

Senor J. P. Santa Maria, a business man of Buenos Ayres, declared that selling methods in Argentina were similar to those in this country, but that Americans should not refrain from extensive advertising campaigns in pushing sales.

Lewis Nixon, of New York, head of the American delegation to the fourth Pan-American conference at Buenos Ayres, last summer, declared in his address in favor of making the Panama canal "a free highway" for all vessels flying the American flag, and an extension of coasting laws by treaty to all North, Central and South American countries.

Sees Danger Ahead.

SENATOR FLINT TAKES STAND IN FLAT OPPOSITION TO RECIPROCITY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Flint announced today that he is unalterably opposed to the ratification of the reciprocity treaty with Canada. "Let me say right here that I am no favorite in the tariff," is Senator Flint's motto.

"I would trust all nations alike," said the Senator. "The only exception I would make is provided in the Payne-Aldrich bill, which allows the President to impose the maximum tariff increase of twenty-five per cent. on the commodities of any nation which discriminates against the United States in its tariff. I acted on that principle when I asked President Taft to proclaim against Germany's action in shutting out our potash buyers. Our fruit interests and agriculturists in general would be wiped out if California were to admit Canadian products free of duty. Germany makes no discrimination against the Canadian tariff, and could not reasonably do so, because it is to the interest of Germany to sell us potash. The same reason, only more so, applies to Canada. We should be foolish to admit Canadian products free of duty, because if we should do so it would be impossible for us to maintain our protective tariff system.

"The East occupies this position: It wants free raw materials and food products, but it demands protection on manufactured goods. To grant its demands would be to discriminate against the agricultural population and the result would be that we would not get revenue enough to protect our industries, while the States on the Canadian border would suffer seriously from the competition of the Canadians.

"A natural sequence would be that other reciprocity treaties would be entered into with countries where citrus fruits, olives, raisins, walnuts and other things, produced largely, if not exclusively, in California, are grown at a lower cost than they can be grown anywhere in the United States, and the result would be that these industries would be wiped out in California.

"Be assured of this: There is no middle ground. We must either protect all of our industries, putting on a tariff which is adequate for that purpose, or we must impose a tariff for revenue only without regard to the question of protection."

Sixty-first Congress.

TO FORCE VOTE ON FREAK BILL.

Friends of "Direct Election" Announce Plans.

Will Call for Endurance Test on the Measure.

Want Senate to Sit All Night if Necessary.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—As the result of many conferences in cloak rooms and other places in the Capitol, friends of the resolution for direct election of Senators today determined on on a decided move forward.

Senator Borah voiced that purpose in a formal notice that, Thursday, he would ask the Senate to sit until a vote should be reached.

If this is persisted in it will mean the Thursday session will be extended into and, if necessary, through the night.

It would mean a test of endurance between friends and opponents of the measure and either continuous speaking by the opposition Senators, or a filibuster by them.

SURE OF VICTORY.

On the other hand, the supporters would be required to maintain a quorum as a requisite to doing any business. The popular electionists have considered all these points, and declare they know just where they stand. They express more confidence in success than they have manifested for some time. This renewed hope is due to a canvass of the Democratic side of the Senate, which convinces them that even with the Sutherland amendment incorporated some Democratic votes will still be assured.

This amendment provides for ultimate Federal control of Senatorial elections in case Congress should decide such control to be desirable.

Senator Borah's colleague, Senator Heyburn, made it evident today that he will press his opposition to the uttermost.

FANATIC RUSSIAN CATHOLICS.

Hundreds Refuse to Eat, Sleep or Drink Because Favorite Priest Is Ordered Transferred.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

TSARITSYN (Government of Saratov, Russia) Feb. 14.—Fanatical scenes are witnessed here, where the whole Greek Catholic parish is suffering self-imposed deprivations in protest against the transfer to another parish of the priest Heliodorus, the reactionary leader.

Recently the Holy Synod announced the transfer of the priest from Tsaritsyn to the diocese of Tula. The announcement threw the parishioners into a religious frenzy and with Heliodorus they took a solemn vow not to sleep, eat or drink until the order of the synod has been rescinded.

Thousands of persons are cooped up in the church, where a service with lighted candles continues without interruption day and night. Many of the worshippers are on the point of suffocation and the suffering of all is distressing to witness.

Heliodorus is a peculiar character. In 1907 he was credited with leading the "Black Hundreds," the lower stratum of the reactionary forces, in Vorotezh province. He is bitterly anti-Semitic and patriotic to a degree that has been described as insanity.

WOULD PROTECT DRUNKARDS.

Nevada Solon Introduces Bill Designed to Provide Against Sales to Intoxicated Persons.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CARSON (Nev.) Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Mack has introduced in the Legislature a bill which he believes will prevent the sale of intoxicating liquors to men who do not know when they have enough, and are classed as habitual drunkards. This law provides that the sheriff, or any member of a family containing a member who is a habitual drunkard, shall have the right to have placed behind the bar on a bulletin board provided for that purpose the name of this drunkard. On this board will be the following besides the names:

"Habitual drunkards, or dipsomaniacs, who are, when drunk, menaces to their families."

The bartender shall not sell to any person whose name appears on it any spirituous liquors. For a violation of the law the bartender can be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than $50 or more than $500, or to serve not more than six months in the county jail, or to both fine and imprisonment.

SUFFRAGISTS SEEK DEBATE.

"Resolved, That Susan B. Anthony Is Greater Character in American History Than Lincoln."

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The Associated Women's Suffrage organizations in New Jersey will challenge any anti-suffrage organization, or any organization of male voters to a debate on the subject, "Was Lincoln or Susan B. Anthony the Greater Character in American History?"

The subject is one which was suggested through a Lincoln day lecture by the Rev. Dr. Anna Shaw. "The three greatest persons in the annals of American history," said Dr. Shaw, "are George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Susan B. Anthony.

"The greatest of these is Susan B. Anthony, for while Lincoln and Washington had the support of a powerful nation and practically unlimited resources, Susan B. Anthony had to fight for a broader principle of liberty, not only single handed, but with even the prejudice of her own sex against her."

BOLD PORTLAND ROBBERY.

PORTLAND (Or.) Feb. 14.—James Gilbert, clerk in a Washington street jewelry store, was beaten into insensibility today and the store robbed of jewelry and precious stones of considerable value. The robbers escaped. The proprietor of the Diamond Jewelry Company this afternoon estimated his loss at $4000.

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Feb. 14.—An employment bureau for ministers is to be established by the St. Louis Presbyterian North assembly. Dr. B. H. Fullerton, secretary of the Home Mission Committee, advocated the idea at a meeting here yesterday.

SALVADOREAN ELECTION.

SAN SALVADOR (Salvador) Feb. 14—The election of Dr. Emanuel Araju to the Presidency and Onefero Duran to the Vice-Presidency was ratified by Congress today. They will assume office March 1.

RECIPROCITY BILL.

accused them, on the eve of going into power of the house, of enforcing a "gag" rule—as drastic as anything against which they had so eloquently inveighed in the past.

Champ Clark took Representative Dalzell of Pennsylvania sharply to task for complaining of the "undue haste" with which the House was acting on the reciprocity measure. The Speaker-to-be said the Democrats had sat for years bound and gagged, while the gentleman from Pennsylvania and his associates had brought in rule after rule and had rushed legislation through without giving an opportunity for amendment.

Under the cloture rule, which was adopted by an overwhelming vote, the only loophole left to opponents of the measure was a motion to recommit the bill to the Committee of the Whole House with instructions to report certain amendments.

When the time came to do this, half a dozen members were clamoring for recognition. Mr. Dalzell was recognized by Speaker Cannon. He proposed that meat and meat products, flour, prepared cereals, lumber and several other articles, be put on the free list. The Democrats were not shaken by this and the motion was lost, 114 to 191.

Some of the "old guard" Republican leaders, like Dalzell of Pennsylvania, and Fordney of Michigan, veiled but thinly their predictions that the Republican party would be defeated by reason of what they characteriped as a departure from the principle of protection and the espousal of free trade.

Speaker Cannon took no part in the debate either yesterday or today. There was applause when on the first record vote that was ordered, the Speaker called Representative Ollie James of Kentucky, one of the leaders of the Democratic side, to the chair.

Mr. James sat there all through the roll call and announced the vote. This is said to be the only time a Democrat has been called to preside over the House since the Republicans gained control.

President Taft tonight gave a dinner to Speaker Cannon. The meal was delayed an hour while the House was voting on reciprocity. It is said the President sent word he would change the dinner into a breakfast if it was necessary in order to pass the bill.

CANADIANS PREDICT ANNEXATION AS RESULT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

OTTAWA (Ont.) Feb. 14.—The adoption of the reciprocity agreement by the House of Representatives at Washington was announcement to Parliament tonight by Mr. Neely, who was speaking in favor the agreement when the information was conveyed to him by a note from the press gallery.

Mr. Neely's announcement was greeted with applause from the government benches in which Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mr. Fielding and Mr. Patterson joined.

It has been expected the House would adopt the measure, but not so soon and the news therefore came as a surprise. The opinion is that the agreement will be legalized at Washington before it is given effect here.

Sir Wilfrid and members of his cabinet are pleased with the speedy action at Washington and with the substantial majority recorded.

Commercial union followed by annexation to the United States is the inevitable meaning of the pending agreement, as interpreted by the conservative opposition in the Parliament.

TERRIBLE PROJECTILES PIERCE ARMOR-PLATE IN TRIAL TESTS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—In the light of fuller reports on the firing test in the lower Potomac River last Friday, when twelve-inch shells fired by the monitor Tallahassee penetrated armor plate targets erected on the ram Katahdin at a distance of 8000 yards, naval ordnance experts have reiterated their contention that service projectiles retain their effectiveness at long battle ranges.

Only limited information hitherto has been available in connection with an attack on armor plates.

The experiment is accepted by the naval officers as confirmation of the theoretical deductions which previously have been relied on in regard to the flight of projectiles and the nature of the impact at long ranges.

The first shot which struck the target, according to the more complete reports, penetrated the armor, but the shell was broken to pieces. The second projectile struck the top of the forward target, dug out a piece of steel measuring three and one-half feet by six feet, glanced off and was lost.

It is not known whether the shell was broken.

The third and fourth shots completely penetrated the two targets. The third bored a clean hole—the fourth likewise pierced the thick plate and in addition tore off a big piece of steel.

The experiment will be supplemented by tests on the old battleship Texas during practice in the spring, when projectiles loaded with explosives will be fired with the purpose of demonstrating the effectiveness of this shell. If it is demonstrated to an unquestionable degree, it may result in armor plate makers resorting to their inventive genius to devise a species of armor that will resist the attack of the modern instruments of war.

The firing against the Katahdin targets was with guns of comparatively low power, the velocity of projectiles being only 2400 feet per second, as against 2850 given by the 12-inch guns of the modern battleship. The penetration given by these higher power guns at 8000 yards is declared by naval ordnance experts to be nearly 30 per cent. greater than that of the low-power guns.

GOVERNMENT TO TAKE LEGAL ACTION AGAINST LUMBER MEN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—With intent to file some sort of an anti-trust suit against the lumber interests, the Department of Justice has been at work nearly a year investigating complaints of discrimination, blacklisting, price raising and combinations to apportion territory. Many hundreds of such complaints have been received from small lumber dealers, independent mills and individual consumers in all sections of the country, and the anti-trust agents have given detailed information to many of them.

It seems to be the plan of the department to devote its attention first to one of the so-called "divisions" of the interests, and what may be an anti-trust suit against one of these is now being perfected. It is likely that when the investigation in this one particular case is complete, however, no suit will be filed immediately.

Despite the fact that several anti-trust cases are ready to be started, it is the disposition of the administration to wait until decisions of the Supreme Court have been given in the Standard Oil and the tobacco cases.

The investigation which the Department of Justice has been making has been entirely separate from that made by the Bureau of Corporations.

Immediate Effect of Great Kidney Remedy Is Soon Realized.

I want to tell you what Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root did for me. I was completely broken down. My kidneys hurt me so that when I was down, I could not get up unless I took hold of something to pull myself up with. I would have to urinate five or six times during the night and it was full of sediment like brick dust.

I tried different kinds of kidney pills, but they did me no good. Someone told me to try Swamp-Root. I had no faith in it, but to please my wife, I purchased one bottle and took it. I saw it was beginning to help me and kept on taking it until I had taken six bottles and it straightened me out all right.

Swamp-Root is the only medicine that did me any good. I thought I would write this letter and tell everyone that is afflicted as I was, to take Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. The six bottles I took cost me five dollars, and did me five hundred dollars worth of good.

Yours very truly,
GEORGE H. HUBER,
Atlanta, Ill.

State of Illinois,
Logan County.—ss.

I, M. M. Hoose, a Notary Public in and for the said county of Logan, in the State of Illinois, do hereby certify that George H. Huber, known to me to be the same person whose name is subscribed to the foregoing instrument, appeared before me this day in person and acknowledged that he signed, sealed and delivered the said instrument as his free and voluntary act.

Given under my hand and Notarial Seal this the 12th day of July, A. D. 1909.

TRACKS SNOWBOUND.

Western Pacific Trains Through Feather River Canyon, Being Routed Over Espee's Lines—Full Heavy.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Owing to the heavy snow storms which have blocked the Western Pacific Railroad about Porta, Cal., and in the Feather River Canyon, through passenger trains are being routed over the tracks of the Southern Pacific railroad. Shipments of cattle for San Francisco were turned over to the N. C. O. at Lovelock by the Western Pacific, and will be brought to this city and forwarded to their destination over the Southern Pacific. The snow along the line of the Western Pacific is greater than ever has fallen in the valleys in Eastern California in the memory of the oldest inhabitants.

EGGS SIXTEEN CENTS DOZEN.

Lowest Price in Three Years Touched on Chicago Markets and Lowest Ever for February.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—Withdrawal of storage eggs from the market yesterday followed the announcement of a further decline of two cents a dozen in the price of fresh product. This reduction brought the cost of the best selected eggs to sixteen cents a dozen, which is the lowest price touched by eggs in the Chicago market in three years and lower than ever before recorded for early in the month of February.

Will Make No Change.

OTTAWA (Ont.) Feb. 14.—The Canadian government refused today another request for a change in the reciprocity agreement. This was from book and writing scrap makers, who affirmed that if paper up to four cents a pound value were admitted free to Canada, they would be put out of business.

TRAIN DITCHED; SEVEN HURT.

Great Northern's East-Bound Has Narrow Escape From Being Hurled Into Raging Waters of Columbia.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WENATCHEE (Wash.) Feb. 14.—Seven persons were injured, three of them seriously, when Great Northern train No. 4, eastbound, went into the ditch yesterday evening fifteen miles west of Wenatchee. The cause of the wreck is unknown but is believed to have been either a spreading rail, or a rock fallen on the track from the embankment above.

The most seriously injured are: Charles J. Tegeler, head brakeman, skull fractured; D. K. Webester, mail clerk, badly cut and bruised; Corwin N. Wilson, mail clerk, hurt in left hip. Four other mail clerks escaped with slight injuries.

The entire train had a narrow escape from being hurled into the raging waters of the Columbia river below. Some of the cars were thrown off the embankment a distance of 100 feet and within fifty feet of the water's edge. All but one car, a sleeper, left the track.

The passengers were brought to Wenatchee tonight.

Denver Man Arrested for Murder Prefers Gallows to Entangling His Inamorata in the Case.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DENVER, Feb. 14.—Louis Wechter, who fatally wounded W. Clifford Burrows Saturday night in the White House cafe and then was disarmed by two women and held for the police, pleaded not guilty today to the charge of murder when arraigned in the criminal court. On a plea of poverty the court appointed an attorney to defend Wechter and the case was set for March 6.

In an interview Wechter asserted he did not go to the cafe to rob the cash register, but to meet a woman with whom he was infatuated, but rather than disclose her name, he said, he would suffer a penitentiary sentence or even death on the gallows.

BLACK HAND BOMB OUTRAGE.

New York Apartment Wrecked and Members of Italian Family Have Narrow Escape From Death.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Explosion of a Black Hand bomb pitched the seven members of Frank Barna's family from their beds in a Harlem tenement today, wrecked the apartments, broke every window in the building and drove the two score dwellers in the building to the street in a panic. No one was badly injured.

Barna, an Italian dealer in fruit on a large scale, denied having received threatening letters, but the police say Black Hand revengefulness is at the bottom of the outrage.

MRS. WILLIAM SKANKS.

Lewiston, Me. (Special)—"I used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for a good many years and know its value. I intend to use it right along, as I find it a stimulant and tonic. I will only be too glad to recommend it to all my friends as I feel sure it will be of great benefit to them." Mrs. Wm. Skanks, Skinner St.

If you wish to feel young, strong, vigorous and enjoy perfect health, Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey regularly according to directions. It corrects defective digestion of the food, increases the appetite, strengthens the heart action, gives force to the circulation, cures insomnia, brings restful sleep to the brain and nervous forces, and gives vigor to the entire system. Recognized as a family medicine everywhere. It is invaluable for overworked men, delicate women and sickly children, and is a promoter of health and longevity. We have thousands of grateful patients who write us they have been cured after they were given up by the doctors.

All druggists, grocers and dealers sell it direct, $1.00 a large bottle. Refuse substitutes and imitations; they are impure and dangerous. Send for our free medical booklet and advice.

says it is surprising how many old-fashioned remedies are being used which goes to show that it is hard to improve some of our grandmothers' old, time-tried remedies. For instance, for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy, nothing equaling our grandmothers' "sage tea" has ever been discovered. Although, by the addition of sulphur and other ingredients, this old-fashioned brew has been made more effective as a scalp tonic and color restorer. Nowadays when our hair comes out or gets faded or gray instead of going to the garden or gathering for herbs and making the "tea" themselves, we simply go to the nearest drug store and ask for a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. This preparation is sold by all leading druggists for 50 cents and $1 a bottle, or sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by SUN DRUG CO.

Perfect Land
CHEAP

Here is a forty-acre ranch that some man can make a small fortune. I'll make easy terms to the right party. It is located south of Fresno, rich, loamy soil, with abundant chance ditch and pump water. This place fronts on a county road and section line, right near two railway stations with splendid shipping facilities. It is in barley now, and the crop goes with the land. In alfalfa this acreage will pay BIG. Orchards will develop perfectly and bring immense returns. Plenty of good neighbors here. Price only $100 an acre. Will sell twenty acres, if you like.

TEACHER EXHAUSTED.

Miss Pearson was worn out by her brave efforts to save her wards and was taken to the Point Firmin light station, where she was supplied with restoratives and warm clothing.

Robert Lang resided at the Munn apartments, Long Beach, and Herbert Craig lived with his father, mother and sister in that city. Both lads were leaders in the school and very popular. They were members of the senior class. Herbert Craig was the son of Robert J. Craig, contractor and old resident at Long Beach. He lived with his parents at No. 953 Chestnut avenue. He and Long were to have graduated in June.

Robert Long was the son of Mrs. Cora P. Long, who boards at No. 1640 West Eleventh street. He was active in athletics and a member of the school baseball team.

Mrs. Loretta McPeek, matron at the police station, was assigned the duty of breaking the news of Long's death to his mother. Mrs. McPeek's duty was doubly trying, as her own son was drowned within her sight five years ago.

Mrs. Long formerly lived at No. 1957 Logan avenue, Denver, where she owns considerable property. Her husband died several years ago.

AUTO STRIKES WOMAN TOURIST.

BECOMES CONFUSED IN STREET AND IS CAUGHT.

Driver of Machine Declares He Tried to Avoid Running Into Her But Erratic Movements Made it Impossible—Concussion of the Brain Results.

While crossing Hill street at the Third-street intersection last evening, Mrs. Mary Louise Snyder, 50 years old, wife of Charles F. Snyder of Massillon, Ohio, was run down and possibly fatally injured by an automobile. The car is owned and was driven by C. W. Gilmore of No. 1362 West Twenty-third street, manager of the National Lumber Company. The accident, according to the statements of witnesses obtained by the police, was due to Mrs. Snyder becoming confused and stepping backward into the path of the machine.

Mr. Snyder, who is the president of the Hess-Snyder Stove and Range Company of Massillon, Ohio, one of the largest concerns of its kind in Ohio, has been a regular winter visitor to Los Angeles, with his wife. They arrived Sunday afternoon, accompanied by Mr. Snyder's two brothers and their families. They obtained apartments at the Astoria Hotel, No. 248 South Olive street.

The only contretemps to spoil the plans of the happy little party was the fact that Charles F. Snyder was confined to his room by rheumatism, which made itself felt shortly before his departure from Massillon. Mrs. Snyder nursed him.

It was while she was on her way back to the hotel, after making purchases for her invalid husband, that she met with the accident which may cause her death.

"I was driving my car south on Hill street," Said Mr. Gilmore last night, "and had stopped at the Third-street crossing. I then started forward on the low speed, when I saw a woman step out into the street from behind a car or a wagon—I don't know which.

"I slowed down the car to let her pass, but she seemed to become confused when she saw me. She made two or three steps forward and I took my foot off the low lever, but she almost immediately backed as far as she had advanced. I tried to throw the machine over and the woman made a few steps forward. I thought I could pass behind her, but just then she was frightened by a car or something and stepped back directly in front of the automobile, where she turned facing me and threw up both hands. The machine was running very slowly—not more than four miles an hour or so, but I was so close upon her that I could not help striking her. The fender caught her about the knees and she fell over backward, striking her head against the pavement.

"I don't know who it was who picked her up, but she was placed in my automobile and I carried her to the Receiving Hospital, several gentlemen coming along."

At the hospital, Mrs. Snyder, almost unconscious, could only give her name. Owing to concussion of the brain, she was unable to remember who her relatives were or where they might be found.

Alarmed at her absence, Mrs. Snyder's brothers-in-law were directed to Central Station. They were sent to the Receiving Hospital, where they asked that the patient be taken to the Hospital of the Good Samaritan.

ISTRICT ATTORNEY WITHDRAWS FROM THE FARCICAL RECOUNT.

SSISTANT DISTRICT ATTORNEY FORD, at the close of yester- day's session of the District At- ney recount, announced to Judge rphy that the attorneys represent- Capt. Fredericks would withdraw m the proceeding and asked the gistrate to appoint tellers at the pense of the contestant to fill their ces.

We have information to the effect it this contest is not being contin- l in good faith" he declared. "Such ng the case, we have no more time waste on it. We will be satisfied h any tellers you may appoint to resent the District Attorney."

he statement of the official was a prise to the attorneys representing Woolwine contingency and they re also somewhat nonplused, as contestant is rated on the tax rolls being worth only $25, and someone their kind will have to bear the ded expense.

In fairness to the court, the man so started this proceeding ought to me in and say whether it is being rried on in good faith," Judge Mur- y told the Woolwine adherents.

When you are satisfied that the re- lt will not be changed it is your ty to so inform me and put an end the contest."

Attorney Charles Wellborn asserted that he was acting in good faith and that they intended to stand on their rights and continue with the count.

"I realize that the judge cannot of his own volition stop the proceeding," said Ford. "The law should be amended in that respect so that useless proceedings could not be dragged out. For our part we desire at this time to withdraw from the contest."

The judge said that if the attorneys representing Fredericks' interests do not appear today, that he will then find it necessary to appoint tellers to take their places. This is the action which will probably be taken.

Woolwine's attorneys continued to pick precincts yesterday. In eleven precincts he gained thirty-seven votes. The country precincts will be counted today. The results of yesterday's session follow:

Precinct No. 147, Fredericks lost 1, Woolwine lost 3; Newhall, Fredericks lost 2, Woolwine lost 1; Florence, Fredericks no change, Woolwine gained 10; No. 166, Fredericks lost 10, Woolwine gained 11; No. 148, Fredericks lost 1, Woolwne no change; No. 196, Fredericks gained 1, Woolwine, no change; No. 159, Fredericks, no change, Woolwine gained 2; No. 149, Fredericks lost 3, Woolwine gained 2; No. 154, Fredericks lost 1; Woolwine lost 1; No. 150, Fredericks lost 1, Woolwine gained 1, and No. 151, Fredericks lost 3, Woolwine lost 2.

OFFICER SITS IN POKER GAME.

Pulls Gun and Covers Players When Signal Given.

Clever Ruse Forces Doors of Miami Social Club.

Police Hint Liquor Doped and Play Crooked.

Following a raid by the police, the rooms of the Miami Social Club, on the third floor of No. 230½ South Spring street, remained dark last night. Two members of the management and six men found enjoying the club's hospitality, were hauled to the City Jail and locked up for gambling.

The raid was not without a dramatic touch. The Miami Club, the police say, has been one of the most carefully-conducted gambling institutions in the city, it was considered almost impossible to send officers into the place. The rooms, while not richly furnished, were cozy. They included a billiard-room, spacious dining-room, sleeping quarters and a kitchen stocked with provisions sufficient to enable the occupants to withstand a siege of several days, should the play prove too interesting to be dropped for meals outside.

The police also say that the poker game which was the principal feature in the Miami was "crooked," and they strongly suspect that doctored whisky was used to help out the skillful handling of the cards. One man is cited as having fallen a victim to this sort of gaming, falling asleep after taking two drinks and awakening later to find himself short $165.

Last evening a young patrolman, Officer Causey, sat in the game. At the approach of Sergt. O'Brien and Patrolmen Busse, Wedge and Winn on the landing, the play inside stopped suddenly and the lights were turned out. The officer on the inside, a mere boy in appearance, turned on the light again and, gun in hand, confronted the staggered gamesters. The rest was easy.

No liquor was found in the place, but the police assert that the stock was stored in a heavy iron safe, which the owners of the place refused to open. A uniformed officer was left to guard the safe until this morning, when it will be broken open on a search warrant. Two big poker tables and a quantity of cards and chips were confiscated.

At the sergeant's desk, several of the prisoners tried to give assumed names and were booked with these as aliases to their true names. John Murray, alias John Wilson, and A. E. Watkins, the owners of the game, were placed under $500 cash bail, which Murray was the only one to furnish. The players were: A. Stutzer, alias A. M. Jeffries; James L. Tremble, alias Pete Smith; A. R. Watson, James Hill, F. A. Less and S. F. Phillips, all of whom were locked up in default each of $150 cash bail.

CHRISTIE LEAVES HOSPITAL.

Man Who Submits to Severe Operation to Get Evidence, and Loses Suit, Able to Walk.

Henry Christie, who submitted to an operation in an effort to aid in the investigation of his physical condition in connection with a malpractice suit, which he filed against Dr. Rea Smith, was able to leave the Angelus Hospital yesterday.

The shoe man submitted to a severe abdominal operation two weeks ago today. There was some disagreement among various surgeons as to the outcome. Yesterday he walked from the hospital to a cab which was waiting to take him home.

The connection of the operation with a court proceeding, at the suggestion of Attorney Paul Schenck, was an innovation. Christie lost his suit, but the outward appearances are that the operation, which was the outgrowth of it, has bestowed on him a greater reward.

M'LEAN'S HALLUCINATION.

Irishman Thinks He Is a Prince of China and Wonders Why He Is Baldheaded Chink.

Frank Shanadore alias Alex McLean, who says he is a Chinese Prince, but whose accent bespeaks his Celtic descent, was found in the riverbed yesterday afternoon by Patrolmen Sweeney and McAuliffe, bemoaning his fate.

The cause of "Prince" Shanadore's grief is the fact that civilization has engulfed the West, and his dreams of making the western plains Chinese territory have vanished. It is suspected that all is not well with his think dome, and observations will be taken in the Receiving Hospital today.

Shanadore's two great problems are why he is bald instead of having a queue and, if he had been successful in converting the Pacific Coast into Chinese territory, would the Indians eat chop suey.

Centours of the Police Department Line Up for Inspection and Commended for Neatness and Grooming.

Mounted on ten well-groomed horses, the mounted police squad lined up in front of the Central Police Station yesterday afternoon for the first inspection.

The officers were in their new olive drab uniforms. Chief Sebastian and Captains Bradish, Lehnhausen and Haupt critically examined the horses, trappings and uniforms, commended them on their neat appearance and the grooming of their mounts.

A few drills and "stunts" were practiced for the benefit of the crowd which gathered during the inspection, and then they rode to a blacksmith shop on North Broadway to have the horses branded on their hoofs so that they can be identified by number and not by name.

CONVENTION LEAGUE BUSY.

Seven Gatherings Scheduled for Los Angeles and Others for Which Strong Bid Is Being Made.

The directors of the Convention League yesterday considered a number of conventions already scheduled to be held here, and some that the league is trying to get for this city.

The list of those scheduled include: Navy League of the United States, in March; American Institute of Engineers, April; Library Convention, Pasadena, March; Kappa Alpha Theta Convention, Pasadena, July; Pacific Coast Turnfest, Los Angeles, June; American Medical Association, Los Angeles, June; Knights and Ladies of Security, Los Angeles, 1912.

Efforts are being made to get the Shriners for 1912, the Grand Army encampment for next year, and a number of conventions for 1913. One hundred and eighty new members were elected at the meeting.

Deserter From United States Army Gives Himself Up and Will Be Sent North ofr Court-Martial.

Declaring if he could not go home freely, he would rather surrender and take the consequences, Henry C. King, charged with deserting from the United States Army in the Philippines, entered the Central Police Station yesterday afternoon. He asked that he be locked up and the local recruiting station notified of his capture.

"I am sick and tired of being an outlaw," King said wearily as he dropped upon a bunk in the jail. "I have wandered from place to place and haven't had a minute's peace. The army officals notified my family that I had deserted and that they were looking for me and so I couldn't go home. I would rather face the consequences than go on like this."

He will be sent to San Francisco for court-martial.

INQUISITION AT SAN QUENTIN.

MRS. MAYBRICK ARRAIGNS THE CONVICT SYSTEM.

Thrilling Tale of the Sufferings of a Woman Who Is Now Devoting Her Life to Prison Reform—Calls Upon California to Get in Line With Progress.

The wonderful story of the conviction of Mrs. Florence Maybrick of the murder of her husband in England, her long years of imprisonment and her final release, as told by herself to an audience in the Auditorium last night, is one of intense interest. Mrs. Maybrick is now devoting her life to an effort to reform the prisons of the United States, as the result of a remark made to her by one of her British keepers. He said to her that she should be thankful that she was not confined in one of the American prisons, where they torture prisoners, and after her release she determined to find out.

Mrs. Maybrick is yet a young woman, notwithstanding she occupied a cell as a condemned murderess for some sixteen years. She has no gray hair, but the hard lines in her face show what she has suffered. In her lecture, which occupied almost two hours, she talked very little about herself, but told sufficient to satisfy the curiosity of her hearers, and enable them to form some opinion for themselves as to her innocence of the crime of which she was charged.

She said she was married very young to a man she afterward found to be a drug fiend. They made annual trips to Europe and, as he was unable to procure the drug in quantities to suit him in England, he took a supply with him. He became suddenly ill one day at the races and, despite all the doctors could do, he died. A maid at the hotel came into the room and discovered this package of the drug lying on the table, and this led to the arrest of Mrs. Maybrick, charged with having poisoned her husband. She was tried and convicted by a judge, who soon afterward died in an insane asylum, and his charge to the jury, which was the last he ever delivered, was so flagrant that every judge in England signed a protest against it. So great was the indignation in America and all other civilized countries that, after three weeks in the murderers' cell, her sentence was changed to imprisonment for life, where the rule was solitude and silence, and, after long years of struggle by her friends in America, she was finally pardoned.

It is a thrilling tale, some parts of which are familiar to the entire world. In referring to her early Christian training, she said that only her faith in God saved her, for nobody could live through her trials and not lose their mind, without that faith.

"When I went into that awful cell, 4x7 feet," she said, "I said to myself: 'If there's anything in all this teaching of my mother, I'll come out of this as I came in.' And I did come out, my dear friends, for here I am."

Perhaps the most interesting part of her tale was her description of how she felt when she got out. For so many years she walked only seven feet at a time, that she would involuntarily stop at seven feet; the automobile, all electrical apparatus, and a thousand other modern inventions had come during her incarceration. During all those years she had never closed a door, hence left all doors open; she had never seen the sky, heard a bird sing or a child cry; she had never spoken a sentence to a human being, and she knew not how to talk.

Her arraignment of the convict system in California was a most scorching one, and she did not mince words in charging it to the people who sat before her. In part, she said on this subject:

"You have turned out 30,000 criminals in this State and have done nothing for them. In San Quentin I find the most terrible and cruel punishments, and you have them by the will of the people. You hang up your prisoners to a hook in the wall, and after they fall senseless to the ground, hang them up again after they have returned to consciousness.

"You sit there and permit it, and call yourselves Christians. You have a man in charge at San Quentin who has tortured so many prisoners that had he lived in the days of the inquisition, he would have gone insane, and he is kept there by political influence, but his time is coming."

She declared that California is the only State in the union where long sentences and cruel treatment are the regular order, and referred to the case of a boy being given a sentence of fifty years for burglary. She called upon the people to correct the abuses by the passing of proper laws, and gave many thrilling incidents of her visits to penitentiaries. One of her sensational experiences was to meet in a cell, a man who had for five years been one of her keepers in the English prison. He had been discharged for carelessness, came to this country, was convicted of forgery and sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment.

Loder Retaliates in Caustic Terms to Criticisms.

Frank H. Joyner, who was recently employed by the County Supervisors to succeed Chief Engineer Loder when the latter's official head is severed in July, broke forth in a written communication to the board yesterday in such manner as to again bring the Good Roads project to the boiling point.

Loder, who has kept silent under the severest criticism possible, threw down the gauntlet to the newcomer in an interview last evening.

From now on it will apparently be war between the two engineers. One has attacked the other's professional standing, and the other has his bristles up and is going to fight over every inch of the ground which is sought to be taken from him.

The fuss arouse out of the reference to Joyner of specifications which Loder prepared for the construction of improvements on the Harbor and Foothill boulevards. Joyner's statements were in the nature of a reply to Supervisor Butler's request of him to give an opinion on the specifications.

"The plans and specifications are unsatisfactory in three respects," the report reads. "First, they are weak from the fact that they are unwieldly, contain much unnecessary matter and lack definiteness; second, they contain the objectionable provisions calling for lump sums, bids and payments; third, they call or permit many practices in road construction that have long been pronounced by the leading road engineers of the United States, England and France, failures.

CRITICIZES BLUE PRINTS.

"As sustaining my first objection to the plans and specifications, I would call your attention to the elaborate profiles drawn from both sections of road. These are drawn on so-called profile paper, and while they are probably clear on the original plans, they are nothing but a mass of half-blurred lines when transferred to a blue print from which a contractor cannot quickly form an accurate opinion as to the work to be done."

"If he had investigated, he would have found that the drawings are on standard paper," was Loder's comment as he read through the report.

"In the manner of a 'lump sum' bid for any part of the work necessary in the construction of a highway, I object to same because the fact that it invites collusion between the contractor and engineer and also gives an engineer, if he so desires, a chance to ruin any contractor," the report continues.

"The records of the Supervisors will show a resolution was passed last summer to do away with unit bidding and have all lump sum bids," replies Loder. "Anyway, look at the large undertakings in the city and throughout the country which are carried out this way. I had to appear before the Supervisors in order to get them to permit us to draw the specifications so that we could get unit bids as well as in the lump sum."

"You ask for an opinion as to the three propositions, A B and C mentioned in specifications No. 84. But before reporting fully on these, I must see the Harbor boulevard," the report continues. "I can, however, at this time, state that proposition C calls for a kind of mongrel pavement, and specifications covering same appear to have been drawn from specifications for standard asphalt pavement, Warren Brothers' Patent Pavement, and Massachusetts bituminous gravel. Roads have been built by the Massachusetts Highway Commission on the same general lines and have been classed as failures, so I cannot recommend proposition C. This proposed method of construction is only an experiment, anyway, and the length it is proposed to build is too great for experimental purposes."

LODER COMES BACK.

"The mongrel pavement of which he speaks is better than that which is being put in on the famous boulevard of the Suburban Homes Company," was Loder's comment. "It has the same concrete asphalt base, but in addition has an extra surface of asphalt. Such paveemnt has been in use in this city from eighteen to twenty years.

"I don't know much about Massachusetts bituminous gravel, but I understand it is some crushed granite worked up on a board with a tar preparation. There is nothing like that in the specifications." The report continues:

"From an examination of the road-building problem in Los Angeles county I have made, I believe that one specification can be drawn that will cover in a general way all the contracts to be let and will need only an occasional inserted leaf to be a special specification for a road . . . culverts of less than ten feet span should be standardized, and one set of plans made to serve for all the work."

"If he had taken the trouble to come to my office he would have found all of the standardized sets of plans he desired to look at," Loder declares. "However, anyone who has had experience in roadbuilding knows that there are few culverts which do not set at an angle with the roads, and that specifications must be prepared so that they will meet these requirements.

"I do not believe Mr. Joyner made a careful investigation of the local conditions and requirements before he made his report. I do not think he will render a similar one after he becomes familiar with the situation."

Joyner's report was sent to the Highway Committee of the Board of Supervisors. There is much interest among those interested in the improvement of the roads as to whether Loder will be requested to prepare new specifications or Joyner's recommendations will be disregarded.

PARTNERS IN A QUARREL.

One Secures Complaint for Assault, Alleging Other Points Gun at Him and Administers Thrashing.

Claiming that his partner pointed a loaded revolver at his head and then beat him unmercifully, E. R. Graves secured a complaint against W. R. Fleming from the District Attorney yesterday afternoon. Fleming must answer to a charge of assault. The degree of the charge will be determined when Fleming's side of the story is heard.

According to Graves, he and Fleming were conducting a livery stable at No. 942 South Los Angeles street, but that they had many differences over the business.

He said that he went to the office Monday to look over some of the papers in his desk and was about to leave when he saw Fleming with a gun in his hand. Fleming then pointed the gun at him, Graves said, and struck him in the face with his fist.

JOY RIDE ENDS IN FATALITY.

One Man Killed and Another Fatally Injured When Big Touring Car Skids on Detroit Streets.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

DETROIT, Feb. 14.—One man was killed, one fatally injured, and four men and two women were injured early today, when a touring car going at high speed skidded on the icy pavement and crashed into a teleprone pole on Jefferson avenue. The dead man is Harry Nederlander, agent of an automobile company who was driver of the car.

Paul R. McKinney was internally injured, fatally; Allan M. Gray had a leg broken; John C. Barber had a leg broken and his back was injured; David Nederlander was hurt about the head; Madge Tripp, member of a chorus in a theatrical company was injured about the body; Dora Thomas, head injured.

The two uninjured women disapeared. The party of nine left Detroit at a late hour and went to Grosse Point. They were returing from there when the accident occurred.

COMMISSION DEFENDED.

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—A prediction that the Interstate Commerce Commission would shortly exercise control over all railroad rate legislation passed by individual States was denounced as "vicious, corrupt and dishonest" before the Traffic Club here today by Walter E. McCormick, formerly attorney for the commission.

FOR SALE—OR EXCHANGE.

Every fruit dealer in Los Angeles knows that mountain grown Arizona are the finest flavored, and command the highest prices. We have 120-acre ranch near Saugus, on S. P. R. R., 70 acres cultivated, 90 acres good tillable land, 12 acres to vineyard and 100 fruit trees in bearing. Plenty of water for domestic use and garden irrigation. Small, substantial house, good sized barn and, outbuildings. Ranch is on a good road, in attractive location; good neighbors. Will make an ideal fruit ranch. Price $50 an acre, easy terms. Will exchange for city income about same value. I have personally investigated this ranch and it's ALL RIGHT.

HEALTH and WEALTH await the buyer who has the intelligence to grasp, and the industry to improve the opportunity here presented. For details see A. D. RANNELLS, 127 N. Main st. Phone Main 5767. A2816.

WE ARE FORMING A DREDGING COMpany and will consider applicants to sell an interest or some stock up to $20,000. We own large acreage of dredging ground and are now preparing the dredger to start operations. This is not a dry washing proposition. The records of the State Mining Bureau show by returns that the 63 dredgers operating are producing over an average of $10,000 per day per cent of the placer gold in California and that gold dredging is the safest of investments. Parties promptly qualifying will make a ground floor proposition that is open for 30 days. This is a great investment and the element of chance is practically eliminated. Reports, descriptions and opinions of best engineers on file. $52,000 in assets will back this investment and all interest as stock subscriptions that are sold will be placed in trust until completed. Will consider stock subscriptions from $25 to $5000. Associates interests will be sold or syndicated from $5000 to $20,000. No more for sale. THOMAS POWERS, 222 Bradbury Bldg. Phone A6117.

THE GENERAL NITROGEN COMPANY WAS incorporated yesterday for the manufacture of nitrogen gas. A plant is being built in this city. The gas will be compressed into small cylinders and will be used to propel automobiles, motorcycles, launches and other boats, aeroplanes, etc. The plant will be finished in about four weeks. A fertilizer will also be made. The company has 10,000 shares of the par value of $1. Small blocks of the stock may be had at 50 cents per share. Railroad Record.

POW-WOW OVER TRAFFIC TODAY.

Heads of Two Railroads Will Meet in New Orleans.

Lovett of Espee and Markham of Illinois Central.

Near Completion of Canal Is Sign for Activity.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Robert S. Lovett, president of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads and Charles H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central, are due here tomorrow and will confer over the affairs of the Southern Pacific and the Illinois Central. Mr. Markham left Vicksburg tonight. Both are speeding southward on special trains.

The New Orleans Progressive Union is preparing a big reception for the two railroad chiefs. A luncheon will be given them. There is a particularly strong tie between Mr. Lovett and Markham. When Mr. Lovett was general counsel for the Harriman lines in Texas, Mr. Markham was vice-president.

It is believed the reason for the meeting of the railroad men here is that the Harriman lines are beginning to look about them in regard to preparations for taking care of the increased traffic which will come this way with the opening of the Panama Canal, so their coming here at this time may be in connection with the improvements which are certain to be made.

Mr. Lovett will go from New Orleans over the Southern Pacific through to Los Angeles and San Francisco.

CRIME BRIEFS.

Sentenced for Life.

SAN JOSE, Feb. 14.—Joe Aguila was sentenced this morning by Judge Richards to life imprisonment at Folsom, for the murder of Maria Cervantes, a woman with whom he had been living near Gilroy.

Opium Seized.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—The continuation of the search for opium on board the steamship Siberia resulted today in the seizure of ten tins of the contraband drug. The inspectors seized the opium as a Chinese saloon boy was moving it from one place of concealment to another.

BURGLAR SHOOTS CONDUCTOR.

SPOKANE (Wash.) Feb. 14.—In an encounter in his car with a burglar early today, D. J. Reeder, of Portland, a dining car conductor on the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company line, was shot through the breast while the diner was on the siding at Lewiston Junction. Reeder is not expected to live. His assailant escaped.

Avenging Husband Arraigned.

SAN JOSE, Feb. 14.—William McAdams, who on Sunday night shot and killed his wife and Nicholas Cupich at Gilroy, was arraigned this morning before Justice Willey of that town. The date of the preliminary examination was left to be set by the District Attorney.

Officer Indicted for Murder.

TUCSON (Ariz.) Feb. 14.—J. P. Kenneally, special policeman for the Southern Pacific Railroad, was indicted for murder by the grand jury today. He is charged with having slain Pat Boyle at the railroad station here during Christmas week. Kenneally came from Los Angeles.

Is the Tuberculosis Crusade Losing Ground?

Despite all the efforts being made by advocates of fresh air and egg-and-milk treatments, the number of new cases has not been noticeably decreased.

Write to us and ask to be referred to Clergymen, Priests, men and women who took Eckman's Alterative and are today well and strong without a trace of tuberculosis—pronounced so by physicians. Some of them took the Alterative 10 years ago when doctors said they would not live 10 weeks.

Could anything be fairer to yourself and those who love you and would do anything to restore you to health? If you are skeptical—investigate us, our medicine, our advertised statements. Write to those who have sent in affidavits and testimonials telling how Eckman's Alterative cured them. Here is one:—

5223 Girard Ave., Philadelphia, Pa.

Gentlemen: "In the winter of 1903, I had an attack of Grippe, followed by Pneumonia and later by Consumption. I grew steadily worse. In the winter of 1904 I had cough, night sweats, fever and raised quantities of awful looking stuff and later, I had many hemorrhages; at one time, three in three successive days. Milk and eggs became so distasteful I could keep nothing down. Three physicians treated me. I was ordered to the mountains, but did not go. Eckman's Alterative was recommended by a friend. After taking a small quantity I had the first quiet night's sleep for weeks. My improvement was marked from the first. I gained strength and weight and appetite. I never had another hemorrhage and my cough gradually lessened until entirely gone. I am perfectly well. Everything I say here can be verified by my family and friends." (Signed Affidavit)

SOLONS INTERVIEW FIGHTERS ON ETHICS OF BOXING AT CAPITAL.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 14.—Eddie Smith of Oakland, who appeared before the Assembly Public Morals Committee tonight, in behalf of a bill allowing twenty-round boxing exhibitions, exhibited two boxers to the members as sample products of the law allowing sparring contests.

The fighters were Frankie Burns and Lew Powell. They were questioned at length by the Assemblymen as to the morals of boxing, the alleged brutality of the sport, and its effect on their character and education.

Rev. H. H. Bell, Rev. L. J. Sawyer and Attorney J. E. White of San Francisco advocated the passage of the Henshaw bill offering to accept an amendment allowing sparring exhibitions of six rounds with six-ounce gloves, no admission to be charged. Smith urged the passage of a bill limiting the bouts to twenty rounds, with seven-ounce gloves, making an extended address. No action was taken.

Representatives of mutual and inter-insurance appeared tonight before the Assembly Insurance Committee to discuss a bill introduced by Assemblyman Clark to place mutual companies on the same basis as stock companies.

Albert H. Elliott of Oakland spoke in favor of the bill. Walter Denman and Percy Towne of San Francisco spoke for the inter-insurance interests asking that the bill be amended in such way as not to include the latter companies. State Insurance Commissioner E. C. Cooper asked the committee to defer action two days to allow the various companies to consider the bills with him. His request was granted.

Lumber Report.

COMMISSIONER ON CORPORATIONS REPORTS ON AMERICAN TIMBER.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Concentration of the control of the standing timber in a very few hands, vast speculative holdings "far in advance of any use thereof" and an enormous increase in the value of "this diminishing natural resource with great profits to its owners," and incidently "an equally sinister land monopoly" and a "closely connected railroad domination"—these are the findings reported to the President by Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations, in the first instalment of his long-waited report on the lumber industry in the United States.

The report was made public today by the President, who sent it to Congress. The report is effectively summarized in the commissioner's letter of submittal. His conclusion, in a forecast of the future, partakes of the sensational.

"There are many great combinations in other industries," says the report, "whose formation is complete. In the lumber industry, on the other hand, the bureau finds now in the making a combination caused fundamentally by a long-standing public policy. The concentration already existing is sufficiently impressive.

"In the last forty years concentration has so proceeded that 195 holders, many inter-related, have practically one-half of the private-owned timber in the investigated area.

"Which contains eighty per cent. of the whole. This formidable process certainly involves great future possibilities of impregnable monopolistic conditions, whose far-reaching consequences it is difficult to anticipate fully or to over-estimate."

The commissioner reserves for a later report the subject of combinations in the manufacture or sale of lumber "as distinguished from ownership of standing timber." Following is substantially the text of the letter summarizing the report:

The foremost facts shown are:

"First—The concentration of a dominating control of our standing timber in a comparatively few enormous holdings, steadily tending toward a central control of the lumber industry.

"Second—Vast speculative purchase and holding of timber land far in advance of any use thereof.

"Third—An enormous increase in the value of this diminishing natural resource, with great profits to its owners. This value, by the very nature of standing timber, the holder neither created nor substantially enhanced.

"The past history and present status of our standing timber drive home upon us the imperative necessity of revising our public policy for the future management of all our remaining natural resources.

"Only forty years ago, at most, three-fourths of the timber now standing was (it is estimated) publicly owned. Now about four-fifths of it is privately owned.

"The great bulk of it has passed from government to private hands through (a) enormous railroad, canal and wagon roads grants by the Federal government; (b) direct government sales in unlimited quantities at $1.25 an acre; (c) certain public land laws, great tracts being assembled in spite of the legal requirements for small holdings.

"Such laws were wholly inappropriate to forest regions; but, though vigorously condemned in several public reports, they are still largely in force. In the ordinary, they were intended to distribute the public lands in small tracts, as homes for freeholders. In fact, they actually furthered timber concentration in vast holdings.

"The 1082 largest holders of timber now own 88,579,000 acres of land, as compared with a vastly wider distribution of public lands in non-timbered agricultural sections.

"The value of standing timber has increased tenfold, twentyfold and even fiftyfold, according to local conditions. The present annual growth is only about one-third of the present annual cut. Replacement by new growth is very slow.

"What did the government get for the timber? Of the southern, pine sold for $1.25 an acre, which is now worth $60 an acre. Large amounts of Douglas fir in Western Washington and Oregon, which the government gave away or sold at $2.50 an acre, now range from $100 to $200 per acre.

"The great redwood belt in California was alienated on similar terms and some of it is now worth hundreds of dollars an acre. Practically none of the great forests in the public lands States was sold by the government for more than $2.50 an acre. The great increase of value gives great importance to the concentration of ownership.

"Whatever power over prices may arise from combination in manufacture and distribution (as distinguished from timber owning,) such power is insignificant and transitory compared to the control of the standing timber itself or a dominating part thereof.

"There is now left in continental United States about 2200 billion board feet of privately-owned standing timber, of which 1747 billion was included in the investigation covered in great detail by the bureau. This area includes the Pacific Northwest, the southern pine region and the Lake States, and contain 80 per cent. of all the private timber in the country.

"In addition there are about 539 billion feet in the national forests and about ninety billion feet on other non-private lands. Thus, the total amount of standing timber in continental United States is about 2800 billion board feet. The present annual drain upon the supply of saw timber is about fifty billion feet. At this rate, the timber now standing, without allowance for growth, would last only about fifty-five years.

"The present commercial value of the privately-owned standing timber, not including the value of the land, is estimated (though such an estimate must be very rought,) as at least $3,000,000,000. Ultimately the consuming public will have to pay such prices for lumber as will give this timber a far greater value."

Proceeding next to consider the concentration of timber ownership, Mr. Smith says:

"Three vast holdings alone, the greatest in the country, those of the Southern Pacific Company, the Weyerhauser Timber Company and the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, including their subsidiary companies, together have 238 billion feet, or nearly 11 per cent. of all our privately owned timber. They have 14 per cent. of that in the 'investigation area.'

"With the five next largest they have overover 15 per cent. of the total privately owned timber and over 19 per cent. of that within the investigation area. Finally, nearly one half (48 per cent. of the private timber in that area) is held by only 195 great holders.

"The Pacific Northwest—five-elevenths of the country's privately owned standing timber is in the Pacific Northwest (California, Oregon Washington, Idaho and Montana) 1013 billion feet. Half of this is now owned by thirty-seven holders, many of these are closely connected. The three largest holders (named above) alone have nearly one quarter.

"This section now furnishes only one-sixth of the annual cut. Thus its timber is being largely held for the future, and the large owners there will then be the dominating influence in the industry.

"The Southern Pacific Company's holding is the greatest in the United States—108,000,000,000 feet.

"This is about 6 per cent. of the private timber in the investigation area, and 10 per cent. of that in the Pacific Northwest. It is difficult to give an adequate idea of its immensity. It stretches practically 630 miles along that railroad between Portland and Sacramento.

"The second largest holder is the Weyerhauser Timber Company, including its subsidiary companies, with 96,000,000,000 feet. This does not include further very extensive timber interests of the Weyerhauser family and close associates.

"The third largest, the Northern Pacific Railroad Company has 36,000,000,000 feet. The holdings of the two railroad companies are government grants, and 80 per cent. of the Weyerhauser Timber Company was bought from the Northern Pacific grant. Many other large holdings (here and in other regions) were mainly purchased from some land grant.

"Southern pine region—In the southern pine region, there are 634,000,000,000 feet of privately owned timber. Concentration in total timber is much less than in the Pacific Northwest.

"The Lake States—In Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan there are 100,000,000,000 feet of privately-owned timber." Coming to the question of probable effect of this concentration, the commissioner expressed his views as follows.

"Such concentration in standing timber, if permitted to continue and increase, makes probable a final central control of the whole lumber industry. A few strong interests, ultimately holding the bulk of the timber, can set the price.

"Certain further factors, not exactly measurable, increase still more the real concentration. First, a further interweaving of interests, corporate and personal, connects a great many hogs which the bureau has treated as separate. Secondly—There are very large totals of timber so scattered in small tracts through larger holdings that they are substantially 'blocked in' or 'controlled' by the larger holders; third, the concentration is much higher in the more valuable species.

"The largest holders are cutting little of their timber. They thus reserve to themselves those incalculable profits which are still to accrue with the growth of the country, the diminishing of timber supply and the further concentration and control thereof. Many of the very men who are protesting concentration of the natural forest system because of the 'tying up' of natural resources, are themselves deliberately tying them up far more effectively for private gain.

"Standing timber is not the only question. When the timber has been cut the land remains. There has been created, therefore, not only the framework of an enormous timber monopoly, but also an equally sinister land concentration in extensive sections. This involves also a great wealth in minerals.

"The Southern Pacific has 4,348,000 acres in Northern California and Western Oregon and, with the Union Pacific, which controls it, millions of acres elsewhere. (The government, however, is now suing to annul title to the Southern Pacific lands in Oregon for non-compliance with the terms of the original grants.) The Northern Pacific owns 2,017,000 acres of timber land and millions more non-timbered lands. The Weyerhauser Timber Company owns 1,945,000 acres.

"Finally to the timber concentration and to land concentration, is added, in our most important timber sections, a closely connected railroad domination. The formidable possibilities of this conplination in the Pacific Northwest and elsewhere, are of the greatest public importance."

SLUMMING AMONG DUKES.

Agenda Club, Recently Formed in London, to Teach All Classes Their Responsibilities.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Ever since the recent inaugural dinner of the Agenda Club at the Hotel Cecil, everyone has been asking what the club is. The object of the club is a tall one; it is betterment of existing social conditions. Nevertheless as a proof that the aims of the club are not visionary a group of representative members includes Lord Shaftesbury, Lord Brassey, W. W. Asquith the Prime Minister's brother, Granville Barker the playwright, Owen Seamen, editor of "Punch," and many well-known business men and journalists.

When James Thorp, secretary of the Agenda Club was interviewed he said: "Our theory is that there is an enormous number of men who are fully convinced of their social responsibility but they do not know how to fulfill it. We belive that it is possible to organize people to do small services, and that these small services conpentrated on one particular point, will have far more effect than larger services done independently in many directions. We are told that men can always find out what they should do, if they take the trouble. But that is a big 'if,' and we save them the trouble. We put them in touch with a congenial outlet for their energies.

"Money is the only thing that does not matter. The worst thing about modern charity is that a man thinks that when he has given a draft on his bankers he is absolved from further responsibility. There will be no subscription to the Agenda Club. A man will be an 'Agenda man' if he does the thing he offers to do or is asked to do."

The dominating idea of this business-like organization is that men can be most usefully employed in "social service," when they are asked to use their own professional knowledge to further the general good.

The Hon. Sydney Holland in dealing with the objects of the club says: "Our aim will be to bring gentlemen, the natural leaders of our country, out of their shell. It may be our duty to slum among dukes, rescue earls and set young peers on their legs, even if their last legs. We want to collect men who will live for their country; there are quite enough who will die for it."

Among the diverse objects the Agenda Club proposes to tackle are: the prevention of expectoration, the pure milk question, the problem of the segregation of the half witted, street begging, and the organization of the correspondence columns of the press. Then there are many minor matters in which the club will do useful work. Letters are often written to the papers complaining of the daily crush at the tram car terminals,—women waiting for hours, pushed roughly aside, while men fight their way through.

"In such a case," said Mr. Thorp, "The people would write to us, and we should send thirty or forty of our young men out to watch for two or three days and report to us. Then we shal decide on the necessary remedy, go to the proper authority, and say, 'Why can't this be done? Is it a question of money, time, men, or what is the difficulty?' And we should get it done."

This curious club is established for a limited period of twenty-five years and will cease to exist, therefore, at the end of 1935.

GLIMPSES OF SAN FRANCISCO.

[Special Correspondence to The Times.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 10.—Nearly all the heroes are back from Washington and plans are laid to give them a monster reception. Each one modestly admits that he did something towards getting us the fair. Mayor McCarthy put one over on the other heroes. He managed to reach here first and had two brass bands meet him. Furthermore he called a mass meeting at Central Theater and had a chance to expand himself on how it all happened at Washington.

It is a good thing to look forward to the world's fair and the splendid prospect it affords. Just at present, however, things are not so roseate. The bank clearings for several weeks have shown a decrease from what they were last year and the building contracts for months past have been few and far between.

The people have voted to tax themselves $10,000,000 for the fair and things ought to be better when this money begins to get into circulation. It is hoped that the gentlemen that subscribed the $7,500,000 will come forward promptly with their subscriptions.

Two lively contests are in prospect before fair matters get started. The site will have to be decided on and a director general chosen. The people favor Golden Gate Park for the site but the fair directors are said to like another place. Three names are mentioned for director general—R. B. Hale, M. H. De Young and Theodore Bell. All have friends among the directors and a lively scrap may ensue.

The acquittal of Theodore Halsey for the second time shows that juries do not believe the sworn testimony of Ruef's boodle gang of supervisors. They cheerfully swear that Halsey bribed them and the jury just as cheerfully exonerates Halsey. This is probably the last time the gentleman will have to go to the bat. Hereafter he can live an honored citizen in the community as if will be wasting the city's money to bother with him any more.

Everybody is getting together so what is the use of blaming the police if they get together with the gamblers. The Police Commission will exonerate any patrolman who is gambler blind. Chief Seymour says that he is going to stop gambling, but if he does it will be by his own efforts as the members of his force seem to favor the sport.

Gambler Kripp emptied a police sergeant's pistol in the direction of Gustave Postler and a considerate Coroner's jury decided that Postler killed himself. A minority of the jury voted that Kripp killed Postler, but was justified in so doing. Coroner Walsh approved of the suicide verdict. While Mr. Kripp must feet grateful to the jury for their suicide decision still he must feet hurt to think that they thought so little of his marksmanship.

The ladies of the California Club in a debate decided that the affirmative had presented the best arguments but the merits of the question should be decided in the negative. The question was: "Resolved that the positive quality so long considered the exclusive possession of man is being gradually transferred to women." This is quite a feather in the cap of the clubwomen. It showed that they could not be swayed by argument.

Supervisor Nelson in a pique because a prize-fight promoter did not give him free tickets to a fight, tried to pass a law that would make it illegal to give complimentary cardboards. Nelson's colleagues thought at first of having him examined for sanity but on sober second thought they let him down easy by tabling his ordinance.

On the Isthmus.

AMBITIONS OF PANAMANIANS.

Expect Crowds at Their Own Canal Exposition.

New Plans for Building of Darien Railroad.

Inhabitants Will Be Cursed With Paper Money.

[Correspondence St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

COLON (R. P.) Jan. 26, 1911.—With an appropriation of $100,000, just voted by the National Assembly and approved by the President, it is now an assured thing that in the year 1915 Panama will have an Exposition to celebrate the formal opening of the Isthmian Canal. While cities in the United States have been engaged in a relentless struggle for the honor of holding such an Exposition, and have raised millions of dollars to further their project, Panama has been taking things easy and losing no sleep over the matter. For Panama has had no competition, because for such a celebration it is in a class by itself. No matter where the American fair should be held, it will not interfere with the one located upon the banks of "the greatest engineering feat of the age." It is true, of course, that our little Exposition down here upon the isthmus may suffer by comparison with another which has an appropriation of about 175 times greater, but that will be more than evened up because the canal itself is here, which, after all, will be the greatest attraction.

A strong bid will be made at the proper time by Panama to secure the next meeting of the Pan-American Conference in 1915.

Naturally an exposition so small as that in Panama will be cannot hope to compete with the exhibits displayed in the American fair. But, in addition to the canal, the climate of this country has been so far subdued that, without the assistance of the big ditch, Panama, by January 1, 1915, will undoubtedly have become one of the greatest winter resorts upon the Caribbean Sea and will have thousands of visitors every season. Up until about two years ago the American tourists confined themselves in winter to Florida, Bermuda and the various West Indian Islands. No one prior to that time would have dreamed of touching upon the mainland for a pleasure excursion. The fear of malaria, yellow fever and bubonic plague was still in their minds. And of all places on the Spanish Main, Panama was looked upon with the greatest horror. Nobody came here for rest or pleasure. If a foreigner had any business to transact upon the Isthmus he finished it up with dispatch and then moved on in a hurry. He was not taking any chances.

Since that time, however, the number of visitors to the canal has steadily increased. Tourist companies now include Colon in their list of ports of call. It is surprising also how many people come down here now from the States to visit friends or relatives working on the canal, fall in love with the climate or something equally nice, and stay here. Hence it can be readily seen that, though the canal is the biggest thing here, it is not the only thing, and, with the improvements constantly going on, it is doubtful if any visitor to the Panama World's Fair will ever be found regretting that he made the voyage to the hospitable isthmian shores.

RAILROAD PROJECT REVIVES.

After peacefully slumbering for several months, the proposition of a railroad in the Darien country has again come up, and, from all indications at present, the contract between the government of Panama and the Balboa and Pacific Estates, Limited, of London, will probably be ratified by the Assembly. This being a British concern, its progress will be watched with great interest by Americans, especially as its Darien railway may become a part of the intercontinental line which eventually must be built and operated. In addition, the company has the privilege of extending its lines and building branches, which may, sooner or later, bring it to the doors of Panama. This, also, is giving the canal officials considerable concern, since such a railroad would naturally give the government of Great Britain a foothold and the right to assert a "sphere of influence" in Panama up to the brink of the canal itself. Once having attained this clutch, nobody expects England to loosen it; in fact, it was by exceedingly quiet work that the English obtained control of the Suez Canal after the French had built it.

For every kilometer of road constructed the company is to receive 400 hectares of land, equivalent to about 1000 acres for every 3280 feet of rails laid. This, of course, applies to government land only. Where the proposed line will traverse private property, the company has to arrange with the owners thereof for such land as it may require. Besides the land grant mentioned above, the railway has a right of way fifty meters in width throughout its entire extension, as well as all ground necessary for establishing sea or river ports, docks, storehouses, stations, warehouses or for anything else indispensable to the construction and operation of the railroad. All material to be used in the building and preservation of the lines is allowed to enter the Republic of Panama free of duty, but no merchandise, provisions, liquors or medicines will be permitted so so enter. After seventy-five years the government reserves the right to purchase the railroad at its appraised valuation. The company is to pay no taxes upon its railroad property of any kind, except 1-4 per cent annually of its gross receipts during the first fifteen years of the franchise, 1-2 per cent annually during the second period of fifteen years, 1 per cent for the succeeding fifteen-year term, and 1 1-2 per cent for the remaining thirty years. The company is also bound to employ Panamanians wherever possible to use them and to pay them wages not lower than other nationalities for the same class of work. In all cases of difference with the government the corporation is shut off, by the terms of the contract, from taking up the matter in diplomatic channels. Such differences are to be settled by arbitration. From England's well-known past record for protecting her citizens, however, it is doubtful if the Balboa and Pacific Estates, Limited, ever gets the worst of any valuable argument.

PAPER CURRENCY.

HOUSE OF COMMONS' "ROBINSON CRUSOE."

LONDON, Jan. 28.—In adopting Harold Cox, formerly M. P. for Preston, where he suffered defeat last January, as a candidate for Cambridge University in place of their member who has just died, another instance has been shown of the increasing tendency to give these university seats to the "Robinson Crusoes" of politics—men who do not follow either party, but are invaluable for their brains and ability.

Such a man is Harold Cox. He cannot follow the Tories who are pledged to Protection, because he is a Free Trader; nor does he sympathize with the Liberals, because philosophically speaking, he is an anarchist, and hates the very name of socialism. But he has remarkable ability, and he is invaluable as a critic on both sides. He is the first to see the weak points of the measures proposed in the House, and on matter what party is in power, he does not hesitate to point them out, and that with a clearness that makes it patent to the dullest of his hearers. These qualities make him peculiarly fitted to represent the "brain-center" of the kingdom, as the universities are supposed to be.

As befits a representative of his Alma Mater, Harold Cox graduated from Jesus College, Cambridge, and for many years looked down from the press galleries upon the scene where he so often afterward "held the floor" and crossed swords with those to whom he formerly listened. His are no sledge-hammer methods, but rather the delicate and deadly play with the point of the rapier that always finds its mark. Wit and humor, caustic comment and figures which always seem to be at his finger-tips on every subject are the weapons that he wields with surprising accuracy.

In fact he is made up of surprises. With all his power, he is the mildest mannered man in the house. Not particularly imposing in appearance, with his soft accents, he can rouse the House to anger quicker than any other man. His wide forehead, keen eyes, and amiable face give the impression of a dreamer, and anybody watching him in his seat in the House would imagine his mind was far away thinking about some book. But the politicians have learnt to beware. When they least expect it he starts up with some deadly interruption, and with a wealth of figures and illustration that has disconcerted many a speaker on both sides of the House, yet with a charm of manner and gentleness that disarm both friend and foe.

THREE ROUND BOUT.

Missouri Legislatures to Witness Contest Between Sons of Representative Paulos.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] State Representative Robert Paulos of St. Louis promises to give the Missouri Legislature a practical demonstration of the fact that boxing should be encouraged. Representative Paulos is the author of the bill making six-round bouts legal. He says the bill should be passed because it would revive the interest among the younger generation in the manly art of self-defense.

Paulos is the proud father of two hearty young boys, one six and the other seven years old. The two Paulos boys are remarkably clever boxers having been taught all the fine points of the game by their father, who says every father should teach his kids how to take care of themselves with their fists.

Paulos expects to take the boys to Jefferson City and have them box for the benefit of the State Legislature. The boys will spar three friendly rounds some afternoon after the lower house gets through with its important business. A resolution will be introduced extending a special invitation to Gov. Hadley and the Senate to view the bouts.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Selection of Umpires Leaves Bob Emslie as a Substitute—Changes in Playing Rules.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The adoption of the minor constitutional amendments and the election of the umpires were the only definite things done at a meeting of the National League of professional baseball clubs today.

The schedule probably will be adopted tomorrow as prepared.

Henry O'Day, William J. Klem, J. E. Johnstone, Charles Rigler, William E. Brennan, Mal Eason, W. F. Finnerman, Jack Doyle. Substitute, Robert Emslie.

Amendments to the constitution were adopted whereby a club cannot withdraw a claim after the player so claimed has been awarded to it.

The National League today recommended two changes in the playing rules, which will be submitted to the more growing. From present appearance the Assembly actually intends to pass the bill, allowing the Banco Hipotecario, or, as it will later be named, El Banco Nacional, to issue notes upon the basis heretofore explained in these columns. Owing to the fear generally felt in these countries regarding this class of money, the opposition to the bill has been heavy. Ricardo Arias, former Secretary of State and one time candidate for President, has been leading the attack and yesterday openly charged that the government bank, between October, 1904, and September, 1910, had lost the snug little sum of $140,730 gold. This is, of course, denied by the friends of the bill, who, however, have not yet produced any verified figures to the contrary, probably because they have not yet recovered their second wind from the blow. In order to guarantee the proposed emission of bank notes, it is now proposed to deposit a like amount in some bank in the United States, which, instead of soothing the opposition, has brought forth the scornful question as to where such a deposit is to come from. As the government has just borrowed $250,000 for running expenses, and as the $4,000,000 in New York cannot be touched, it appears as if the question is likely to go unanswered for some time to come. Nevertheless, if something unexpected does not happen, the bill will probably be carried in the Assembly, in which event it is hoped that enough of the money will be issued to make everybody rich for life.

A law was recently passed in the Assembly which authorizes the President to increase the tariff duties upon all imports, unless otherwise classified, from ten to fifteen per cent. Before doing this it was first necessary to obtain the consent of the American government, in accordance with the terms of the Taft-Esperiella treaty of 1904. This consent was recently given by J. M. Dickinson, Secretary of War. It is stated that for the present, although authorized to raise ordinary duties fifty per cent., President Arosemena will make no charge higher than twenty-five per cent., which is to be applied only to imports not considered as prime necessities. Later on, if the state of the national treasury demands it, such duties may be increased to the fifty per cent. limit, including those on necessities.

PASADENA, Feb. 15.—The local political arena is being cleared for action. The guns and side arms are being polished. The ships are being carefully stripped and receiving their first coat of war paint. "Nothing can stop it," said an old politician last night. "The air is full of fight and the fighters will have nothing but fight." A flag of truce has been sent into the camp of the warring faction, that is the side which wants fight and nothing else but fight, but it was thrown in the dust and the orderly rushed back to camp. All efforts to patch things up and go through with a quiet, peaceable campaign have failed and after a careful count of noses last night, the command was sent along the line "forward march." This is mixing metaphors slightly, but it states the situation.

The campaign was really launched last June when the Municipal Lighting League officials and various city officials organized a municipal political league whose aim, according to the spread-eagle oratory handed out at the two open meetings which were held, was to see that a mayor and three councilmen be elected at the spring election who are thoroughly in sympathy with the municipal lighting plant. A light rate war followed, which brought forth much needless animosity and did neither side any particular good.

Following the war one of the local papers changed hands and it was stated, on all sides, that it had been sold to heavy stockholders in the Edison company and that that paper would be run purely and simply in the interest of that corporation. The rumors were denied by the new management of the paper but the people grinned and said "just wait, the election is coming."

Following the holidays political bees began buzzing and hovered closely about the heads of various prominent men. Most of them dodged the bee but it finally lit in the bonnet of several and will probably find a safe landing in the bonnets of others before election day, according to well-founded reports.

William Thum was put up by the Municipal Light League as their candidate. Then he was endorsed by the several smaller organizations and practically endorsed by several members of the larger organizations. In fact, a move was started by certain well-known politicians to make his nomination unanimous and have but one candidate, for the sake of harmony.

Thum carefully wrote out his platform. It was short but concise. It was easily understood and it met with the approval of the majority of the business and financial men of the city, all of whom said, "for the sake of peace and harmony in the city," they would favor the move.

Then the local papers got into the game. The city printing contract was to be awarded, a thing most sacred and holy to the local papers, because the city annually spends between $5000 and $6000 to have its various ordinances and other official documents printed. Both papers realized that there is one subject which has ever been "touchy" to all the old-timers in Pasadena, and that is consolidation with Los Angeles.

For years it has been the "saying" in the Crown City, "If you want to start something just mention consolidation." The local papers have always reserved that weapon whenever they got in a tight pinch. Of course, annexation or old-fashioned consolidation would probably mean the loss of the city printing to the local papers.

As has been the custom, when the campaign really looked as if it was fairly started, both papers start drastic anti-consolidation editorials, and, of course, it did the business. But one paper came out flat-footed and indorsed Thum, whose platform was not radically anti-consolidation. He stated that he is in favor of being friendly with Los Angeles, of exchanging courtesies, of working in harmony, of making some sort of business arrangement with Los Angeles whereby Pasadena can get a share of the Owens River water, which he states is absolutely necessary for the furtherance of the very best interests of the city.

But the other paper, apparently looking in one direction and shooting in another, attacked Thum's platform because, as it stated, he was not sufficiently radical in his anti-consolidation views. It did not state that it was opposed to Thum because he was nominated by the Municipal Light League.

As a matter of fact there is scarcely a voter in the city who is in favor of casting aside the city's municipal lighting plant, which has cost the city nearly $500,000 and which has been the means of lowering the price of electricity to the householders. The taxpayers are in favor of utilizing the property. They do not all agree on the present policy of operating the plant which it is generally believed to be below any margin of profit. Nor do most of the thinking taxpayers favor any legislation or burden being placed on the Edison Company which will prevent its carrying on its business in a regular business-like manner. "Live and let live" is the policy of most of the voters of Pasadena.

To attack Thum, in open warfare, against the municipal plant would, at the present time, mean failure and no support for the paper, but to wage a war against him because he is not "dyed-in-the-wool" anti-consolidation would be to cast anchor in a vulnerable point. The citizens, almost to a man, are opposed to dragging the consolidation question into politics. "It is too big a question and too vital to the welfare of the city to allow it to be made a matter of political dickering," they say.

It is rumored that the anti-consolidation paper, after it has worked up sufficient sentiment "fussing" over the anti-consolidation matter, will "trot" out its candidate, who in reality will be opposed to the lighting plant and will pay but little attention to the consolidation question, because that is a matter which must be decided by the voters, if it ever becomes an issue.

NOTED ELK DIES.

Emil J. Muller, exalted ruler of Pasadena Lodge B.P.O.E. No. 672, died at the Pasadena Hospital yesterday morning from blood poisoning, aged 42 years. He was born in the State of New York and came to Pasadena many years ago. For many years he had been connected with the painting and decorating business at No. 50 West Colorado street. On February 4, he went to his garage in the rear of his home, No. 232 South Catalina avenue, early in the morning to get his automobile. In reaching for the electric light he took hold of the cord which was wet from the rain of the night before. In some manner the cord had become heavily charged with electricity. Muller received the full charge through his body, severely burning his hand and the bottoms of his feet where it was grounded. He fell to the ground unconscious, where he was found by his sister sometime later. He was taken into his home and after several hours' work by physicians, he regained consciousness. He seemed to be recovering rapidly, although the painful wound on the hand did not heal. Late Monday night he became rapidly worse and yesterday morning was removed to the Pasadena Hospital, when lock jaw set in, causing his death within a short time.

Mr. Muller was one of the best-known young men in Pasadena. He had been prominently identified with the Elks lodge since its organization. He was a humorist and a natural born comedian. For several years, he has appeared in many amateur shows and vaudeville stunts with Eugene Kohler. "Kohler & Muller," on any amateur theatrical programme, meant a large crowd of fun lovers. The deceased is survived by four sisters, two living with him in Pasadena and two in New York, and two brothers. The funeral will be held in the Elks' Hall Thursday afternoon under the auspices of that order. Burial will be in Mountain View Cemetery.

PAVING ATTACKED.

The members of the City Council were given a few "pointers" on street paving yesterday morning by Charles A. Baldwin, a local contractor. Baldwin came to the Council meeting to listen to the opening of a number of bids for street paving, many of which were far less than his prices. He asked for permission to speak and stated that if he were allowed to use broken gravel in paving work that he, too, could make low bids. Then he attacked many of the paving jobs which have been done in the city recently at prices below his bids. In each case he alleged the workmanship was faulty and that the paving will not stand. His remarks were directly against the work on Lake avenue, Center street and Villa street. He declared that the work on those streets was not done according to specifications and was not properly inspected.

Baldwin owns his own crushers in the Arroyo Seco and has done several jobs of paving. Mayor Earley stated that Baldwin's work had always been well done. "But I cannot compete with these prices and do good work," said Baldwin. "I say it is impossible to furnish first-class crushed rock and do the work at those prices."

Baldwin asked that the bids be held up pending an investigation of the paving work done in different parts of the city, which the Council agreed to do. Baldwin argued that the bids were not high enough to insure good work and believes that after a careful investigation the Councilmen will agree with him and will refuse to award contracts to bidders who bid at prices which will not permit them to do first-class work.

SOCIETY EVENTS.

Notable among the social functions of yesterday was the afternoon tea given by Miss Marion Toedt of Palmetto Drive for her house guest, Miss Marguerite Williams. Assisting were Misses Florence Thomson, Anna Taylor, Marion Sharpless, Madeline Binckley, Marguerite Torrey, Margaret and Elizabeth Sherk. In the dining-room, which was decorated with acacia branches, Mmes. B. Marshall Wotkyns, Jr., and James S. Macdonnell presided over the tea table, which was exquisitely ornamented with white roses, ferns and narcissus. An innovation was made by receiving a number of men friends between 5 and 6 o'clock. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. David Blankenhorn, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Macomber, Mrs. Maitland Bishop, Misses Louise Sherman, Margaret Merrill, Marion Hamilton, Edith Rowland, Margaret Macdonnell, Gladys Percy, Anna Robbins, Margaret Percy, Beulah Stannard, Julia Holmes, Louise Austin, Gladys Gardner, Cordelia Stimson, Jane Rowland, Genevieve Stehman, Emily Hibbard, Patty Phillips, Rebecca Hibbard, and Messrs. Richard Merrill, Irving Benton, Crawford May, Joseph Goss, Francis Drake, Livingston Wotkyns, George Vedder, Joseph Azarian, Richard Grover, Tom Norton, J. S. Macdonnell and B. M. Wotkyns, Jr.

One of the smartest bridge parties of yesterday was that given by Mrs. Lloyd R. Macy at the Pasadena Country Club, for Mrs. Theodore Stebbins of Boston, who is a cousin of the hostess. Thirty-five guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hurlburt entertained last night with a Valentine dinner at their home, No. 280 West Colorado street. Covers were laid for twelve.

Mrs. Charles Parsons delightfully entertained at her home, No. 444 East California street, yesterday afternoon with a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Lloyd Killian and Mrs. George Krueger, two brides of the past year. Covers were laid for twelve.

A charming dinner-dance was given last night at the Annandale Country Club, which was enjoyed by a large number of private dinner parties.

JOHN SHAVES OFF WHISKERS.

Wife Accustomed to the Fringe Has Hysterics When He Appears.

LONG BEACH, Feb. 14.—John Chapman of Linden avenue, who has for thirty-five years sported a long and flowing beard, got rid of them yesterday and walking to the Pacific Electric depot sat for half an hour beside his wife, without recognition, although she frequently looked at him in a puzzled way. Finally he smiled and spoke and Mrs. Chapman had a small fit of hysterics.

BOUND OVER TO SUPERIOR COURT.

VICIOUS ATTACK WITH KNIFE MUST BE DEFENDED.

Discharged Employee Who Assaulted Foreman Placed Under Bond of Two Thousand Dollars Pending Trial—He Claims He Acted Only in Self-Defense.

LONG BEACH, Feb. 14.—J. E. Elby, charged with deadly assault on P. M. Gilmore, was today held in answer to the Superior Court and his bond fixed at $2000. His intended victim is recovering but will carry ugly knife wound scars to the grave.

Elby was a ranch hand on the Montana Land Company's ranch northeast of town, and Gilmore was foreman. On the morning of January 14, Gilmore asked Elby to go to another part of the ranch for a wrench and an oil can. Elby, who was sullen over a reprimand concerning his care of his team, refused and Gilmore discharged him. He walked up to Gilmore with his hand behind him and was warned away. Continuing to advance Gilmore raised his fist to repel him and was stabbed in the arm, severing the muscles. He knocked Elby down with his other hand, breaking his nose. Elby got to his feet and then began stabbing Gilmore, inflicting ugly wounds in the head, side and shoulder. Then he went to his shack, packed his blankets and struck out across country, but was overtaken near Artesia, and brought back. Gilmore hovered between life and death for several days, but finally passed the danger point. Elby claims that he acted only in self-defense.

PICTURE PESTS.

Complaint has been made to the police of the operations of two picture solicitors who are making a canvass of the eastern section of the city, offering to enlarge photographs for nothing. Of course, it is the old game of forcing the confiding housewife to buy a frame, refusing the original photograph back when they fail to make a sale. The pair operating here have been particularly insolent and insulting in their talk, for which reason the police are endeavoring to locate them.

MORE EVIDENCE.

People who have been watching the progress of events in the Bowers murder case, are wondering whether or not Mrs. Bowers will be charged with complicity in the death of her husband, for which George R. Ward is now awaiting trial. Detective Duni of the District Attorney's office, was in the city today and had a long conference with the Jap Asai, who it is thought is in possession of knowledge which may give a motive for the crime. Duni says there is nothing to make public but that Ward will be tried for the offense, which indicated that the state has more evidence than was brought out at the preliminary. Mrs. Bowers is at the home of her brother in Redlands, and the Bowers home is deserted, save for the Japanese, who has purchased the business of the dead man.

FIELD MEET.

Pupils of the grammar schools are interested in the annual track and field meet which will be held in March and generally gives a line on athletes who will enter high school. Arrangements for the meet will be made by the Y. M.C.A. at the request of the school board.

For several days the Board of Publiv Works has received compiaint of standing water at the corner of Fourteenth and Pine streets, where the Pacific Electric had built new tracks and stopped the drainage. Requests to the company to open the drainage were ignored and finally refused. This afternoon Member Craig, who has charge of the street department, was instructed to open the drainage across the tracks if he had to stop the cars and this he did with a force of men. The board W. now await the next move of the railroad company.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The Longmont (Colorado) society, which held its annual picnic here yesterday, elected as officers, E. E. Norton, president; T. F. Fesler, Covina, vice-president; F. H. Stickney, Long Beach, secretary; H. T. Hayward, Pomona, C. E. Bemis, Covina, and George W. Allen, Los Angeles, Executive Committee.

Tomorrow the Virginia Country Club will inaugurate a daily auto service between the clubhouse and the Redondo avenue line, autos meeting every car at Tenth street and Redondo avenue.

Thirty-five Hotel Virginia guests enjoyed a night plunge party at the bathhouse last night. An interesting contest was a splashing match between two teams of women bathers composed on one hand of New York and Chicago tourists and on the other of women from San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and Los Angeles.

At the Y.M.C.A. Thursday night a banquet is to be given to the members of the six basket ball teams of the association at which time medals will be presented to the Baptist team, which won the championship. Prof. Russel of the High School will act as toastmaster.

El Rodeo on Friday night will give the fourth of the series of dances at Hotel Virginia, in the shape of a Valentine hop for which over 600 invitations have been issued. One hundred guests from Los Angeles are expected.

The City Council will meet tomorrow night to discuss water rates to be fixed for the year. The Alamitos company has not yet filed its annual statement ordered by the Council, and that body threatens to make an arbitrary rate from which the company will have no redress.

Former residents of Adams county, Neb., will picnic at the sun parlor tomorrow. An attendance of 600 is expected.

Mrs. Sarah McCormick, 88 years of age, died last night at her home on Daisy avenue. She leaves two daughters. The body will be taken back to Salt Lake City for burial.

SAN DIMAS.

SAN DIMAS, Feb. 14.—Mrs. Rose L. Barnhart has sold her ten-acre orange grove to Charles F. Thomas of Los Angeles. Stated consideration, $23,000. Mrs. Barnhart has resided here only about one year, but her place soon became a landmark for sightseers and tourists on account of the sign she hung in the tree on the lawn, which read "Cuddle Down," and the place has since been known as the Cuddle Down Ranch.

PREPARING PLANS FOR SEWER.

South Pasadena Would Solve the Problem for Three Cities Independent of Los Angeles.

SOUTH PASADENA, Feb. 14.—Officials of this city are working on a plan for the disposition of sewage from this city, the Crown City and Alhambra, by the installation of a septic tank many miles to the south of Alhambra, and by discharging the affluent from the tank into the San Gabriel River.

The sewer problem is one of the bigest with which this and other communities near-by have to wrestle. It is felt that if this plan is carried out, the cities of Pasadena, Alhambra and South Pasadena will see their way clear to independence of Los Angeles. City Engineer Dupuy is non-commital on the subject, not caring to give the plans of himself and the Pasadena engineers away until the project takes form. It is known that there are many land speculators who would take advantage of the plan to get options on the property if the exact site of the tank would be made known. The acreage on which it is proposed to locate the tank is excellently adapted to the plan, and there are no near-by residents to complain of any possible odor.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Rev. Joseph H. Smith, began a four days' meeting of "Spiritual Evangelism" this evening at the Methodist Church, El Centro and Fair View avenues.

At the meeting of the Lincoln Park League held last evening the following officers were elected for the next six months: President, William Jochum; vice-president, S. W. Treen; secretary, Mrs. C. H. Adams, and treasurer H. C. Barnes. After election short talks were given by retiring and new officers, and a discussion of topics important to the city were held, such as heavy municipal lighting bill, the need of a Young Men's Christian Association building in this city, also a donation of a fund toward same.

Under the direction of Rev. Father Cotter of the Holy Family Church, preparations are now complete for the annual grand bazaar of the church to be held in Herlihy Hall on Mission street, February 23, 24 and 25, the proceeds of which will go toward the benefit of the church building fund. The bazaar will be of the old fashioned order and many attractive features will be used for entertainment.

ROUGH SEAS AT REDONDO.

Fishing Dory Is Wrecked and Huge Breakers Are Viewed With Interest by the Populace.

REDONDO BEACH, Feb. 14.—A fishing dory belonging to J. Graham was washed against the rocks of the breakwater last night during the ocean storm and dashed to pieces. No other damage resulted from the storm, which blew all night, following the rain that ceased about 10 o'clock. Another dory, owned by H. Anderson, was washed ashore this morning, but was recovered by the owner. The big combers that washed high up on the beach this morning furnished sport for the two seals that inhabit this bay, the seals appearing to enjoy riding on the crest of the combers. The steamship President, of the Pacific Steamship Company, did not make this port today, owing to the storm.

RED SOX COMING.

The dining-room of Hotel Redondo, which has been closed during repairs at the building, will be reopened to the public February 22. The following day, February 23, the Boston Red Sox will arrive at the hotel. Several handsome views of Hotel Redondo grounds taken by C. F. Lewis, assistant manager of the hotel, who is an artist of no little ability, appeared on the sporting page of the Boston Journal recently in connection with the write-up of the spring trip of the Red Sox.

AGED LADY DIES.

Mrs. Pendy F. Watkins, a well-known resident, died this morning at 9:30 o'clock at the home of her son, F. W. Watkins, at No. 216 Beach Row, after a year's illness. Mrs. Watkins was 79 years of age and leaves a son, F. W. Watkins, and several grandchildren. W. W. Niece of this city is a grandson. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Cate Pndertaking Parlors. Interment at Inglewood Cemetery.

GLENDORA.

GLENDORA, Feb. 14.—The total precipitation of the storm beginning Saturday and ending Monday night, indicated by the rain gauge, is 1.43 inches making a total of 15.41 inches for the season.

The packing-houses are maintaining a fair average shipment of fruit by using all of the help available to pick and bring in the fruit between showers. The growers report that their oranges are keeping well and that they have no fear about deterioration from the rains.

Col. Sobieski's lecture on Lincoln at the M. E. Church Sunday morning was heard with rapt attention by a large audience, as was his temperance lecture at the Christian Church Sunday evening. He will deliver a lecture on the "Dramatic Scenes of Army Life," at the Glendora Operahouse tonight.

The contract has been let to R. M. Goeble for a business house to be erected on North Michigan avenue. It will be occupied by Doctor McClintock.

SAN FRANCISCO MAN ROBBED.

Wholesale Butcher Visiting at Long Beach Loses Wallet, Watch and Diamond Pin.

LONG BEACH, Feb. 14.—J. W. Nonnerman, a wholesale San Francisco butcher, who is in the city on a pleasure trip, was held up and robbed tonight within two blocks of the Virginia Hotel. He was deprived of a wallet containing $34, a stickpin with a diamond setting and a valuable watch.

The robbery was done by two bandits who appeared from the shadows of a building with drawn revolvers. After the robbery they backed away with their guns pointed at the victim and told him not to move until they were well out of the region.

One of the robbers wore a white telescoped hat and a dark suit of clothes, and the other wore a derby hat, dark suit and wore no vest. According to Mr. Nonnerman, both men were about 30 years of age and both were smooth-faced. The police are searching the city with a fine tooth comb tonight in an effort to catch the robbers.

GARDENA.

GARDENA, Feb. 14.—The Gardena Agricultural High School will hold its semi-annual exhibit Friday, February 17. These events are of exceptional interest to the ranchers of this section and a big crowd is expected.

WARNED OFF!

BY ANDREW MURRAY.

"Bzoom, bzoom-zum, zum-bzim, bzim bzoom!"

Policeman Leggatt was turning a few unexpected hours of leisure to account with a little private practice in his capacity as bassoon player in the police band.

At last the parlor door opened and Mrs. Leggatt appeared, watching her husband in frozen silence.

"Well," she snapped at last, "you're rather running past yourself tonight, ain't you? What about 6 o'clock?"

"I'm not going on dooty tonight till 9:30 my love," explained the policeman.

"Not going on dooty!" cried Mrs. Leggatt in petrified tones of astonishment.

"No, I thought I told you yes'day morning. I'm on a plain-clothes job, and—"

"And that means you'll be 'ome here to supper?"

"Why, yes, I suppose it does," retorted Policeman Leggatt, with mild indignation. "I suppose if it ain't a pleasure it ain't a hardship exactly for you to bear my company to meals once in awhile."

"Pleasure! Huh! I like that," sniffed Mrs. Leggatt. "Still, that ain't the point. The fact is Lucy's coming here this evening, and, what's more, she's bringing her young man."

"Indeed! Well, and what of it!" fumed the policeman with justifiable heat. "Ain't I good enough for her young man. I'd like to know?"

Mrs. Leggatt cackled hysterically.

"Oh, of course, of course. What is a solicitor's clerk, earning four pun ten a week, that he should object to a father-in-law what is a full-blown policeman? Why, 'e ought to introduce you to all 'is friends, so as they can shake 'ands with you next time you're leanin' up against their area railings, 'aving a rest, eh? Ho, yes—I don't think."

Leggatt looked rather stunned at this. Undoubtedly there was something in what this wife said, and it was his last wish in the world to spoil Lucy's chances of what looked to be a most desirable match. Any revelation as to his social position would be deferred until after the ceremony.

He had not seen his daughter's beau himself, but by all accounts he was quite the gentleman.

A little shriek of consternation from the window brought him to a halt in the passage.

"There! What did I tell you! Here they are, coming down the street, and you've ruined the whole thing."

The door was opened and in walked Lucy, radiant with pride and happiness, followed by a young man, tall, hat in hand and wearing a smile calculated to win the heart of a sphinx.

"Father."

There was such a wealth of disappointment, indignation and dismay in Lucy's voice that Leggatt, who still lingered on the landing above, made a wild dive to obliterate himself from view. However, the damage was done. The polite Mr. Percival Pelham was all attention.

"Indeed! This is an unexpected treat, by Jove!" he said, easily, "I had no idea that I was to have the pleasure—aw—of meeting Mr. Leggatt also this evening. I understood Miss Lucy to say that you would be out, sir?"

"So I did," said Lucy, biting her lip with angry annoyance. "I thought pa had a—er—business engagement tonight?"

"Oh, come," laughed Mr. Pelham. "We can't always have our noses to the grindstone, can we? Glad to make your acquaintance, Mr. Leggatt, and I hope you're well, sir."

He was already halfway up the stairs and reaching up to grip the hand which was sheepishly held out to him through the banisters.

"I'm very well, thank you, and I 'ope you're the same," blurted the policeman, and then, having mumbled something about brushing his hair and being down in a minute, turned and sought refuge in his bed-room.

Ten minutes later Mr. Leggatt blundered awkwardly into the front parlor, and, to make himself thoroughly sociable, shook hands with everybody, including his wife, insisting that it was a "fine night, though inclined to warmishness."

Fortunately supper was announced at that moment, and the company retired to the back parlor, where the feast was spread.

Leggatt took his seat at the head of the table. The discovery that a roast chicken confronted him so unnerved him that he helped himself to two glasses of ale, then wiped his mouth on the tablecloth and stared at the bird.

The carving having been successfully negotiated the meal went on merrily. Miss Lucy, talking nineteen to the dozen to distract her young man's attention from his host's too obvious peculiarities in the matter of eating.

The cheese and celery demolished, Mrs. Leggatt suggested an adjournment to the "drawing-room," a hint which the policeman was acting upon with indecent haste when a deftly-aimed bread crust conveyed that it was intended only for Lucy and her young man.

But by this time he was already in the hall. The knob of the little clothes' cupboard caught his sleeve as he stumbled sending Leggatt's official headgear straight at Mr. Pelham's feet.

Lucy gave a little squeak of disgust. Mrs. Leggatt made a swift snatch to try and capture the shameful thing but too late. Mr. Pelham had already seen it and was staring at it with unmistakable confusion.

"A policeman's helmet!" he gasped.

"Yes—it must belong to father," panted Lucy, on the verge of tears.

"Yes, one of his curiosities," chimed in Mrs. Leggatt, grappling desperately with the situation.

"Do you hear, William?" she demanded furiously, turning on her dazed husband. "I say it's one of your silly old curiosities. Why don't you tell Mr. Pelham how you came by it?"

"Oh, quite so. No, of course. How I came by it, eh?" giggled Mr. Leggatt vaguely. "Why, it was like this, you see. The misses and I was coming out of the Coach and 'Orses—"

Another of those disconcerting little shrieks of Lucy's brought him up with a round turn. He glared helplessly at his wife.

"Well, go on," she snapped. "We'd been in there to the telephone. Now say what 'appened next."

"Why, a policeman came up."

"An' shoved me," prompted Mrs. Leggatt. "And you knocked 'im down."

"Yes, and I knocked 'im down," repeated the luckless constable, with a sickly grin.

"An' thrashed 'im, and then took 'is helmet 'ome with you as a trophy. That's it, ain't it?" demanded his wife.

"Well, what is there to be ashamed of in it? You don't think Mr. Pelham would go and spilt on you, do you?"

The slamming of the front parlor door in Policeman Leggatt's face cut short the remainder of the explanation so far as he was concerned. Rather relieved than otherwise, he took down his cap, picked his stick out of the hand-decorated drainpipe and slipped quietly out of the front door.

A hundred yards walk and he was at the police station. It wanted a few minutes yet to "muster," so he stepped into the office to have a word with the station sergeant as to the particular duty he was detailed for that night.

"There's a gang working the Primrose Hill side that we've got to mark," said this officer, slapping down a sheaf of documents for his inspection. They proved to be the official descriptions of certain "old hands" who were suspected of being responsible for this latest crop of burglaries.

"That's three of them you'll have to keep your eye open for," said the sergeant, pointing to the photographs attached. "And there's a fourth, we think, a young, smartish-looking chap who makes up to the servants beforehand."

Leggatt stared.

"And description?" he asked bluntly.

"Not much. As usual, the gals won't let on they've been had. But he's dark; medium light and build, and has been seen wearing a tall hat."

. . . . . .

The week passed, and the Thursday afternoon found Leggatt again indulging in the mild bassoon practice in the front parlor, the clock of which had been purposely set forward half an hour by his vigilant better half.

Suddenly, after many half-hearted attempts, he laid his instrument aside and listened. Mrs. Leggatt was filling scuttles in the coalhole and now was his chance.

Hastily smuggling three portraits out of his breast pocket, he tiptoed to the what-not beside the sofa. A fretwork photograph frame confronted him, with three panels occupied by Mrs. Leggatt's paternal relative, and two swish-looking uncles.

Evicting these, the policeman slipped his own mysterious photographs into their places, and returned the frame to its niche on the shelf. A few minutes later, arrayed in the panoply of the law, he departed noisily for the police station.

He was back from duty soon after midnight. A light still burned in the front parlor, he noticed, and as he walked up the gravel path the door was flung open.

"Come inside sharp; I want to talk to you," said Mrs. Leggatt quietly, an ominous glitter in her eyes. "Now then," she went on, steering him into the front parlor and waving the threefold photograph frame in front of his eyes. "Tell me who are these miserable scarecrows, and how dare you set up their pictures in my front parlor without telling me? Eh?"

Santa Ana.

FILES SUIT FOR TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS.

Husband, Employed in the Sugar Factory, Was Caught While Placing a Belt on a Revolving Pulley and Instantly Killed—Reservoir Bonds Authorized by Big Vote.

SANTA ANA, Feb. 14.—Martha Miller, widow of James M. Miller and administratrix of his estate, today brought suit for $25,000 damages against the Southern California Sugar Company. In her complaint, Mrs. Miller alleges that the company was responsible for the death of her husband, who was killed in the sugar factory here on August 11, 1910. Miller was placing a belt on a revolving pulley when his clothing was caught by a set screw in a collar of the shafting, and he was whirled around the shafting and thrown. He died four hours later. Those interested in the estate are the widow and her daughter, aged 3 years.

BOYS MAKE MESS.

High School boys climbed a water pipe and gained entrance to the assembly hall of the High School last night. They took all the books and papers from the desks and threw them in a heap on the rostrum. They filled the keyholes with plaster of Paris. Recess was declared by the school authorities this morning while the mess was straightened out.

STAND PATTER ARRESTED.

Justice Cox had a good-natured Russian in his court today on a charge of vagrancy. The Russian said he had not worked for four months. When asked for his name he said it was "Mr. Standpatter." The man said he decided not to use his own name any longer, and seeing the name, Standpatter, in a newspaper took a fancy to it and adopted it as his own.

The rainfall in this storm amounted to .42 of an inch up to 6 o'clock this morning. This included the twenty-four hours previous.

Anaheim.

ANNUAL MEETING AND BANQUET.

ENJOYABLE EVENT GIVEN BY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

President's Address Reciting the Accomplishments of the Past Year Aroused Enthusiasm and Other Speakers Made Interesting Talks on Civic Problems.

ANAHEIM, Feb. 14.—The annual meeting and banquet, held last evening at Odd Fellow Hall, by the Chamber of Commerce, was a decided success. The only business of the evening was the election of a new board of directors for the ensuing year and this was speedily settled by the unanimous election of B. V. Beebe, C. F. Grim, N. B. Tedford, C. Z. Vanderhorck, and H. G. Amee, all of whom have pledged themselves to do their best for Anaheim during the coming year.

After disposing of this business the members, their ladies and guests to the number of 150 were seated in the banquet room where a banquet was served by L. and J. Farmer, of Farmers' Restaurant.

The president's address, reciting the accomplishments of the chamber during the past year, was read, and Mrs. F. C. Spencer, talked on "The Woman Militant," her desire to improve the home, and her ambitions and objects. Prof. J. H. Francis, topic was "The Industrial High Schools, are they making good?" The question was answered in the affirmative and his contentions fully proven by the speaker. Rev. Ziegler of the First Methodist Church of Anaheim spoke on "Our Churches," and Prof. Delbert Brunton of Fullerton High School of "Our Neighbors," and the speaker showed where and how our neighbors could and would help us. J. Frederick Ahlborn's subject was, "Our Merchants," and Mr. Hadsell of the Anaheim Sugar Company, talked on "Our New Industry" This speaker told his audience how this new industry alone would use the products of 6000 acres of land, or 60,000 tons of sugar beets annually, which will bring the growers $350,000 each year, will make 2,500,000 pounds of sugar, will require a pay roll of $75,000 annually for labor, making a total of $425,000 per year, which will be spent by the new industry in this section. Mr. Charles Eygabroad, spoke on "The Watchword, 1911." This speaker asserted that he was an optimist, and predicted a population of 10,000 for Anaheim within the next five years.

Redlands.

PROGRAMME OF ACTIVITY.

WANT TO RECRUIT MEMBERSHIP TO HALF THOUSAND.

Committee Is Appointed to Undertake the Problem of Securing Municipal Water and Another Committee Is Chosen to Help Entertain the Doctors in June.

REDLANDS, Feb. 14.—The Redlands Board of Trade, of which Paul W. Moore is the president, is starting out on a year of unprecedented activity. It is expected that the membership will number 550 before the close of the year. Already there have been 230 signrs for the year and the active campaign has not yet been begun by the Membership Committee, of which T. J. Medland is the president. The board has re-employed Miss Rose Gifford to represent Redlands at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, where she gives several illustrated lectures each day and gives out information and literature pertaining to Redlands.

President Moore has appointed H. H. Garstin, B. W. Cave and Dr. W. P. Burke as a committee from the board to act with a committee from the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, and a committee from the Board of Trustees on the matter of the advisability of securing municipal water for the city. A committee consisting of H. W. Allen, A. G. Hubbard and J. H. Logie represented the board at a meeting held in San Bernardino recently to consider the erection of a new County Hospital and a Hall of Records. The county already has an option on a 160-acre tract near the county seat, and it is likely that the county will be bonded and that the proposed buildings will be erected.

A committee from the local board has been appointed to work with the local Medical Society in regard to the entertainment of the American Medical Society, which will come to Southern California in June. It is expected that there will be 7000 visitors here at that time and they will be suitably entertained. A notable accomplishment of the board recently completed is the planting of trees on the road between here and Highland and along the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe rights of way, as the tracks enter the city, thus beautifying the entrances to the city, which are so often unsightly. The board voted to enter a handsome display at the National Orange Show, to be held in San Bernardino in March.

GRIGSBY HOME BURNED.

The home of W. E. Grigsby on Chestnut avenue was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock. The fire started in the attic, the family downstairs heard the crackling and the alarm was given, however, the entire upstairs was burned and the downstairs was ruined by water and smoke. Considerable furniture was carried to neighboring houses, but much of it was injured by water and intense heat. The origin of the fire is a mystery. The loss is about $4000, with about $3500 insurance. A light rain was falling at the time of the fire and that, with the assistance of the fire department, kept the flames from spreading to neighboring houses.

REDLANDS NOTES.

The local lodge of Elks will present their annual show at the Wyatt Opera House on Thursday and Friday evening, February 23 and 24. The play this season is "All the Comforts of Home," and it is being staged and managed by Edward Foley, formerly with Savage's "Prince of Pilsen" company. A number of prominent people are cast in the play.

The funeral of Frances Snow Hall, wife of Rev. J. Q. Hall, was held yesterday afternoon from the Dow and Fitzsimmons parlor, Rev. N. D. Hynson officiating. There were many beautiful floral offerings. The pall bearers were official members of the Presbyterian Church, of which Rev. Hall is assistant pastor.

The Womah's Contemporary Club met yesterday afternoon at which time the speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. Alice Osden Hunnewell, a member of the faculty of the Los Angeles Normal School, who took as her subject, "Story Telling to Children." She illustrated her talk with story telling of Mother Goose rhymnes, Shakespearian stories and Greek myths. The meeting was one of the most interesting held by the club this season.

RAVENOUS LION CHASES A MAN.

TAKES REFUGE IN CABIN AND BRUTE STANDS GUARD.

Whenever the Imprisoned Man Would Move the Lion Would Growl and Tamper With the Door. Victim Finally Rescued by a Forest Ranger—Protest Is Filed.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO (Cal.) Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mike Grogan, caretaker at the Palmer Ranch, between Squirrel Inn and Little Bear Valley, had an exciting experience last night with a ravenous lion which chased Grogan across the snow, he taking refuge in the barn and slamming shut the door barely in time to prevent the creature from landing on him. For hours the mountaineer remained a fast prisoner. Whenever he would move on the inside of the barn the lion standing guard without would growl and paw violently at the door. Late in the day a ranger arrived, the lion taking flight. Grogan and the ranger state the lion is one known as the largest on the range, cattlemen and others having tried for months to destroy it.

FILE A PROTEST.

Today the Tri-Counties Freight Bureau, composed of San Bernardino, Riverside, Orange and Imperial towns, this morning formally filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington a protest against the present interstate freight rates involving the towns connected with the bureau. The protest was wired to Washington, and following it is a more lengthy and detailed protest.

The protest reads that the towns involved producing 75 per cent. of the tonnage and revenue accruing to the railroads serving Southern California urge that the commission do not grant authority to the carriers to disregard the provisions of Section Four, permitting carriers to continue unreasonable and unjust practice of basing the commodity rates on the terminal rate plus the local when the local service in no instance is and need not be performed.

The petition also asks for a hearing of their complaint. F. A. Jones, a freight rate expert from Phoenix, Ariz., who successfully engineered the fight there, is in charge of the protest, and will represent the freight bureau before the commission at Washington, whenever the hearing is called for.

TO STOP EVIL.

The Board of Supervisors has received a complaint from a resident of of Needles, complaining that gambling joints are running full blast and slot machines being conducted without effort at concealment. The writer, a woman, complains that her boy is going to ruin as a result of the failure of the authorities to enforce the law. The complaint was referred to the District Attorney's office with instructions to act at once.

The Supervisors today appointed all the township officers who were elected at the November elections. They had failed in many instances to qualify in time after being elected. The board also held that all but two of these officers were hold-overs, and as such would be entitled to their salaries from January 1.

HYDRAULIC PLAN.

A Chicago syndicate, represented by Mining Engineer H. C. Hoover, has taken over the large portion of Red Rock Canyon, on the desert, and will install a big dredger to get out the placer gold. Hoover's experting has disclosed that the gold bearing stratum is between forty-five and fifty feet through, and extends as far up the canyon as investigations have been made. It is the purpose of the syndicate to develop water, flood the canyon, using the dredger for scooping out the basin, and when the dredger floats to use it in getting out the gold sands. The ground is said to be very rich.

BORAX ACTIVITY.

The new plaster mill at Kane Springs on the desert is now in operation. The raw material is hauled by traction engine between the mines and the mill, a distance of two and a half miles. At each trip thirty-five tons are hauled, two trips being made daily. The gypsite is burned in great pots, two hours being required for reducing the gypsite to a marketable commodity.

At Borax Lake, two big well-drilling crews are at work, besides a chemical crew. The California Trona Company has about fifty-five men on the lake, and the anticipation is that the borax will be shipped within a few weeks, this opening up the revenues of the company, which anticipates freedom from its financial difficulties shortly as a result of the present activity.

INDIGESTION IS ENDED FOREVER.

OUT-OF-ORDER STOMACHS FEEL FINE FIVE MINUTES AFTER TAKING A LITTLE DIAPEPSIN.

Heartburn, Stomach Gas, Dyspepsia and Headache vanish before you realize it—Thousands of Readers of The Times will find a permanent cure for Stomach trouble at a very nominal cost.

Nothing will remain undigested or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapepsin occasionally. This powerful digestive and antacid, though as harmless and pleasant as candy, will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you can eat.

Eat what your stomach craves, without the slightest fear of Indigestion or that you will be bothered with sour risings, Belching, Gas on Stomach, Heartburn, Headaches from stomach, Nausea, Bad Breath, Water Brash or a feeling like you had swallowed a lump of lead, or other disagreeable miseries. Should you be suffering now from any stomach disorder you can get relief within five minutes.

If you will get from your pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin you could always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and your meals would taste good, because you would know there would be no Indigestion or Sleepless nights or Headache or Stomach misery all the next day; and, besides, you would not need laxatives or liver pills to keep your stomach and bowels clean and fresh.

Pape's Diapepsin can be obtained from your druggist, and contains more than sufficient to thoroughly cure the worst case of Indigestion or Dyspepsia. There is nothing better for Gas on the Stomach or sour odors from the stomach or to cure a Stomach Headache.

SPRECKELS WINS OVER SOCIALISTS

Voters Express Their Disgust at Fels Methods.

Chamber of Commerce Took Part in the Fight.

Results Enthuse Citizens Who Celebrate With Zeal.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] By a three to one vote San Diego citizens today expressed their desire to give corporations the glad hand. The vote expresses a preference for extending to John D. Spreckels's corporation a franchise to continue the operation of car lines over the city streets for a period not exceeding fifty years.

The vote also shows the disgust of a majority of the citizens at outside interference. It rebukes the arguments of Joseph Fels, the Philadelphia soap magnate, and E. P. Troy, an alleged "franchise expert," brought here to enlighten voters at the expense of the opposition to the Spreckels interests.

The victory for good government and the Chamber of Commerce, which backed the long-term franchise, is complete. Partial returns from twelve precincts out of twenty-nine give 954 for and 296 against the franchise. Interest in the outcome of the contest was country-wide. Locally every part of the country inquired by telephone as to the result. Bands are playing and citizens are celebrating over the result.

The voting was for a series of proposed amendments to the city charter, numbered from one to thirteen. Socialistic opposition to the so-called long-term franchise supported an amendment limiting the length of any public utilities franchise to thirty-five years and giving to the municipality the right to acquire control of public utilities at any time the citizens vote to do so.

The Chamber of Commerce endorsed the franchise asked for by the Spreckels company. A committee from that body also assisted in conducting the campaign. Supporters of the short-time franchise were thoroughly organized. With the aid of the Scripps paper and Scripps money, speakers were brought here from other cities. E. P. Troy was brought here from San Francisco to conduct a socialistic campaign. Joseph Fels was induced to come at the last minute. He spent two days conducting street meetings and using his tongue wherever he could secure an audience. The better element of citizens tonight consider today's result a stinging rebuke to Fels and his followers. Scripps also is included in the voted down and out class.

The Chamber of Commerce tonight celebrated the victory for progress with a great parade. Fully 500 men, many well known in high finance and business circles, joined the throng, marching behind a band through the business streets. Transparencies telling how San Diego has progressed by the steps taken today were carried. The newspapers owned by Spreckels were serenaded. Manager William Clayton of the Spreckels companies also was given a call.

The overwhelming victory for the Spreckels franchise enthused the leading citizens to such an extent that they joined in street speaking and a general jollification. Manager Clayton promised them that San Diego, by following the precedent of today, will never retrograde, that on the other hand the city would continue to hold the good graces of John D. Spreckels.

ACROSS THE PACIFIC.

Far Eastern purchases of American goods in the eleven months ended November 30, 1910, reached a value of $110,000,000, or $7,000,000 more than in the corresponding period of 1909.

Other principal buyers were China, French China, German China, Japanese China, French East Indies, Corea, Persia and Siam. American purchases of needed Far Eastern goods in the eleven months ended November 30, 1910, amounted to $221,000,000, an increase of $18,000,000 over the corresponding period of 1909:

If the ocean-mail subsidy bill, passed by the Senate, also passes the House, it will give us a fleet of fast sailing steamships, running regularly to the Far East and this trade will increase by leaps and bounds, providing the freight rates are fixed to assist, not to deter, American commerce with that region.

Manchuria's foreign trade in 1909 had a value of $86,434,129, of which the imports from foreign countries amounted to $30,690,811, native imports $8,544,745, and the exports $47,198,583. The total trade was $26,600,000 in excess of that of 1908, of which increase $8,300,000 was in foreign imports. In was in exports (largely beans) that Manchuria made its great gain in 1909, namely, $19,000,000. There was an increase over 1908 of 29 per cent. in the imports of American cotton piece goods, against a 45 per cent. gain in British makes. Imports in 1909 of foreign flour showed an enormous decrease from 1908, because of the greater use of Chinese flour. American flour is not now seen in the native markets around Mukden, says Consul-General Fisher, of that now busy city. The chief imports of Manchuria are bags (3,965,174, number,) books, boots and shoes, carriages, cotton goods, electrical apparatus, furniture, glassware, handkerchiefs, hosiery, iron and steel and manufactures of machinery, stoves, lamps and lampware, lemons, mirrors, munitions of war, musical instruments, mineral and other oils (9,401,352 gallons,) paper, perfumery, photographic goods, stationery, sugar, timber (4,491,569 square feet,) towels, velvets, mixed woolen and cotton goods, and woolen goods. The production of Soya beans in 1909 was 2,010,000 short tons, large quantities of which were sent to Europe. Other chief crops were: koulang, 2,400,000 tons; millet, 1,850,000 tons, and wheat, 1,090,000 tons. Manchuria's chief exports are beans, bean cake, animals, breadstuffs, coal, eggs, firewood, hemp, hides and skins, deer horns, medicines, oils, provisions, silk, samshu, seeds, tar and timber.

While the mineral deposits of Manchuria are reported to be immensely valuable, with the exception of coal and a few auriferous placer beds, practically no development work has been done. Coal is found in many parts of the country, as are also gold, copper, iron and asbetos. The Fushun Colliery (owned by Japanese) produced 700,000 tons in 1909. By 1912 its annual production will be nearly 2,000,000 tons. American houses established in the chief cities would add greatly to American trade. Japanese trade is making much headway there.

Japan sold $1,687,379 worth of goods in Eastern Siberia in 1908, consisting chiefly of fruits, textiles, clothing, salt, paper, vegetables, coal and coke, cordage, stationery, metals and metal goods, beer, boats, drugs and chemicals, glassware, lamps, machinery, mineral water, porcelain, rice, soy and tea. There was a large decrease from former years. Japan is not doing well in Siberia.

Among China's new industries are weaving mills, and they are doing well. Cotton mills are increasing their machinery. About 1900 modern looms are now in use. The consumption of piece goods from native factories is increasing.

After all the talk all that Australia paid in 1910 fiscal year in bounties for the encouragements of home industries was $315,047, and all but $28,819 of that went to the iron industry.

A buyers and sellers directory of Australia and New Zealand is on file for public use in the Bureau of Manufactures, Washington, D. C.

The province Tomsk, Siberia, is developing rapidly. It has 3574 flour mills, 1041 oil bills, 870 creameries, 430 brick works, 364 tanneries, 17 breweries, two coal mines, 5 distilleries and other factories, making up 8460 in all, employing 24,666 hands, and with a total yearly product worth $11,553,657.

A well-known resident of Kobe, Japan, has made the trip from London to Tsuruga, Japan, over the Siberian route, in a trifle less than thirteen and one-half days. That's "going some."

Chinese business men in the provinces of Shensi and Honan have subscribed about $3,150,000 for opening mining properties in Shantung province.

Industrial enterprises in Cochin, China, have an investment of about $19,300,000, of which France has furnished about $8,299,000, and foreigners, Chinese chiefly, the balance.

The discovery of a bed of lignite at Rantaupanjang, Selangor, is likely to be of considerable moment in the East. The bed is about twenty-four feet thick and covers twenty acres.

Cocoa-nut oil is so high in price in Europe and the United States, that the copra (dried cocoanut meat) in the Philippines, Ceylon, Straits Settlements, and other centers remain firm, which will have a market economic influence in the Far East.

Sydney, New South Wales, is securing a large factory for the manufacture of cables, electric appliances, and motor tires. It will be in operation by September next, and employ 400 hands.

Australian imports amounted to $237,532,883 in the first ten months of 1910, an increase of $36,586,518 over the same months of 1909. Exports totaled $267,315,912, a gain of $37,260,007.

Chinese silk embroidery is now being made on ordinary sewing-machines. Schools for young women embroiderers are being established.

Industrial and fishing subsidies are being granted by the government of Japanese Formosa.

Seasonable Garments.

There are times when the pun, much-abused and poverty-striken and aged as it generally is, seems to justify its appearance. One day, when Mr. Potter was trying to read a romantic story to his matter-of-fact wife, he had recourse to a pun to save his temper.

"'And so the evening wore on,'" read Mr. Potter, "'and—'"

"What did it wear?" inquired his wife in her dryest tone.

"My dear," said Mr. Potter after a scarcely perceptible hesitation, "if you must know, it was the close of an autumn day."—[Youth's Companion.

HE WAS DEAF; HEARING RESTORED

Retired Railroad Conductor Has Something to Say to People Who Cannot Hear Well.

Ringing noises in the ears is good proof that catarrh is going to affect your hearing. Here is the proof that HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-me) will do more than advertised.

"During the Fall of 1909 I found it necessary to consult two local specialists for a catarrhal affection that caused me considerable annoyance and which finally developed into a serious trouble in my ears resulting in deafness with almost continual buzzing in ears. Despairing of receiving benefit or relief from the physicians I determined to try the HYOMEI which I had seen advertised. I used this very thoroughly for several weeks with most gratifying results, all inflammation, soreness and buzzing being overcome with an entire restoration of my hearing and general benefit to nasal and throat troubles. I have no hesitancy in recommending this remedy to all who are similarly afflicted with catarrhal troubles."—F. C. Vanamman, Retired Conductor, Binghamton, N. Y., March 22, 1910.

HYOMEI is sold by druggists everywhere for catarrh, coughs, colds, sore throat, croup and asthma. Just breathe it. Complete outfit $1.00. Extra bottles 50 cents.

"VACANT" ROOM HAS AN INMATE.

SEARCH FOR CAR BANDIT LEADS TO LASHER'S ARREST.

Tip That Sam Barron Was at Rooming-House in This City Results in Landlady Declaring Room 8 Empty, But Officers Find a Prisoner Who Had Made Escape.

The net which is spread to capture Sam Barron, one of the Tokio car bandits, caught in its meshes last evening E. H. Lasher, who is wanted in Phoenix on the charge of forgery. Lasher escaped from an officer at San Fernando last week.

A man who refused to disclose his identity telephoned the Sheriff's office late yesterday, stating that Sam Barron would be found in room 8 at No. 1162 East Seventh street.

Deputy Sheriffs Wright and Cochran answered the call in a hurry, and began an inquisition of the landlady. She asserted that she always compelled her guests to register. The book showed that room 8 was vacant.

She was compelled to lead the officers to this apartment. They entered with drawn weapons, realizing that Barron would probably resist if he were inside. They saw at a glance that the roomer was not the man they had gone for, but questioned him. Intuitively they knew that he had been up to some mischief and took him to the County Jail to permit a full investigation.

He was quickly identified as Lasher by those who had taken the fugitive's description, and he will be sent on his way to Phoenix as soon as an officer comes for him.

Lasher was arrested in Portland several weeks ago at the request of the Sheriff at Phoenix. An officer went for him with extradition papers. The prisoner retained attorneys and prepared for a fight. A writ of habeas corpus was procured.

Portland officials hurried the prisoner to Summit, Or., secretly, while the Arizona officer remained in the Oregon metropolis to avert suspicion. He then joined his charge, and slipped out of the State before the writ could be served on him.

Lasher proved to be as clever at scheming as were the authorities. He was an exemplary prisoner. He was so good that he was permitted to have extraordinary liberties.

As the train pulled out of San Fernando, he evaded his guard and leaped from the car. When the deputy sheriff awoke to the fact that he had been outwitted, the train was traveling at such a rate that he was compelled to travel to the next stop.

He spread an alarm, and the officers throughout the county began to search for Lasher. There was no clew to his whereabouts until he was arrested last evening.

The landlady who tried to conceal Lasher will probably lose her license, in the interest of public safety.

Cupid's Realm.

BACHELORS IN DANGER OF MEMBERSHIP LOSS.

They're Outgeneraled, Outflanked and Overwhelmed by All the Grace and Beauty at the Club's Ball—Bower of Foliage, Lights and Blossoms Conceals the Walls of Alexandria Annex Hall, Opened for the Function.

THE seventy-five gay young members of the Bachelors' Club, who for 364 days of the year keep their shields up to ward off the darts of the young cherub, unbuckled their armor and literally took Cupid in their arms.

It was the Bachelors' Ball, held in the great ballroom of the new Alexandria Annex.

preme youth and gowned in wondrous creations of gold and white, routed the attempts of the youthful bachelors to appear calmly insouciant and blase, and sent them scurrying for ices and pleading for one more number on the dance card.

Calmly superior young bachelors, proudly exhibiting what they fondly supposed to be an invulnerable world-polished exterior, were metamorphosed into distrait eager youths who lived or died by a smile from milady's lips or a glance from her eyes.

THE ROUT COMPLETE.

The rout of the bachelors was so complete, and the subjugation so general, that the board of governors of the club—those chrome-steel young men who claim to have Dan Cupid lashed to the mast and yelling for help—met in an anteroom and, over hastily-smoked cigarettes, considered the advisability of stopping the dance and taking their members to places of safety or disbanding the Bachelors' Club.

They had ample grounds for their fears. Much of the beauty and culture of Southern California was present. There were gowns that were an inspiration for an artist, and they were worn by maidens such as only the Southland in all of its glorious richness of color could boast of.

There were stately daughters of Juno, calm-eyed and tall, whom the bachelors approached with a feeling of awe and unworthiness; there were sweetly-decorous maidens, all gold and white and old ivory, about whom the bachelors gathered like bees around honey.

There were dainty young things who danced like daughters of Terpsichore, followed by a train of eager-eyed young bachelors who walked giddily and forgot to stop dancing when the orchestra ceased playing.

WHAT PATRONESSES SEE.

Over on one side were seated the patronesses, those gentlewomen whose social position is as firm as the rock of Gibraltar, and they, if anything, enjoyed the spectacle more than the actual participants. They saw in the tall young man who was displaying in his eager face his devotion to a youthful bundle of fluffy-ruffles a future bridegroom; they saw in the glance with which she followed his retreating figure when another young man claimed a dance, a willingness to take up life's prosaic burden with this young man at her side. Oh, yes, they enjoyed the scene more than the actual participants, for the old adage is true: that the spectator sees more of the game than the player.

SCENE OF WONDROUS BEAUTY.

It was a scene of wondrous beauty into which the guests were ushered last night. The new ballroom, which had not been completed, resembled a summer garden. An entirely new room had been manufactured and placed within the ballroom. The four sides and ceiling were screened with trellissed work, all covered with climbing vines and flowers. Roses, carnations and lilies were everywhere. Thousands of electric lights gleamed ballroom with its annual dance and reception.

The hallway leading from the mezzanine floor to the ballroom resembled a beautiful walk in a garden of roses. The walls of the building were entirely concealed with vines, ferns and roses. The very air was heavy with the fragrance of the flowers.

LONG GUEST LINE.

It was 9 o'clock before the first guests began to drive up in their carriages and automobiles to the Fifth-street entrance of the Alexandria. From that time up to 10:30 o'clock the long line of guests was almost continuous.

It was a rare beauty show and a rare display of fashion. There was the beauty of the Southland and its chivalry. There were gowns, gorgeous and worth a king's ransom, and then there was the simple frock of the debutante, who blushed as she walked down the length of the mezzanine floor before the eyes of the hotel guests.

While the management had arranged a counter-attraction in the way of a concert in the banquet hall to draw the attention of its guests from the entrance of the bachelors' contingent, it had been given over to the cloak and assembly rooms of the bachelors Three parlor suites, the regular hotel parlor and waiting rooms were utilized, and they were none too many.

Considerable interest had been stirred up among the guests as to the decorations of the ballroom. They had heard that the management had expended thousands of dollars in completing the room on time and in beautifying it. No one was permitted to see it until almost all had arrived.

IN A GARDEN OF ROSES.

At 10 o'clock the doors leading into the garden of roses which formed the entrance to the hall were thrown open and the guests gazed spellbound at the spectacle. There was a blaze of lights half hidden in great masses of natural foliage and supported on trellised work which completely concealed the ceiling and the four walls. The floor was a sheen of smoothness, and at intervals about the large room full length French plate mirrors reflected the joyous scene.

Scene of the Bachelors' Capitulation.

Fairyland setting of the ball last night in the Alexandria Annex, and a few of the beauties who graced the affair. The ballroom was photographed for The Times by Prince.

The orchestra, which was completely hidden on the balcony, was heard to perfection. The accoustics of the new ballroom are perfect. Down one side, and separated from the ballroom, is a promenade, in which the couples can walk. A great refreshment booth was stationed at one end of this lane.

Another?

HE WAS CAPLAN IN THE NORTH.

But Is Morris, Now Jailed, Actual Dynamiter?

Browne, in Oklahoma, Will Determine Today.

Suspect Arrested in Idaho Is Not Schmidt.

Detective Browne of the District Attorney's office reached Idabel, Okla., yesterday evening and today will proceed to examine William Morris, alias William Cap, to positively establish whether he is David Caplan, one of the dynamiters of the Times Building.

The first photograph of the suspect was received yesterday by Dist.-Atty. Fredericks and gave rise to a fear that the prisoner is not the man for whom a heavy reward is standing. There is no one in the city who knows Caplan, so far as the officers have ascertained, but the picture does not give the same impression as the description.

Browne will be able today to determine without a doubt whether Morris is Caplan. Aside from a minute description, he knows of certain markings on the body of Caplan which will absolutely distinguish him when he is found.

ONE LINK MISSING.

That Morris resided a short time ago in San Francisco, which was the haven of the dynamiters, was known as Caplan, and introduced another man to Schmidt and Brice, the other fugitives, there is no question. He has been identified by the man he made known to his comrades and he admits the allegations. However, he denies positively that he had anything to do with the tragedy.

The only link which is missing is whether another Caplan later came on the scene and assisted in the culmination of the crime.

The man who has made the identification for Capt. Fredericks says that he heard the man now in jail in Idaho, and that his patient will be able to leave the hospital within a few days.

M'LEAN SPURNS HIS OFFER.

Wronged Husband Testifies Wife's Admirer Wanted to Give Him Real Estate to Drop Prosecution.

The preliminary examination yesterday of W. L. Brent, the broker and deputy sheriff who shot and killed Rudolph Schreiner on West Jefferson street, on the night of January 26, was continued until today.

James McLean, whose wife Brent is said to have wronged, was the only witness called yesterday, and when court closed last night had not concluded his story. McLean stated that Brent had offered to give him a large piece of real estate which he owned, if he, McLean, would let the matter drop after learning the relations which had existed between Mrs. McLean and Brent. McLean said he spurned the offer and told Brent he would "punch" his face, the first time he got a chance.

WHY DID THE MAN SHOOT?

Wounded Conductor Says He Never Saw Him Before, and the Hold-up Theory Doesn't Appear Sound.

The fact that there was no demand for money made upon George G. Johnson, the conductor on the West Seventh-street line who was shot in a pistol duel with a masked man Monday night, has injected an element of mystery into the case. The police scout the hold-up theory.

According to Johnson, who was well enough to talk yesterday, the man angrily mumbled something and without asking him to throw up his hands or give over his money, began shooting. He declares he does not know what the man's motive was.

Motorman L. M. Erickson, who has known Johnson a long time, says the conductor had a habit of "joshing" woman passengers.

"So far as I was able to see, he never did anything out of the way," said Erickson. "I have never known Johnson to make any remarks to any women that anyone could take offense at. I don't think he ever went with any women, and he has always been a clean, upright fellow."

"I have joked with women getting on and off my car, but that was all," he said. "There was never anything in my remarks that anybody could have taken offense at. I didn't know that I had an enemy in the city. As far as I know, I never saw the man who did the shooting before. He was fairly well dressed, but his face was so concealed with the handkerchief-mask that I could not give a description of his features."

Johnson came from Santa Barbara about six months ago. He has a mother and a sister living there. An aunt, Mrs. A. Gould, lives at No. 1307 South Grand avenue. Dr. G. L. Hutchinson says his wounds are not dangerous, and that his patient will be able to leave the hospital within a few days.

PIN GOLD BADGE ON CHIEF.

Head of Police Department Flabbergasted When Presented With Handsome Token From Friends.

Chief Sebastian was presented with a handsome badge by members of the Police Department and friends yesterday afternoon. The badge, solid gold, is the regulation size, has the seal of the city in the center and one large diamond on each side.

The presentation was a surprise to the Chief. The movement to present it was started by Justice of the Peace Sidney Reeve and was later continued by different members of the department.

Mayor Alexander made a brief presentation speech and then pinned the badge on the Chief's coat. The Chief made a brief reply, thanging the men and declaring that he would do his best to see that the honor had not been misplaced.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Judge Hutton yesterday decided the action brought by Henry G. Dent against the California Fruit Growers' Association in favor of Dent by ordering the cancellation of 941,000 shares of the capital stock of the corporation, giving Dent and his friends control of the company.

Judge McCormick yesterday extended a five-year term of probation to Ira Joseph, who has pleaded guilty to looting the box office of the Belasco Theater.

The testimony in the Frank M. Bell murder case closed last night, and the argument will begin this morning.

At the City Hall.

COUNCILMEN IN SHARP CLASH.

GREGORY TAKES EXCEPTION TO O'BRIEN'S REMARKS.

Taxicab Troubles Revived by Communication and Personalities Indulged in—Insinuation That Gregory Was Interested in Aiding Taximeter People.

The trouble between Councilmen Gregory and O'Brien over the taxicab ordinance, which was defeated a few weeks ago, broke out afresh again yesterday when a communication was read to the City Council from the Taximeter Company.

"This seems to be a matter of correspondence between Mr. Gregory and the taximeter company," interposed O'Brien.

Gregory was on his feet in a flash. "I take exception to any such remarks," he said. "I don't know anything about this matter. The letter shows for itself what it is."

"Oh, well," continued O'Brien, "it's about as I said—"

"I want to notify Mr. O'Brien to be careful what he says," Gregory said in a somewhat threatening tone.

"I was just saying that this was a matter between Mr. Gregory and the taximeter people," O'Brien went on irritatingly.

Gregory was just about to come back with a question as to who represented the Los Angeles taxicab companies in the Council when President Lusk ended the altercation.

The communication from the taximeter company reviewed a number of things said in the Council chamber during the discussion of the taxicab ordinance, and stated that its purpose was to correct a number of false impressions. It was addressed to the Council and Gregory says he knew nothing of its being sent until it appeared on the City Clerk's desk and was taken up by O'Brien as a chance for another dig.

LIBRARIES ACCEPTED.

COUNCIL VERY WILLING.

The City Council yesterday made short work of accepting Carnegie's gift of $210,000 for six branch libraries. Councilman Stewart wanted the matter to go to the Finance Committee to consider there the method of arranging for the $21,000 annual expenditure for maintenance. The other members, however, did not want to seem to be looking a gift horse in the mouth, and voted without hesitation to accept. A message of thanks was sent to Mr. Carnegie.

Offers of free sites have already begun to come in. Vermont Square Park was offered by the Vermont Square Improvement Association yesterday. Librarian Wright says the only difficulty about sites will be to select among those offered. The matter of making a difference in the amounts to be spent on the individual libraries will be taken up with Mr. Carnegie and the suggestion will be made that the libraries may cost not less than $25,000 nor more than $60,000. This will enable the branches to serve the parts of town in which they are located more effectively.

MORE GARBAGE CHARGES.

ALEXANDER HOLDS CONTRACT.

The Board of Public Works decided yesterday that Charles Alexander had fulfilled the terms of his contract for garbage collection and need not at the present time forfeit it. Inspector Humphreys had made specific charges that the garbage in the flowntown districts had not been collected. During the four days allowed him to clean it up, Alexander succeeded in satisfying the board that he had made good.

Now, however, Humphreys says, the garbage in the outlying residence districts is being neglected. He promises to file new charges this week showing that the ordinance is not being complied with there.

NEW ROUTE.

FOR CROSS-TOWN LINE.

The City Council yesterday informally expressed its intention of offering a cross-town franchise for sale. Councilman O'Brien went so far as to move that final action be taken, but because of an ordinance provision it was allowed to go over for one week.

The cross-town route favored by the Council and agreed to by the street-car company begins at Fourth street and Vermont avenue, extends south to Jefferson street, east to Central avenue, south to Thirty-eighth street and east to the city limits.

It is anticipated that some objections may be raised by those who have been working for several years on the project of a Vermont-avenue boulevard from the mountains to the sea. The cross-town line, if built according to the present plans, would cut in on this street for some distance.

The Board of Public Utilities referred the matter to the Council with the suggestion that a public hearing be set when protests might be heard. The members of the board were satisfied that if they listened to the protests and made a recommendation the same people would insist on appearing again before the Council and in order to shorten the proceeding proposed a joint session.

Had it not been for the suggestion of the City Attorney that a period of ten days is provided in which to determine matters as to the advertising of franchises, the Council would have run away with the situation yesterday. They were ready to vote in favor of advertising the franchise and were evidently unanimous.

GARVANZA FLYERS.

RECOMMENDED TO COUNCIL.

The Board of Public Utilities yesterday recommended to the City Council that certain franchise requirements be waived on the Highland Park and Garvanza line of the Pacific Electric so that a "flyer" service might be inaugurated. The people section where passengers wish to get on or off.

The arrangement is that the railway company submit a schedule of its flyers and that the city waive the franchise provision in these particular cases. The members of the Council were not certain how this could be effected and the question was referred to the Legislative Committee and the City Attorney for a report.

City Hall Briefs.

The application of Frank Garbutt and others for a gap in the government breakwater at San Pedro was finally refused by the Council yesterday. The leaving of a gap was asked so that small boats might leave the harbor without passing around the end of the long breakwater.

The Council yesterday adopted Gen. Chaffee's suggestion that the city purchase mules for the aqueduct work instead of renting them. The purchase of 240 mules at not to exceed $240 each was authorized.

The municipal corporation of Los Angeles is not one of the "soulless" kind. The Council yesterday voted $12 from its charity fund to reimburse Mrs. C. A. Hague for a horse which had been taken in at the city pound and sold for that amount.

Councilman O'Brien told the Council yesterday he was afraid everyone who has a fireplace or stove in Los Angeles would be arrested under the terms of the new anti-smoke ordinance. Its passage was delayed for one week.

A contractor's word is no longer good with the City Council. Notice was served yesterday that no payment of assessments for street work would be authorized until every detail had been completed.

The Council adopted resolutions yesterday calling on the members of the State Legislature to adopt the bill providing for the repeal of constitutional amendment No. 1.

John N. Metcalf addressed the Council in behalf of the Second-street tunnel project. The petition of a number of property owners for the First-street tunnel was read. D. K. Edwards asked for a general public hearing on the tunnel question, but the Council referred it to the Board of Public Works, asking for a report next week.

Gen. E. C. Bellows, former Consul-General to Japan, was yesterday appointed a member of the Civil Service Commission, in place of D. H. Laubersheimer.

The City Council will meet this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock to confirm the sale of the aqueduct bonds in New York, which it is expected will be made today. The city will receive over $2,400,000 from this sale.

At the Courthouse.

INVESTORS GAIN GREAT VICTORY.

SECURE CONTROL CALIFORNIA FRUIT GROWERS' CO.

By Virtue Court Order, Dent and Others Obtain Possession of Concern Organized by "Olly" Watkins, Legally Dead, Though Some Assert He's Still in the Flesh.

Litigation involving the affairs of the California Fruit Growers' Association and its allied corporations was decided by Judge Hutton yesterday, following a hearing that consumed many weeks in Department Four.

The decision of the court is a victory for Henry G. Dent, plaintiff in the action against the various corporations that were once handled by O. J. ("Olly") Watkins, now supposed to be dead. The litigation has been conducted by Dent in the interest of the investors in the stock of the various companies. They will now realize something on account of the fact the court gives Dent control of the association. The view of Judge Hutton will also do away with the litigation in San Bernardino county, where an action similar to the one just decided is still pending.

The pleadings in the case were voluminous, and the issues complex. Counsel for Dent in open court abandoned all of his claims against the defendants except as a minority stockholder in the California Fruit Growers' Association to have large blocks of stock issued to Watkins cancelled on the ground that the same was issued without consideration.

The allegations that a large amount of stock standing in the name of the defendants in this suit, or their dummies, was issued without consideration and must be cancelled, was, in the opinion of the court, well taken.

The opinion then gives a resume of the number of the certificates and the number of the shares of the Fruit Growers' Association that are cancelled by the order of the court. The number of shares involved is 941,000, substantially all that Dent asked for in his complaint. The largest certificate wiped out is No. 252, calling for 215,000 shares of stock. Other large certificates are: No. 208, 150,000; No. 224, 100,000; No. 219, 35,000 shares, and No. 251, representing 54,210 shares.

FINALLY SETTLED.

JAPANESE GUARDIANSHIP.

The long-drawn-out contest involving the question of appointing a guardian of the person and property of Haruye Muramota, a young Japanese girl, was finally concluded yesterday in Judge Wilbur's court. Four days were consumed in hearing the evidence.

The matter was before the court in another form some weeks ago, when the young husband of the girl was before the court on the charge of contributing to her delinquency. It was alleged that the couple had been married according to the Japanese custom, without any regard to the California laws. The complaint was sworn out by S. K. Muramato, the father of the girl. Afterward the husband was arrested at Ventura, but the charge was dropped.

Then the question of guardianship came up, attorneys for the young woman asking that Mabel G. Anderson be named as guardian. The father desired the appointment. The young couple were in the courtroom with their baby, and the evidence on their behalf was to the effect that the father was not a proper person to have charge of his daughter.

JOSEPH GOES FREE.

FIVE YEARS' PROBATION.

Ira Joseph, former assistant treasurer of the Bealsco Theater, who pleaded guilty to embezzling an amount approximating $10,000, was given five years' probation in Department Twelve, yesterday.

One of the features of the case was that a note for $5000 had been given the Belasco-Blackwood Company, to reimburse that corporation for a portion of its loss. E. J. Loeb, who appeared as attorney for the company, stated on the witness stand that in return for the note his clients had steal and the confession of Joseph, fixing the embezzlement at about $9500. His testimony was corroborated by Capt. A. C. Jones, who said that Joseph had spent much of the money taking "joy rides" with women, his expenditures some nights reaching as high as $30. Attorney Loeb said that the financial settlement of the case was due to the brothers-in-law of Joseph.

The report of Capt. Dodds, was strongly against the probation of Joseph, the officer citing a score of indiscretions in which Joseph had been concerned in the past.

The court gave Joseph probation, making the usual conditions, as to his remaining in Los Angeles county during the term of his temporary release, and warning him to keep out of cafes and poolrooms. Judge McCormick told Joseph that if he violated any of the conditions he will be sent to the penitentiary for a long term of years. Joseph showed no emotion but a number of his friends in the courtroom wept during the course of the court's remarks.

Paul Caye, head usher, and Roscoe Guin, doorkeeper of the Belasco, jointly charged with Joseph with looting the box office, are yet to be tried. Both pleaded not guilty.

BEGIN THIRD WEEK.

KINNEY LIBEL SUIT.

It is possible that the action brought by George E. Jones against Abbott Kinney, for $50,000 damages in connection with a publication in a Venice paper, will be completed this week.

The plaintiff began his rebuttal yesterday, and the most of the day was consumed by the examination of Jones. The witnesses on the stand preceding Jones were A. R. Fraser and G. G. Watt, the latter an official of Ocean Park. The examination in chief of the plaintiff, Jones and the cross-examination will likely consume several days. The testimony of the witness yesterday was a denial seriatim of the allegations made in the amended answer filed in behalf of Abbott Kinney.

TALESMEN QUALIFY.

Willard and Sylvester H. Geer.

TESTIMONY IN.

BELL MURDER HEARING.

The end was reached in the Frank M. Bell murder trial, so far as the testimony is concerned, with the adjournment of court, last night. The closing feature in the line of evidence in behalf of the State was the reading of the testimony in the Bell perjury case, that resulted in a disagreement of the jury.

I. N. Inskeep, a handwriting expert, was on the stand, and gave expert evidence alleging to show the nervous condition of Bell on several occasions, as indicated by his writing.

Mrs. O. P. Widaman, widow of Bell's victim, testified that on the night that Bell claimed he was held up and tied in Hollywood, that her husband was at home. This was to dispute the implication that Widaman was concerned in that affair. It is expected that the argument will begin this morning. The opening argument will be made by Deputy District Attorney Graham, and he will be followed by Tom L. Johnson, for the defense. On Thursday it is expected that H. H. Appel will occupy the most of the time in behalf of Bell, closing with an argument by Deputy District Attorney Keyes.

FRAUD ALLEGED.

IN PURCHASE OF RIGHTS.

An action was begun yesterday by Carrie H. French against the Domestic Utilities Manufacturing Company, C. F. Moore and Anna A. Elliott, to recover a deed for a lot that she alleges was secured by false pretenses.

It is alleged that on June 22, 1910, the plaintiff traded for what is known as an "agent's right" for the sale of a vacuum clothes washer. It was represented that the machine was a great seller and that she could easily make $10 a day in the sale of the device. The plaintiff says that she was induced to convey the lot to C. F. Moore, who on November 22, 1910, reconveyed the lot to the defendant, Elliott.

The plaintiff says that she traveled about the country trying to dispose of the machines. She asks $500 judgment against the defendants on account of the alleged false representations; that the contract be declared null and void, and that the deed for the lot be reconveyed to her.

PLAINTIFF WINS.

MAY INVESTIGATE FURTHER.

In the action brought by Mrs. Gertrude Harter against Thomas H. Stokeley, to recover a judgment against him for $645, Judge Craig yesterday found for the plaintiff. The testimony of Stokeley was to the effect that, while he had secured about $118 in trust from Mrs. Harter, that he had repaid the same. He denied that he owed her a cent. The witness said it was only a loan in name, as it was alleged the money had been given to Mrs. Harter from a source that might make it necessary for her to deny having it. For that reason it had been turned over to him, Stokeley declared.

In deciding the case in favor of Mrs. Harter, the court took occasion to say that in his opinion there had been perjury introduced in the hearing on behalf of the defendant and he thought the matter ought to be investigated by the District Attorney.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

CRIMINAL MATTERS. In Judge McCormick's court yesterday Jose Aguirra, charged with burglary, had his trial fixed for April 17; Nick Concha, similarly charged, had his hearing set for April 18. W. E. Stewart, who pleaded guilty to giving a check on a bank where he had no funds, pleaded guilty and his application for probation will be heard Friday.

DAMAGE ACTION. P. M. Mulock and Bertha Mulock brought a damage suit against John O'Donnell, A. S. O'Donnell, John Wiedenbach and James Amsden, in the Superior Court, yesterday, for $5190 damages. The O'Donnells own the property on South a plumbers' coupling to fall on the head of Bertha Mulock, producing severe injuries.

INCORPORATIONS. Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by the Angelus Construction Company, capital stock, $25,000, incorporators, C. H. Hamilton, D. S. Cooke, H. H. Cotton, Horace Donnell and H. S. Cook, subscribed, $5; General Nitrogen Company, capital stock, $10,000, incorporators, A. R. Kurtz, L. H. Berry and George I. Kraemer, subscribed, $3; California Roofing and Supply Company, capital stock, $ 0,000, incorporators, Frederick E. Sprinkman, Edgar T. and George W. Wall, subscribed, $6500; Guarantee Bonding and Casualty Company, capital stock, $100,000, incorporators, Thomas Pasco, Alfred Solano, Daniel Innes, C. S. Miles, Charles D. Magee, Arthur H. Peas and J. Allen Knapp, subscribed, $10; McDonald Spilled Concrete The Company, capital stock, $1,00,000, incorporators, M. E. Nunamaker, M. E. Fraleigh, W. C. McMillan, F. M. Phillis and M. S. Denison, subscribed, $50; Prospect Oil and Development Company, capital stock, $25,000, incorporators, John C. Bentz, A. C. S. Kinner, E. Willson, L. Bentz and H. C. S. Abrams, subscribed, $250.

NEW TRIAL DENIED. Judge Craig yesterday denied new trials of the cases brought by J. M. Sewell against Clinton Johnson, and Sewell against Dr. W. R. Price, in relation to transactions involving the sale of National Gold Dredger Company's stock.

SUIT FOR MAINTENANCE. An action was filed in the Superior Court yesterday by Emily R. Hall, against Walter T. Hall, asking that the court allow her separate maintenance. The allegation of the complaint is that Hall indulges in intoxicating liquor and that he is very abusive in his conduct toward his wife. She asks that she be allowed $300 a month for her support. She also sets out that he is the holder of real estate estimated to be worth $75,000.

IN THE INFERIOR COURTS.

Judge Chambers Believes Prejudice Against Chinese Doctors Will Influence Result of Their Trials.

With the exception of the case against Lum Wing Yue, who decided to plead guilty and was in consequence fined $100, the cases of the Chinese doctors, charged with practising without a State license were set over until next month for trial.

Police Judge Chambers declares that he is in for a long siege of small jury trials, because he believes it will take at least a week for each case.

"Were the defendants other than Chinese, I think the cases could be disposed of in a short time," said Judge Chambers, "but it is very difficult to get juries in trials of Chinese.

"In previous trials of this kind, the great majority of the talesmen called declared they could give Chinese impartial trials and in consequence were dismissed from service on the juries."

C. S. Hastings, Sarah J. Tedford and Grace Merton are Americans charged with similar offenses and they will be tried first. The Chinese, who must stand trial, are: Charles Foo, T. Leung, H. T. Chan, M. J. Yem, Chung Hong, Henry Chung, Quong Tong and G. S. Chan.

TRIAL IN MARCH.

TECHNICALITY AIDS HIM.

The trial of Barney Lavin, charged with embezzling from the Central avenue branch of Young's Market Company by "holding out" small amounts, was set for March 1, by Police Judge Rose, yesterday afternoon.

Though the amount Lavin is believed to have taken from the company will total several hundred dollars, a technicality forces the District Attorney to prosecute in a misdemeanor case, because no single amount taken was more than $50.

Working with one or two others in the concern, Lavin is said to have held back from $3 to $4 a day, which was divided among the boys at night. One of the lads confessed that his share during the year and half that he was employed in the plant amounted to about $500.

TOO BAD.

CAN'T STEAL FROM WIFE.

Because it was held by the District Attorney, that a man cannot steal from his wife, Walter Smeltzer, who was brought back from San Diego by the detective department was released by Police Judge Rose yesterday.

Smeltzer was charged with taking his wife's diamonds and $41 in cash and leaving her. She applied to the police for assistance and a warrant for Smeltzer was issued.

Both Fined.

J. Florez and J. Hernandez, charged with disturbing the peace, were fined $15 each by Police Judge Frederickson yesterday. Florez, said that Hernandez struck him in the face and that the only thing he said was to ask Hernandez why he did it. Hernandez told a similar story. The statement of Patrolman Pautz was that he found them engaging in a fight.

Police Court Brevities.

C. Cunaingham, charged by Officer Fullerton of the S.P.C.A., with driving a lame horse, was fined $20 by Police Judge Frederickson yesterday.

E. F. Farrell, charged by Patrolman Busse with conducting a gambling game forfeited $150 bail yesterday.

Frank Clark, charged with running a dice game, did not appear for trial yesterday and forfeited $50 bail. Eight boys, who were arrested at the same time, failed to appear and in consequence forfeited $10 bail each.

John Smith, charged with vagrancy, was sent to jail for ninety days by Police Judge Frederickson yesterday. Smith was arrested by Patrolmen Browning and Burgess.

Charles Shorten, charged with taking $180 from a restaurant on Seventh street, where he was employed, was held for trial in the Superior Court yesterday afternoon under $1000 bail.

Joe Box and Walter Hester, charged with passing a forged check for $28 on a South-Main-street clothing house proprietor, were held under $1500 bail yesterday afternoon.

ASSERTS BILL IS ABSURDITY.

EIGHT-HOUR LEGISLATION SHUTS AVENUES NOW OPEN.

Measure Clearly Not Good for Women, But Chances Are They Would Support it if They Had Ballot Because it Relates to Sex, Declares Prominent Woman.

The proposed eight-hour law for women was described as an absurdity by Mrs. Otto H. Neher yesterday afternoon at the headquarters of the Southern California Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage. These headquarters are in room No. 312, Exchange building, at Third and Hill streets, and are daily frequented by numbers of women who call to affix their signatures to a protest against votes for women, chiefly for the reason that they do not want them.

Discussing the suffrage question before a number of ladies, Mrs. Neher said:

"It is perfectly true that many of the bills coming before the Legislature of any State must concern women and children because they concern every one. It is manifestly not true, however, that every bill having to do with women and children is a good bill, any more than it is true that every bill having to do with men is a bad one. If women think that by being privileged to vote they will be given wisdom in the use of votes, they are sadly mistaken. The possession of power never guarantees that it will be used wisely or even safely.

"If women vote for a measure because it mentions women and children, they may find themselves supporting bills distinctly inimicable to the interests of women and children. As an instance, consider the eight-hour law for women as presented to the present Legislature. No bill could be more absurd. Many lines of employment now open to women would instantly be closed to them if they were not allowed to work the hours necessary to perform the services required. When women are no longer permitted to do the work expected of them, the result will be that men will take their places. Where women work by the piece they would be seriously handicapped by an eight-hour law. The measure is clearly not good for women, but the chances are that, if women had the ballot, they would support this bill simply because it is about women.

"I have been interested in looking over some of the names of prominent women in New York who are opposed to suffrage. I find among them the names of those who are noted for their public charities. They are already doing a tender and capable public service of a nature which can only be done by women, and they do not want to be saddled with responsibilities which can only be met by men.

"It seems to me that one of the ridiculous things about suffrage is that it robs the man of his inherent right to protect his mother, his sister and his wife. If woman is given the vote she can be made to do jury duty, and if she is liable to service of this character her husband can no longer shield her from undesirable contact with the world."

The meeting held at the home of Mrs. Walter G. Hughes of No. 507 West Adams street, Monday afternoon, was well attended and resulted in the addition of many new members. Mrs. Caswell's excellent paper was read, and several brief addresses in opposition to suffrage were made.

"I think several suffragists attended," said Mrs. Harriet Hunt, the secretary. "I can always tell them because, when I offer them literature after the meeting, they do not take it. The other day a lady called at our headquarters to inquire the address of the suffragist headquarters. She did a little quiet missionary work on me, and, when I was not convinced, she confessed that she had been a member of the Colorado State Legislature."

The latter came in last Friday and was drilled in thirty days with a rotary. The flow was successfully checked with gate valves, and is being held back until the sump holes are completed.

News Notes and Personals.

H. K. Bonne and H. R. Wells have just closed a deal with eastern parties for the sale of their oil properties on sections 6 and 7 in North Midway. The owners live at Bakersfield.

The Hart Oil Company, operating on section 12, 31-23, Elk Hills, is down in its well No. 1 to a depth of 3050 feet with a rotary. The drill is passing through a shale and clay with a slight showing of oil. This is the deepest well in the Elk Hills and as it is filled with water it is hard to determine just how much oil is present.

Reports are to the effect that the Buick Oil Company, operating on the northeast quarter of section 32, 31-22, Midway, has a fine showing of oil. Drilling is being done with a rotary and the well is filled with water. The oil has risen to the top and has blackened the inside of the derrick. The well is now 3100 feet deep.

The total production of oil in what are known as the Eastern and Midcontinent fields from the new wells for the month of January was 46,128 barrels, and for December, 1910, was 34,625 barrels. These figures look small to a California oil man.

THE FIRST DEBAUCH.

The Goo-Goo party of California is now reveling in its first debauch of spoils, and the revelers have already begun to quarrel among themselves after the manner of those who have made merry under a rusty wine bush. Political blows will be the end of it.

AN INSPIRING EXAMPLE.

Now that a man of good repute and acknowledged ability has been found to undertake the task of straightening out the financial difficulties of the Republic of Nicaragua, no individual on earth, no matter how many bills he owes, ought to despair.

SORRY HIS LOT.

One of the allegations against the defendant in a divorce action in the local courts the other day was that he did not want any children in the family. He had probably gotten his ideas of children from the comic weeklies. Woe be unto a man who has neither a kid nor a sense of humor!

NATIONAL DISGRACE.

An Oklahoma community is at bitter strife over the removal of its county seat. Already one man has been shot down and killed by a party of roughs. It was hoped that every county in the United States had outgrown this fetich cruelty. It belongs to the Blue Bills, the Kuklux and the White Caps of the South. Of such are the Night Riders of the Kentucky tobacco fields. These things are a stain on our present civilization.

THE SPRING OF '84.

An old settler informs us that the spring of 1884 was similar to the present season. He says the rains came just as they are coming now.

The poppies will come earlier for the rains, and the songs of the meadow larks and the mocking birds will be all the sweeter. Moreover, the cattle on the thousand hills will get to be so sleek and fat that the eye that sees them will rejoice. Eggs and butter will slump in price and all will go merry as a marriage bell.

DEPARTMENT STORE DESPOT.

The manager of a big department store in Kansas City has issued a ukase more unjust, more tyrannical, more outrageously violative of human liberty and the inalienable rights of woman than any ever promulgated by the Czar of Russia. The miserable male worm has decreed that girls over 14 and under 16 years of age, employed in the store, shall not use powder or paint on their faces, or wear rats or frizzes on their maidenly brows. If the girl is 16 years and one day old, or is 13 years and 364 days old, she may enhance her personal appearance with cosmetics, but, if she is between 14 and 16, she must remember that "nature unadorned is adorned the most," and if she dares to surreptitiously use a powder puff she loses her job, and the drunken father or poker playing brother, whom she helps to support, must go without his cocktails, or discontinue his visits to his peroxide blonde inamorata.

It may be that this innovation will not drive young men customers from a department store in Kansas City, where incipient sparking is never permitted in Puritanical business houses. But in cosmopolitan, free-spirited, brave-hearted Los Angeles, it would cause an aching void—a desert solitude in front of the counters where radiant female angels fit your neck with becoming ties, and softly press your hand as they "try on" a glove. If the young lady at the men's furnishing goods counter is not to be permitted to pencil her eyebrows, and tinge sweet lips with henna, and whiten her brow with pearl powder, and artistically heighten the roseate blush of her cheeks, and generally putty and paint and grain herself to suit the popular demand, then what has become of the Constitution of those old blokes, the Fathers—as Heney would remark—and of what use is the organic law of California with its thirty or forty pending amendments? If the Kansas City tyranny is to be introduced in the City of the Angels, young gentlemen might as well buy their personal adornments of a mere man. The edict of the Missouri despot has no precedent except in London, where the clerks in the Bank of England are forbidden to wear mustaches in business hours.

Kansas City suffragettes, where are you at? Rally, girls, rally! Stand by the privileges of your adorable sex.

PROPERTY IN WIVES.

In a recent Michigan scandal the husband who returned in the middle of the night to find his wife in flagrante delictu was implored by the invader of his domestic felicity not to shoot. "Shoot nothing," was the reply. "Shall I kill my best friend? I have been wanting to get rid of this woman for years, and you are enabling me to gratify a long-felt want. Here, dress yourself and help madam pack her trunk. There is a train leaving in two hours for Ypsilanti where her parents live. I will telephone for a hack and you can escort her there, or go wherever you like, only get out of this house, both of you." "I am not financially prepared to travel," said the guest. "Oh, you ain't eh?" said the husband. "Well, I'll help you. Here is $50 to pay your expenses"—and the incident was closed until it was recited in court a few weeks later.

Usually when the husband shoots the co- [illegible] harm the wife, but duct is simple," says an Indianapolis newspaper. "It is not necessarily love for his wife that restrains the husband from shooting her, nor the sense of injury alone that leads him to shoot her male companion, but the traditional feeling of ownership in the woman he has married, and primitive rage aroused in his manly breast against anyone who interferes with this ownership."

The statutes of most States class as justifiable homicide the killing of one who by violence or surprise manifestly intends and endeavors to commit a felony. So you may lawfully slay one who is found in the act of filching your watch, if the watch is worth more than $50. If a man owns his wife, if his wife is his property, and her loyalty is worth more than $50, why may not the husband take a shot at the villain who is plundering him of his property?

That a wife is property was decided by the Supreme Court of the United States in Tinker vs. Colwell, 193 U. S. 542. Mr. Justice Peckham, in writing the opinion, says: "The right of a husband in the person of his wife which is interfered with and invaded by criminal conversation with her may properly be described as a property right."

If the suffragettes obtain power they will deny the property right of a husband in his wife, and they may go so far as to repudiate the doctrine announced by the Supreme Court of Mississippi in Bradley vs. State, that "the husband should be permitted to exercise the right of moderate chastisement of the wife in cases of great emergency."

THE INITIATIVE.

In dealing with the initiative, the referendum and the recall, it will be well to remember that these socialistic measures have never been submitted to a vote of the people of California, or to any convention or other representative body chosen by the members of any political party in the State of California. Under the operation of the direct primary law Johnson was nominated for Governor by a minority of the Republicans of the State. After his nomination was made, the Republican county committees of each county appointed members of a State Central Committee, and the State Central Committee adopted a State platform which included the initiative, the referendum and the recall—the people never gave even an advisory vote in favor of the populistic fads.

The members of the Legislature seem to concede that the adoption of the initiative, the referendum and the recall by a State Central Committee operates as an instruction to them, which they are not at liberty to disregard, to vote for a constitutional amendment altering our organic law so as to change our government from a representative one to an Athenian democracy.

If the people shall thoroughly understand the far-reaching and mischievous, not to say disastrous, results that would flow from an adoption of the initiative into our State Constitution, it is not probable that they will favor it.

Under the present system, in order to procure the enactment of a new law, or a change in an old one, a bill, after its introduction in the Assembly or the Senate, must be referred to an appropriate committee. There it is subject to amendment both in its essence and in its phraseology. It is then reported to the House or Senate, where it is debated pro and con by members of both parties. If a majority find it satisfactory it is passed. It then goes to the other branch of the Legislature, where it goes through a similar ordeal of examination and debate in committee and in the legislative body. If the general purpose of the bill is approved, but there are defects or omissions in it, it is amended and goes back to the house where it originated. If that house refuses to accept the amendments, a committee of conference is appointed. That committee recommends that certain amendments be accepted and others be receded from. The bill is then voted upon. If a majority of both houses accept it, it then goes to the Governor, who signs it if he approves it, or if he disapproves it, returns it with his veto, and it does not become a law unless two-thirds of the members of both houses vote to pass it over his veto.

The voting must all be viva voce on a call of the roll. A record is kept, and every voter in the State can know exactly how his Representative and Senator voted on every measure.

This is a representative government, as it was established by the fathers of the republic more than a century ago, and as it has existed for sixty years in California. Under its workings no very unwise or unjust law has ever been enacted.

What would be the process of lawmaking with the initiative in working harness?

Some one ambitious individual writes a law and causes petitions to be circulated among the voters for its submission to popular vote. He obtains the signatures to such petitions of one-tenth of the voters at the last election. His canvassers need not extend their laws beyond a few of the most populous counties. Everybody knows how easily genuine signatures can be obtained and with what facility the names of dead or absent voters can be signed. If the requisite 10 per cent. is procured, then the proposed law must be submitted to the voters. However uncouth or ambiguous in phrase, however unintelligible, however unwise, it must be submitted as it is, without amendment or modification. The vote is taken by secret ballot. Those whose votes enact the proposed measure avoid all responsibility, and evade all consequences.

Many years ago a bill was introduced in the Wisconsin Legislature abolishing all laws for the collection of debts. It passed to a third reading in the lower house. Under the operations of the initiative, a petition for such a law would readily be signed by one-tenth of the voters, and it is not by any means certain that a majority would not vote for it at the polls. Those who are in debt are doubtless in a large majority. When Adams & Co. failed many men who had not a dollar in their bank excused themselves to their creditors by saying that "all their money was on deposit with Adams & of Minneapolis said: "Ach does drubbles affects me nit, for I owes apout as many peoples as I don't."

Some reformer might obtain enough signatures to secure the submission of a law to so amend the criminal code as to provide that larceny should consist of stealing the property of another—other than that of a railroad corporation—or a law exempting from taxation all property of less value than $5000, or a law levying a heavy poll tax on bachelors.

It may be conceded that a majority of the voters are honest and intelligent. We would have fallen upon evil times if such were not the case. But intelligent men are not always wise, and honest men are not always on guard.

Illustrations of the practical working of the initiative in Oregon do not commend it to the voters of California. Two rival competitors in the business of fishing and canning salmon in the Columbia and Sandy Rivers each prepared a law that would disastrously affect his rival and favor himself. Each procured the requisite number of signatures. Both laws were submitted and both laws were passed. Both measures were reasonable enough in title, and so far as the Australian ballot showed, they were proper laws for adoption.

The Corrupt Practices Act in Oregon consists of fifty-five sections and over 9000 words, or twenty pages of closely-printed matter. It is a penal law, the punishment for violation of any of its provisions being not more than one year in jail or a fine of not more than $5000, or both. Among other offenses under the act is wearing a political badge or button on election day. The paying of a person for services on election day, such as distributing cards, or carrying banners, or furnishing vehicles, is prohibited, and the expenditures regulated by the law include those not only of the candidate, but of a descendant, ascendant, brother, sister, uncle, aunt, nephew, or fellow official or fellow employee of a corporation.

The title of the Corrupt Practices Act is such as to readily secure the vote of an honest citizen, but it is not probable that one voter out of 1000 read it, and the voter could not vote for some of its fifty-five sections and against others. He had to take them all or leave them all.

It was adopted, and the result is that it is extremely difficult for a man to run for office in Oregon without inadvertently qualifying himself for the penitentiary.

The Times ventures to hope that when the socialistic initiative amendment to the Constitution shall be submitted to the honest and intelligent voters of California, it will be snowed under, and that the exile from public life of the experimentalists in the Legislature who voted for it will be long and lonesome.

BY THE WATERS OF BABYLON.

If the Englishman would forget for a time his policies and his cautions and his frigid conservatism, if he would treat his abstract Irish problem as a warm entity in flesh and blood, the present doleful dirge of Erin might be so easily turned into a beautiful major harmony of confidence and good will.

The writer of the 137th Psalm must have felt the same heart weariness when, by the waters of Babylon, the stranger asked him to sing one of the songs of Zion as the Irishman feels today when the English statesman in the House of Commons bids him to wax sentimental over the British Union Jack. How shall I sing the Lord's song in a strange land?—is the burden of his refrain. My harp is hanging up in Tara's Halls; my last song was sung at the battle of the Boyne. Every blade of grass in Ireland is as dear to me as each hair upon my mother's head. You, the calculating, mathematical statesman, how should you understand? You are a Saxon, you are a blooded Saxon, you are as frosty as the North from which the Viking came to conquer first the Celts in Britain, then the Picts in Scotland; then Celts and Picts alike in Cambria and passionate Erin.

So in his estimate of the Saxon, the Celt is as far from the truth as is the Saxon in his judgment of the Celt. Both are true-hearted. The difference is temperamental. The Irish nature is so full of warmth, the natural sentiment must bubble over; he, the Irishman, hates reserve and the cold water of common sense. Cold water is what the Britisher is much addicted to, as a shower bath for himself and a frigid plunge for his neighbors. The air of patronage which too often accompanies the generous instincts of John Bull is fatal to any kindly sentiment for the unfeeling benefactor in the hearts of the sentimental children of Erin. The Lord in Heaven, we are told, loves a cheerful giver; but this love is nothing to the hate of the Celt on earth for the giver of the opposite persuasion.

Secretly, John Redmond has more respect for Arthur Balfour, who voluntarily gave to Ireland the half loaf of the Tenants' Land Purchase Bill, than he has for Prime Minister Asquith, from whom he must wrest—vi et armis—the fuller measure of Irish Home Rule. Moreover, if the Irish people know that England accedes to her requests grudgingly and of necessity, and not from real affection, the bond of Home Rule will be as rotten a fetter to bind the Celt and the Saxon as was Lord Salisbury's clumsy link of coercion.

THINKING THEMES.

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

It is singular to note how every effort to change government or religion is accused of upsetting morals. To most persons morality means keeping up existing institutions and customs. To them the moral man is the one who will do tomorrow the same thing he did today. Whoever undertakes to put reason into his ethics will sooner or later be tainted with heresy.

The Pharisees, I doubt not, really thought the young Nazarene a menace to good order in church and state; for, once the respect for Pharisees and other leading citizens was broken down, what anchor remained for any morality? Luther was vehemently accused of opening the way for all manner of lawlessness. We are solemnly assured that if woman is allowed to vote the last shred of decency and modesty will flee from the sex; so, I presume, the Turk would feel if it were proposed to educate his women and remove their veils.

UNCLE WALT.

The Poet Philosopher.

When I was young I hoped to be a private on the deep blue sea. I'd sail a long, low, rakish craft wherein fierce men like demons laughed, and overhaul the ships of Spain, and hide my wealth upon the main. And later longings filled my breast to slaughter red men in the West; I hoped to roam the forest aisles, and leave my victims there in piles, and to be called, from sea to sea, "The Bad Man of the Rickaree." These visions passed, and I became ambitious of the fighter's fame. The great John L. had conquered all; I hoped his wreath would some day fall upon my brow, and there remain, while bruisers scrapped for it in vain. I used to lie awake at night, and see myself absorbed in fight; my foeman always left the ring a battered, bruised and bleeding thing, while I, uninjured, stood and bowed, and beamed upon the frantic crowd. Such dreams are gone, and now my hopes are not for blood or prize-ring ropes. I think I'll hump myself this year and try to be an auctioneer.

MEN AND THINGS ACROSS THE SEA.

King George's decision to hold a coronation durbar in India may prevent the Duke of Connaught from becoming Governor-General of Canada, unless Earl Grey can be induced to extend his occupancy of the office until the King can return to England. During the absence of the King from England it will be necessary to supply something in the nature of a regency, and the only person apparently qualified for it is the Duke of Connaught.

Although both Queen Victoria and King Edward often left the country for brief holidays on the continent, this visit of King George to India will be the first occasion since the days of King Richard I that any British reigning monarch has gone out of Europe. Queen Victoria was the first British monarch to proceed abroad without the consent of Parliament.

Previous to Queen Victoria's reign the absence of the monarch abroad was met by the appointment of one or more persons to transact the formal business of government. Until the office of Justiciar fell into disuse in the reign of Henry III it had been customary that the Justiciar should discharge the duties of royalty during the absence of the monarch.

From this time it seems to have been most usual to appoint "custodes regni," or "locumtenentes," the first instance of such an appointment being in the reign of Henry III, when the Queen and the Earl of Cornwall were made Guardians of the Realm during the King's absence in Gascony.

The appointment of Lords Justices under the Great Seal began with the absence of William III, after the death of Mary, who during her short reign had been given power by statute to exercise the royal prerogative whenever William was out of England.

The last instances of the actual appointment of Regents from this cause was in 1716, when the Prince of Wales was made Guardian and Lieutenant of the Kingdom during the absence of King George I in Hanover, and in 1732, when Queen Caroline occupied the same position, but the appointment of Lords Justices to carry on the duties of the monarch was continued till as late as 1821. The Prince of Wales was appointed Regent in 1810, in consequence of the mental condition of his father, George III.

Juliana Louise Emma Marie Wilhelmina, Princess of Orange-Nassau and Duchess of Mecklenburg, is the heiress to the throne of the Netherlands, and her birth on April 30, 1909, relieved her people of the imminent fear that their next sovereign would by a German prince. Her people know her well both by sight and through gossip, and it is an article of faith among them that she is wholly and completely Dutch, the picture of her mother. Queen Wilhelmina is manifestly and aggressively Dutch, while her father, Prince Henry of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, had the misfortune to be born in Germany. Queen Wilhelmina, reputed to be the richest woman in Europe, spends little on herself and much on the poor, and the small Princess will undoubtedly be trained to live simply and to give both generously and intelligently.

The militant British suffragettes always have some new thing on hand, as often a defiance of existing law as a movement to attract attention to their claims to the franchise. Now it is proposed to boycott the enumerators when the census is taken next April. The argument for this action is that as women have been defied citizenship, it is logical for them to say, "Very well, we are not citizens, and shall not register ourselves as citizens." There may be something doing next April in England.

The honorary freedom of Newcastle has been conferred by the lord mayor upon Sir William Stephenson, who during his forty-two years' membership of the council had been six times elected chief magistrate. The honorary freedom has only been conferred on two others in 450 years. Sir William was already a freeman, but it was felt that the town could confer no honor on him greater than that of honorary freedom. Among Sir William's benefactions to the city are three free libraries and the addition of a wing to the children's consumption sanatorium.

"YOU MUST MEAN MORE."

BY RICHARD LE GALLIENNE.

You must mean more than just this hour,
You perfect thing so subtly fair,
Simple and complex as a flower,
Wrought with such planetary care;
How patient the eternal power
That wove the marvel of your hair.

How long the sunlight and the sea
Wove and rewove this rippling gold
To rhythms of eternity;
And many a flashing thing grew old
Waiting this miracle to be;
And painted marvels manifold.

Still with his work unsatisfied,
Eager each new effect to try,
The solemn artist cast aside,
Rainbow and shell and butterfly,—
As some stern blacksmith scatters wide
The sparks that from his anvil fly.

How many shells, whorl within whorl,
Litter the marges of the sphere,
With wrack of unregarded pearl,
To shape that little thing your ear:
Creation, just to make one girl,
Hath travailed with exceeding fear.

The moonlight of forgotten seas
Dwells in your eyes, and on your tongue
The honey of a million bees,
And all the sorrow of all song;
You are the ending of all these,
The world grew old to make you young.

All Time hath traveled to this rose—
To the strange making of this face
Came agonies of fires and snows;
And Death and April, nights and days
Unnumbered, unimagined throes,
Find in this bower their meeting-place.

Strange Artist, to my aching thought
Give answer; all the patient power
That to this perfect ending wrought—
Shall it mean nothing but this hour!
Say not that it is all for nought
Time brings Eternity a flower.

...records at the Majestic, having done capacity business ever since its opening Sunday night, and the advance sale for the remainder of the week was so heavy that the extra performance was decided upon.

Either the holiday or the advance rumors of an unusually attractive new vaudeville bill at Pantages, was responsible for the capacity attendance yesterday. However, whatever the cause, the theater enjoyed record breaking attendance at all of its performances. The crowds were not disappointed for the programme is a very good one.

There are two acts entitled to honors as legitimate headliners. They are Capt. Devlin's thirteen Zouaves, and Rapoli a juggler from Europe.

Capt. Devlin is a gray-haired soldier and the National Guardsmen under him show rigid discipline. Their team work is marvelous and the action resulting from the rapid drilling and various military maneuvers borders upon the sensational, while the final feat of scaling a wall some twenty-five feet in height is a fitting climax.

The only juggler we have seen in this country to compare directly with Rapoli, was Severes Schaffer, a German who appeared here in 1901. Rapoli's specialty lies in his dextrous manipulation of heavy weights, with which he gives an astounding exhibition. Rapoli has an assistant that alone is worth the price of admission to see, for the man can command a big salary as a single entertainer any time he desires. He looks like George Fuller Golden and has that unctuous comedian's spirit of true comedy.

The Charters Sisters and J. Frank Holliday are a breezy trio, who deserve thanks for giving something new in a vocal offering. A number of changes of attractive costuming, several sets of special scenery, good voices, catchy songs, much comedy and a fine appearance, make this trio a valuable act.

Tanner and Gilbert in "How to Make Love," have a comedy vehicle. Both have good voices and the young woman is a good feeder for the man's comedy efforts. Oswald La Grande, who speaks with a decided German accent, gives a drawing-room entertainment. His hands manipulate billiard balls in much the same manner that other magicians juggle coins. Dotson and Lucas sing, dance and inject much humor into their offering and the young lady is an accomplished trombone soloist. Two films of interesting motion pictures close the bill.

The bill at the Hyman is so good that it is hard to say just who is the headliner. It is made up of all feature acts, each widely different from its predecessor. Tom Kelly is greeted at every performance with spontaneous

Valentine Foulards

Do not "nearly," or "almost" or "practically" shed water—THEY REALLY DO shed water. This perfect "Shedwater" finish (obtainable only in Valentine's Foulards, remember) protects the surface of the silk absolutely and thus prevents rain "spots"—in this way doubling, or tripling the ordinary life of a Foulard gown or waist.

Therefore, in buying Foulards INSIST on seeing "Valentine's Shedwater Foulards;" they cost you but little if any more than inferior, unknown, or unguaranteed imitations.

Made in several widths, retailing from $1.00 a yard to $2.50—according to width and pattern.

Crippled Vendor Shoots Negro to See Him Drop.

Impulse to Use Revolver Was Beyond Control.

Victim Is Innocent Man Who Was Walking Past.

"I just felt like shooting some one. I wanted to see them drop and to know what it sounded like. That's all. I guess I was a bit nervous."

This was the explanation of John Cash, 38 years old, a crippled pencil and shoe lace vendor, made yesterday who shot and killed Frank Harris yesterday afternoon. He says he just wanted to see some one drop.

afternoon a few minutes after he had fired four shots into the back of Frank Harris, a negro express driver, living at No. 810 Linden street. Harris died before medical assistance could be given him.

The shooting took place at Second and Los Angeles streets about 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Cash had a small stand on the corner. Harris was walking south on Los Angeles street and apparently did not notice Cash. An instant after he had passed the peddler, the latter whipped a 32-caliber revolver from his pocket, leveled it at the negro's back and pulled the trigger four times. Though the negro fell instantly, all four bullets took effect.

Patrolmen Toomey and Harrison were near by. Harrison is the traffic officer at the corner and Toomey was on duty in that vicinity. The officers seized the peddler and pinned him to the sidewalk, before he could discharge the last cartridge in the revolver.

JUST TO HEAR HIM DROP.

Cash looked up into their faces from his prostrate position, and smilingly asked: "Well, did you hear him drop?" On the way to Central Station, Cash talked of the shooting in an incoherent manner, saying over and over again that "I certainly did hear him drop."

In the detective bureau his nerves seemed to give way, but a physician said he was in condition to be examined. He repeated his former statement that he simply shot because he wanted to see some one fall.

"I was just sitting there fingering the gun in my pocket and thinking about things in general when I got an overwhelming desire to shoot some one," he told the detectives.

"I saw the negro come along the street, and thought he was the best man to shoot. This fellow was such a big one that I thought he would drop very nicely, so just as he walked past I pulled out my gun and let him have it."

Cash said he had purchased the gun several weeks before and had carried it in his pocket since that time.

"I get nervous fits and want to do something," he said. "So I got the gun to have it ready in case I had the chance."

MIND IS UNBALANCED.

Cash lost his left leg several years ago through disease and since that time has been slightly demented. He was confined in an asylum at Washington, D. C., and in Pennsylvania.

He went from Pennsylvania to Denver about eighteen months ago and earned a living selling papers, shoestrings and pencils on the streets. About five months ago he come to Los Angeles and took up his stand at Second and Los Angeles streets. His mental condition will be examined today.

TAKES HIS ARREST COOLLY.

Spokane Man, Charged With Embezzlement, Tells Detectives It's Result of His Creditors Becoming Excited.

At the request of the Sheriff in Spokane, A. N. Knight, reputed to be a prominent commission merchant and produce dealer of that city, was arrested yesterday afternoon by four detectives. The telegraphic communication received by the police charges Knight with having embezzled $20,000.

Knight, a well-dressed man, does not appear much concerned over his arrest. He immediately engaged an attorney, and then notified the detectives that he would answer any questions they wished to ask.

He said he had been the leading produce merchant of Spokane, but in the last few months suffered severe reverses, he had filed a bankruptcy petition, and his business is now in the hands of a receiver.

"This arrest is just the result of some of my creditors becoming excited," Knight stated. "I filed the petition several weeks ago, giving my assets as $8000 and my liabilities as $15,000. Worry over business affairs made be very ill, and after attending to the work of filing the petition in the court, my attorney advised me to take a little trip and recuperate while the hearing is pending.

"Not seeing any reason for remaining in Spokane, I came to Los Angeles and was planning to pass a few weeks in the city and at the beaches."

Knight was walking on Fifth street near Broadway when arrested. When told by the detectives that he was wanted at the police headquarters, he seemed much surprised.

KNEW HER AS MISS ASHLEY.

Witnesses in Baldwin Trial Refute Mrs. Turnbull's Testimony That She Was Known as "Lucky's" Wife.

The defense in the Baldwin will contest bombarded the claimant's attorneys with witness after witness in quick succession yesterday and all testified that they had known Mrs. Turnbull at the Hotel Oakwood in 1893, and that they had never known her other than as Miss Ashley.

The witnesses, all of whom lived in Monrovia, had been connected with "Lucky" Baldwin's ranch at Santa Anita or the Hotel Oakwood, where Mrs. Turnbull lived.

James R. Wood, the detective who sold Mrs. Turnbull's letters to the defense, was recalled to testify as to the conversation that had passed between him and Col. Pope in regard to evidence introduced in the seduction trial in 1897 against Mrs. Turnbull. He told Col. Pope that the best thing to do was to furnish all the evidence he could against Mrs. Turnbull "and bury her." Mrs. Turnbull once threatened, he said, to go to Pope's home and sit on his front steps if money was not given her. Wood told her if she did that he would have one of the servants turn the hose on her.

Thomas Pasco, of the Fremont hotel, who was proprietor of the Hotel Lincoln in Los Angeles in 1893, testified that Mrs. Turnbull registered at the Lincoln at that time under the name of Miss Ashley.

A. E. Cronenwett, proprietor of the Hotel Vista Grande, Monrovia, stated that Baldwin introduced Mrs. Turnbull to him at the Sherry House at Arcadia in 1893, as Miss Ashley.

SERIOUS CHARGE.

A complaint charging the passing of a worthless check for $50 was issued by Deputy District Attorney Richardson yesterday afternoon for James H. Garrett, brother of Attorney Garrett of the law firm of Haas, Garrett and Dunnigan. He is said to have secured a watch, chain and Elks' charm for the check, which was marked "no funds" by the bank upon which it was issued.

First in America?

LOCAL JAPANESE BUILDING TEMPLE FOR BUDDHA WORSHIP.

THE ANCIENT LIGHT of the East will be joined to the pragmatism of the West in what is possibly the first genuine Buddhist temple ever built in America, which local Japanese disciples of Gautama going up in Los Angeles. Members of the Japanese colony are building it on Savanah, between Second and Third streets.

Buddhist Temple,

are now constructing on Savannah street, between Second and Third streets, this city. Not only will this be a temple of worship after the oldest customs of the East, but it will combine every modern American method which the clever Japanese have adopted.

Two Japanese priests will be in attendance to dispense the enlightenment of the "Blessed One" to the seeker, but they will also see to it that the young Japanese of Los Angeles learn their own language as well as English and that the boy who comes under their guardianship has a comfortable room, plenty of exercise and substantial meals. The wisdom of the "Enlightened One" will be imparted to pupils, but they will also be taught the twentieth century methods by which the youngster of today is prepared for modern commercial and industrial life.

When the temple is completed, Rev. J. Izumida will have charge. With him will be Rev. Yeun Miyoki. Both are eminent Japanese scholars and both have been consecrated Buddhist priests. Mrs. Shiota will teach the Japanese language and will have charge of the six grades in which that tongue will be taught.

While the Japanese will invite Japanese parents of the local colony to send their children to this school, there will be nothing compulsory about it, nor will it seek to compete with day public schools. Mrs. Izumida will care for the children who make the school their home and will have charge of the kindergarten. This will be the first day nursery work undertaken by the local Japanese. Twenty-one bright Japanese youngsters have already matriculated for the new school and are eagerly awaiting its completion.

The temple will be forty-six by sixty-eight feet and will be three stories high. It will have steps entering the building both to the left and the right and converging at a central point on the first floor. The third story will be used as an auditorium and here the Buddhist services will be conducted. On the second floor, the offices, a small audience chamber and a dormitory for young men will be located. The first floor will be occupied by the boarding school, the dining-room, the kitchen and the children's bedrooms. This first floor has nine rooms and the second floor eleven rooms. The grounds will be supplied with a fine tennis court and a large new lawn.

It is expected that the building will be completed by May 1. The funds have been subscribed individually by Los Angeles Japanese, who are disciples of the great Hindoo prince and deity.

BACHELORS' BALL.

UNDER THE CALCIUM.

There were white, gleaming shoulders pressed against the conventional black of the men's evening dress; there were merry calls from one couple to the other, and then there was suddenly a delicious blue cast flashed over everything. It was the calcium lights, and at intervals it flashed golden brown, blue and green over the twisting and swirling throng. The effect was markedly beautiful, and the ladies clapped their hands gleefully at the sight.

The dance continued with little abatement until midnight, when the supper call sounded, and the guests formed in couples and quartettes and strolled down to the main dining salon, where another marvelous scene of beauty met their eyes.

Rare vintage wines and delicious viands were set forth in inimitable fashion. The tables were arranged for parties of six and eight, and after the principal articles on the menu had been discussed, serpentines were introduced, and in a trice the big dining salon was a mass of twisting and curling streamers of thin paper. The scene became one of almost carnival enjoyment. Debutantes ran from table to table throwing their rolls of serpentine, and many a young bachelor's heart was caught in the entangling paper, never to be released again.

Following the supper the ballroom once again called, and until the carriage call, at 3 o'clock this morning, the dancing continued.

RECEIVING.

Never were prettier gowns seen at a function than those worn by the maids and matrons. The background of rare flowers and ferns formed a handsome setting, and added that necessary touch of softness to complete the beautiful scene.

The guests were greeted by the patronesses, Mrs. Ernest A. Bryant, who was attractive in the palest of blue chiffon over white satin; Mrs. Adna R. Chaffee, handsome in embroidered white silk crepe, with corsage and flounce of rose point; Mrs. William May Garland, a Worth creation of light blue satin with pink iridescent beads made in tunic effects; Mrs. Walter Scott Newhall, delicate costume of rose satin, embroidered in harmonizing colors; Mrs. Granville A. McGowan, elaborate affair of white satin, ornamented with rhine stones; Mrs. Joseph F. Sartori, pink chiffon embroidered in pearls and rhine stones, a touch of silver adding to the effect; Mrs. Michael J. Connell, white satin covered with a pink tunic trimmed with crystals and silver; Mrs. I. N. Van Nuys, stunning creation of black net embroidered in field flowers; Mrs. Hugh Livingstone Macneil lavender satin, trimmed with amethyst; Mrs. Hancock Banning and Mrs. Randolph Huntington Miner.

HANDSOME GOWNS.

The debutantes were well represented and many of them chose to wear the frocks planned for their coming-out parties. Miss Lucille Clark looked girlish in blue pompadour silk adorned with pink roses, and Miss Juliet Borden, another bud of this season, was bright in white brocaded satin, made with an over-drape of beads. Then there was Katherine Stearns, who also wore a brocaded costume. This was a Mme. Whitney creation and was elaborately trimmed with beads and rare lace. Miss Alberta Dennis's gown was of pale blue liberty satin with loops of pearls which were gracefully caught in cluster. Miss Sally McFarland's girlish beauty was enhanced with a pretty effect of pink satin with pearl garniture. Pink rose buds and fur were also combined in the attractive design. Miss Mildred Burnett was most dainty in pink satin embroidered with pink.

Among many other gowns remarkable for their beauty were those of Mrs. Frank W. Burnett, white satin draped with chiffon embroidered in crystals; Miss Phila Millbank, coral chiffon made over gray satin, trimmed with beads; Miss Kate Van Nuys, white net embroidered in pearls and hung over pale blue satin; Mrs. Dan MacFarland, white satin with handsome over-dress of black chiffon embroidered in silver; Miss Helen Newlin, coral-colored satin, draped in lace; Miss Mary Lindley, pink satin, draped with cyartal net, lily-of-the-valley corsage; Mrs. Wesley Clark, black spangled net and gold; Miss Inez Clark, silver chiffon embroidered in roses and forget-me-nots made over pink satin; Miss Charline Coulter, pink chiffon over satin, corsage of peach blossoms; Miss Alice Elliott, black marquisette over pink satin, lace trimmed; Miss Florence Silent, pink satin with pink-spangled over-dress; Miss Nina Jones, white satin with yellow tunic edged with fox; Miss Virginia Nourse, brown satin with trimmings of old gold and pink; Miss Florence Clark, blue satin with court train of velvet, veiled in gold lace; Miss Florence Avery, hand embroidered lace over pink messaline; Miss Annis Van Nuys, electric blue net embroidered in crystals over satin; Miss Echo Allen, chantilly lace over white satin, trimmed with gold lace embroidered with green beads; Mrs. George J. Dennis, amethyst colored jeweled dress.

Mrs. Thomas Caldwell Ridgway wore white satin with over dress of white chiffon embroidered in roses, satin and rose point trimming; Miss Leota Allen, pale blue chiffon with silver; Mrs. Titian Coffee, hand-painted chiffon with silver and gray tunic; Mrs. William S. Ennis, white liberty satin made entrain, pearl trimmings and diamond ornaments; Mrs. Guy Cochran, old gold satin with mole skin trimmings; Mrs. Guy Barham, white satin draped with silver and crystal, garniture of pink roses; Mrs. Frank Hicks, pink chiffon over lavender satin, trimmed in crystals, diamond ornaments; Mrs. W. A. Barker, white satin with crystal over drape embroidered in silver and pink flowers and edged with maribou; Mrs. Walter Jarvis Barlow, jet tunic over blue satin, opal ornaments; Mrs. Burton E. Green, white satin draped in chiffon embroidered in silver; Mrs. Roland Bishop, crystal over white satin; Mrs. Willoughby Rodman, blue satin with lavender over drape with crystal embroidery; Mrs. Allan Balch, green silk with trimmings of silver and steel; Miss Annette Ives, pink chiffon and lace; Miss Sally Bonner, white satin, trimmed with white lace and red roses; Miss Clarisse Stevens, white spangled dress veiled in white chiffon; Miss Cora Ives, pink chiffon veiled in white; Mrs. Henry Owen Eversole, pale pink chiffon satin, draped in embroidered lace.

Mrs. Walter Creusbaur of New York appeared in Nile green net trimmed with pink roses and silver lace.

Miss Mina Bernard of New Orleans, rose satin trimmed with gold; Miss Ashazah Stimson of Seattle, light blue spangled net over blue satin, trimmed with red roses; Mrs. E. T. Stimson, green satin draped with green and gold, trimmed with gold lace; Miss Fanny Rowan, white chiffon and white satin, garlands of pink roses; Miss Katherine Kittenger of Seattle, lavender spangled gown over blue satin, trimmed with pink roses; Miss Clara Vickers, pink satin with over drape of embroidered lavender; Miss May Rhoades, white and pink flowered chiffon over blue messaline, trimmed with bands of silver and pink roses; Miss Marjorie Utley, pale blue satin trimmed with crystal; Mrs. West Hughes, gold marquisette and lace over black satin, diamonds; Mrs. W. S. Hook, Jr., short dancing frock of white satin with overskirt of crystal chiffon; Mrs. Frank Griffith, white satin and tulle embroidered in crystal; Mrs. Russel Taylor, black satin, draped with silver spangled chiffon. The bodice was finished with a poinsettia. Mrs. Samuel Haskins, chantilly lace over pink satin, trimmed with gold.

Mrs. Robert Marsh wore a white lace tunic over electric blue silk, corsage of orchids; Mrs. Walter Miller Clark, white satin embroidered in pearls; Mrs. John Kingsley Macomber, black satin with pearl trimmings; Miss Grace Mellus, green crepe de chine; Miss Gertrude King, pale green satin with diamonds; Miss Katherine Mellus, pretty affair of turquoise blue and gold satin; Mrs. Kate Vosburg, black jet embroidered in sea shells; Mrs. W. W. Mines, white lace and chiffon edged with lynx; Miss Caroline Trask, American beauty chiffon over pink satin, with passamenterie trimmings; Mrs. John Milner, imported pink moire, draped in silver; Mrs. Godfrey Holterhoff, Jr., gold lace and crystal, diamonds; Mrs. T. B. Crane, white satin, gold trimmings; Mrs. Fielding J. Stilson, pink flowered chiffon over pink satin; Mrs. Harry Coburn Turner, pink satin gown with crystal over-dress; Mrs. Boyle Workman, embroidered tunic over white satin and black lace, with steel trimmings; Mrs. Walter Leeds, white chiffon over white satin, trimmed with pearl beads; Mrs. Rae Smith, turquoise satin trimmed with gold brocade.

Butting In?

DOESN'T LIKE INTERFERENCE.

BOARD OF EDUCATION WILL RUN ITSELF, PLEASE.

Parent-Teacher Associations Come in for Mild Criticisms for Offering to Use Private Funds for School Supplies—Incipient Hazing in High Schools Scored.

The question as to exactly what are and what are not the functions of parent-teacher associations in school affairs, more particularly when their activities appear to be open to the indictment of "encroahment and interference" upon those of the Board of Education, was given an airing at the meeting of that body last night. The request by the Parent-Teacher Association of Ramona school to put in some lighting fixtures there, precipitated the opinion from President Scott that the buying of useful supplies was the business of the school board and not of private individuals.

Member Guinn opined that the parent-teacher associations had a way of "sticking themselves in," citing as a "piece of interference" their action in securing a $40 bell system for the Alpine-street school, which he declared to be an entirely uncalled-for frill. An unintended but quite apropos reply from the associations was furnished by that of the Cornwell-street school, calling attention to the need there of larger grounds, another ungraded room, better sanitary conditions, some electric fixtures, a piano and a mimeograph.

Member Frank directed attention to two habits which, he said, appear to be on the increase in the different city high schools—that of petty thieving and of hazing and general "roughhouse" among the students. He recommended watchmen in the locker rooms for the one and some sort of suasion on the part of the school principals for the other, by way of nipping the twain in the bud.

The matter of choosing a secretary to succeed the late Norman S. Averill was deferred by the board until the return of Superintendent Francis. The latter leaves next Saturday with Dr. Karr to attend the National Convention of School Superintendents, to be held at Mobile. He will be absent two weeks.

Upon the recommendation of the Building Committee, the board will spend about $2000 in increasing the heating and ventilating capacities of fifteen of the city schools to at least 1200 cubic feet per classroom. This will be accomplished by alterations in the fan and motor apparatus, the work to be done by the Machinery and Electrical Company.

In the grammar grades, the resignations of the following teachers were accepted: Ethel P. Graham, Margaret Thole, Birdie M. Phillips and Ellen R. Mead. Leave of absence was granted Aileen E. Staub, Nora Sterry, Oliver W. Best, Gertrude Ambrose, May E. Shunk, Katherine M. Saunders, Ethel Cocke, Grace Buck, Mary L. Buck, Helen Baker and Elizabeth Miller. The following substitute teachers were named: Pearl Rowe, Elsie Langenhagen, Kate C. Clarke, Frank B. Fitch, Ethel Richards, Marie Hopkins, Hilda Kellison, Fay Silverthorn, Agnes Hanifan, Adele Boquist, Esther Hooner, Alice E. Bell, Grace B. Wilson, Ida Daggett, Mary E. Nourse, Emily Johnson and Mabel A. McNeely.

Roy L. Haslett was elected playground director, subject to the emergency appointment rule. In the High School department, James E. McBurney was granted leave of absence and Florence L. Dodge elected as a substitute teacher.

Easter vacation for both common and high schools will begin April 10, to last one week.

MEETING TO TALK VOTES.

Teachers Will Assemble En Mass to Hear Suffragettes 'Enlarge on the Ballot for Women—Hour Changed.

The mass meeting of all the teachers in Los Angeles at Blanchard Hall next Tuesday afternoon in the interest of woman's suffrage, will be held at 4 o'clock instead of 3 o'clock at night. The women have decided on this change in the hour to suit the convenience of the hundreds of teachers who may wish to attend.

Miss Lloy Galpin of the College Woman's Equal Suffrage League will be in charge. She will be assisted by at least twenty prominent society women. A few men will also take part, among them being J. B. Monlux, deputy Superintendent of Schools; I. B. Thurston, president of the Schoolmasters' Club, and J. H. Braly of the Political Equality League. Acting as ushers will be Misses Gladys Pollard, Erma Paggart, Mary Bacon, Georgia Johnson, Augusta Miller, Mabelle Seeley, Ruth Cullen, Murial Tottenham and Dorothy Trask.

After speaking by Mrs. A. S. Lobingier and Mrs. Shelley Tolhurst, an informal reception will be tendered by Miss Verna Blythe, Miss Maria de Lopez, Mrs. Berthold Baruch, Mrs. John Haynes and Mrs. John de Laney.

With practically every city in the country represented in the exhibition, the National Style Show and convention of the National Association of Merchant Tailors of America opened in Washington yesterday.

XLVTH YEAR. WEDNESDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 15, 1911. Trains and Streets On All News Stands. 5 CENTS.

Farewell.

ADIOS HANDICAP LAST FEATURE.

Passing of the Thoroughbred at Emeryville.

Get-away Day Slumps Off Into a Stampede.

"Busted" Horsemen Strive to Earn Car Fare.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Tomorrow will be get-away day at Emeryville. With the running off of a card of seven races, the bay track will close its gates, and, with the Walker-Young anti-gambling law going into effect tomorrow, the racing outlook in California at this time is very gloomy.

The majority of the followers of the thoroughbred hold out but few hopes for the future of the game in this State, but the race track people are banking their optimistic views on the stringent anti-gambling law in New York being knocked out.

No special races, except the Adios handicap, have been fixed for the final day of the racing season. In fact, everyone is so blue over the premature end of the season and the possible close of all racing in the State that they have no thought for any spectacular closing exercises.

The races for the last week have been erratic, with some very raw work on the part of the jockeys, who have succeeded in taking long shots over the wire in fields where the expert handicapper didn't give them a ghost of a chance. The crowds have also been small, because of the bad weather, and the betting has not been brisk. About all the money wagered has changed hands in the cigar stands and saloons in this city.

The meeting at Emeryville has run eighty-two days of the announced 100 days and the abrupt end which the passing of the adverse law brought about resulted in the declaring off of the California derby, which was to be run on February 22, and the four 2-year-old stakes.

Immediately after the track closes down the horsemen will scatter to other parts. The majority will head for Juarez, a few will ship East and there will be a number who will stay at Emeryville and await the opening of the inter-mountain circuits. The owners who have not met with success at the meeting will doubtless be forced to sell their horses at big sacrifices.

ARASEE'S LAST RACE.

Tomorrow is the last chance to secure get-away money. The Adios handicap of a mile and seventy yards is the feature of the card of seven races and has attracted eight clever performers, of which Arasee is the best known. Early Wright's consistent performer has been asked to carry top weight of 120 pounds and the weight he is according to the other starters will probably bring about a good race.

There will be a sale held in the paddock tomorrow in which James Magrane will auction off some well known horses. Rosevale, Hooray, Netting, C. S. Wilson's string and other racers will be put under the hammer.

George Archibald, who rode three winners today, signed a contract with R. F. Carman for a year, dating from April 24. The boy rode for "Conductor" McManus last season and met with much success. Carman, who has an extensive string wintering at Belmont Park, will leave for Los Angeles after Emeryville closes. He expects to spend a month or two in the South.

Bubbling Water, the queen of the Western turf, will be shipped to Louisville on April 15, and has been entered in many of the stakes to be run there. Trainer Al Farrell declares the mare will be raced around New York this summer and in the fall will be taken to England to strive for honors.

Matt Winn sent a telegram today affirming the news from Juarez that the meeting would run to April 10, and that racing would be conducted seven days in the week.

DICKERS WITH JOCKEY.

Jack Keene was dickering with J. McIntyre today for the latter's services at the Louisville meeting this spring. The jockey wanted $500 a month for his services and Keene is considering the proposition. In the event that they come to terms Thomas will likely be left to ride the Keene horses on the inter-mountain circuit.

Gene Moyne stirred up the selling race war after the third race when he boosted Raleigh to $1000 at which figure Owner Frank Doss retained his galloper.

George Snyder, the ex-jockey, is at the track negotiating for a carload of mares which he will use for breeding purposes.

DIGGER STANLEY SCENTS A MOUSE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PROVIDENCE (R. I.) Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Manager Slattery of the Rhode Island Club of Thornton is looking about for a substitute for Digger Stanley. Al Delmont may get the holiday match with young Dyson. Frankie Burns, too, is considered, so is Sammy Kellar and Young O'Leary.

Alf Mackey, in a letter to a friend in this city puts all the blame on Stanley for breaking his word with the club. Stanley, he says, is weary of American methods. The adverse reports following his bouts with Young Pierce, Frankie Burns and Tommy O'Toole have completely disheartened him and he intends to sail for home at once. His excuse is that he is neglecting his "rubber" business by remaining here for matches. He has earned considerable money in three matches, but he believes that there is a job on to rob him of his title.

GREAT STADIUM FOR ALL SPORTS.

Griffith Park Improvement Ideas Expansive.

Ed Tufts Starts Movement for Public Fun.

Golf links in Griffith Park for the general public.

Free tennis courts in profusion.

A big stadium for amateur sports.

Business men of this city who are interested in outdoor sports have been in consultation with the Mayor and the members of the Park Commission regarding these three projects.

One or all of the projects are to become actualities.

Although golf is supposed to be an exclusive game for the "few" in the country clubs, the men who are trying to have it "passed around" to the public in this city are leading figures in the country clubs.

The prime mover is Edward B. Tufts, president of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association. He was one of the first men to take up golf in Southern California and has never let go.

Mr. Tufts has taken the matter up several times with the Mayor and with Park Commissioner Charles Silent into whose hands the rejuvenation of the city parks has virtually fallen. No definite decision has been arrived at.

While recognizing the advantages of the plan, Mr. Silent has been somewhat wary up to this time on account of the heavy expense of building golf links and the scarcity of money in the park department.

The Mayor has been tackled particularly with regard to increasing the number of free tennis courts in the city parks. There are only two at present; those are at Sycamore Grove.

The reports of the foreman of that park have led the Mayor to believe that the courts were not in very great demand, and were empty half the time. Those interested in the three projects have convinced the Mayor, however, that the reports, while perfectly true, are not an index to the real conditions.

"The reason that those courts are not more in use," said Tufts yesterday, "is because there are not enough of them.

"No one wants to go away over to Sycamore Grove for the chance of getting a game on one of two courts. If they had ten courts, they would be filled all the time. There ought to be courts at every park where it is possible to put one. It costs a lot of money to make a tennis court. The game should not be limited to those who can afford a private one.

As to the golf links at Griffith Park, I feel that it would be a great mistake not to install them. They are about to make extensive improvements at

GLEASON WOULD BUY THE BROWNS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jack Gleason, owner of the San Francisco Club of the Pacific Coast League, and who with Tex Rickard staged the Jeffries-Johnson prize fight at Reno, wants to become the owner of a major league franchise.

Gleason let this be known at the meeting of the American League magnates today at which the recent sale of the St. Louis Browns was to be investigated. Considerable talk was devoted to the status of Robert L. Hedges and his ownership of the Browns, but nothing was done regarding the future affairs of the club.

Gleason, who is in Chicago especially to attend the meeting, announced his willingness to buy the Browns, but Hedges came back with a retort to the effect that the club was not on the market.

Warren Gill, former Pirate and White Sox first baseman, last year with Minneapolis, has been purchased by the Washington Americans.

BIG ENTRY LIST.

A.A.U. Meet Attracts College Athletes While Y.M.C.A. to Enter Entirely New Contenders.

Entries are coming in fast for the A.A.U. track meet scheduled for February 22, and present indications are that it will be the biggest track event ever held in Southern California.

Coach Stanton at Pomona College has entered fifteen men, including a relay team. He is figuring strong on taking the intercollegiate honors of the meet. Dean Cromwell says he will enter his entire squad if necessary for U.S.C. to win, so that the competition seems likely to be keen.

W. R. Seth, a 440-yard man, who claims a good record in an Ohio college, has just entered under the colors of the Southern California Athletic Club. The club is getting a number of strong men lined up in its ranks. At the present time it looks very much like the winners of the open events.

Efforts will be made to get a good representation from the local Y.M.C.A. in the meet. The association has some good indoor athletes. Many of these could win points against the athletes entered in the open events.

ORANGE UP AGAINST IT.

Basketball of the snappiest variety will be seen at Orange tonight when the Orange Athletic Club team is to clash with a quintette of Whittier stars. The Whittier team is composed of a number of good players who have competed on the college or high school teams in the past. The lineup will include "Bill" Hatch, of football fame, MacCaslin, one of the old college cacks, and Oliver, Loudon and Lester, each of whom made a good record on the high school team three years ago.

HOCKEY TONIGHT; LUMINOUS BALL.

UNIQUE SPORTING EVENT AT SANTA MONICA.

Men and Women Stars to Come Out by Moonlight—Old Polo Grounds Have Dried Out Sufficiently to Play a Fast Game Which Is to Be Modified.

The moonlight hockey game with the luminous paint ball, is to be pulled off between two teams in the Santa Monica Hockey Club on the old polo grounds near Santa Monica tonight.

O. B. Marshall is to captain the "Reds," and P. J. Dudley will endeavor to lead the "Greens" to a reversal of form and defeat their antagonists.

The teams are composed of both men and women players. Prominent among the members of the fair sex, who are scheduled for the contest tonight, is Mrs. Widdoson. She plays an aggressive game and is considered one of the strongest members of the "Greens" eleven.

Rules which have been made up especially for the moonlight game prohibit hard drives, as the ball is liable to be lost outside the side lines if driven too strenuously.

Several English people in Duarte are organizing a team which is to play the winners of the Santa Monica match soon.

The match tonight was to have been played last evening but was postponed on account of the muddy condition of the field. The old polo grounds seem to have dried sufficiently to make the game fast and interesting tonight.

president of M. & M., is the chief mover in a plan to establish free golf links in Griffith Park.

WHITE HOPE MAY REFUSE TO BATTLE JIM FLYNN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Carl Morris denies absolutely that he is matched to fight Jim Flynn of Pueblo, Colo., as has been reported. Morris's manager, B. F. Ufer, also denies any knowledge of the match and Eddie Robinson, who was said to have made the match, has no authority to make matches for Morris.

Telegrams addressed to Flynn have been received, however, and many persons believe the match has been arranged and is being kept quiet. Morris's new trainer arrived at Tulsa today, but it is declared Morris will not enter the ring before March. He is being trained by "Con" Riley and Harry Wueat of Cincinnati.

PUEBLO (Colo.) Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fighting fireman, left last night for Oklahoma City, where he expects to secure a bout with Carl Morris, known as the "White Man's Hope," although it is understood here that contracts have not been signed by Morris.

Flynn received an offer here several weeks ago to meet Morris February 22. He took it for granted that the match was a go and has been in training here for more than a week. Since then it is understood that Morris has made the statement that he will under no condition meet Flynn, as the latter is too good a man for him to go against in this stage of his ring career.

WATCH THE SPEEDOMETER, ORDERS CHIEF SEYMOUR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jack Johnson celebrated his return to San Francisco today by appearing before Police Judge Conlan and demanding a trial by jury on the charge of violating the automobile speed law.

"I don't see, either, why this court should make me put up $500 bail when any other man would be let off on $25," complained the colored champion.

Judge Conlan explained that Johnson must put up a larger bail because he disregarded the policeman who ordered him to stop and only put on Johnson asked for a continuance, saying his wife was ill and he didn't want to be away from her today. The case was set down for Friday.

After leaving the court room, Johnson called on Chief Seymour and said he would like to discuss the city's speed laws.

"There's nothing to discuss," replied Seymour. "You watch your speedometer and keep out of trouble."

It was the coolest reception Johnson had been given in the offices of a Chief of Police, and he seemed stunned at such lack of consideration. He got into his car without a single and set [illegible]

NEW RULES TO CURB VERNONS.

Ball Players Must Be in Bed Before Midnight.

Supposed to Be Dressed by 8 O'clock Every Morn.

Four Hours Practice; Half Mile Run Each Day.

"All the players on the Vernon team," said Hap Hogan, yesterday, "have got to observe regular hours during the training period, at least, and must go through certain stunts up to July 1. After that time they can look out for themselves in a way.

"We, meaning by that the Vernon club, will spend money to get them into condition for ball playing, and after the season opens they will not be 'babied' so much. We intend to follow out the rules laid down by the big leagues as far as managing players is concerned, and each man will be expected to help us out, with particular reference to himself or suspensions may follow, and there is no salary during suspension.

"Players not in condition, owing to their own carelessness, will have it handed to them. All men must be in bed by 11:30 o'clock at night unless they have some valid excuse and they are supposed to be out of bed at 8 o'clock in the morning. This goes for all of the season. The men are to report for morning practice at 10 o'clock every morning if the club is going bad.

Concerning the Vernon team as a whole Hogan states that the players have been ordered to report at the Vernon grounds on Monday, February 27, at 10 o'clock. At least twenty-two men are to be there. After a little warming up all of the men except the pitchers will be put through light batting practice, each man to take his turn at the bat. Following this light stuff, which will end at 11:30 o'clock, there will be a team run of thirty minutes on the road, all the players to go on the trip.

When the boys return about noon each one will be rubbed by the trainer and the sore spots worked out of their arms. Then they will have luncheon.

The boys are to report at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and they will go through practically the same routine of the morning, except that the players will take their regular positions and the extra men will bat the ball to them, the same as in the practice before the games. Following the afternoon practice the players will be rubbed and those that have sore arms or muscles will be given some extra treatment. No special system of diet will be followed and no rigid rules enforced as to the amount of beer or stimulants a player may drink.

Hap believes that every man is the best judge of what he can stand in the way of beer and that all he will have to do is to keep himself in shape to play good ball, barring accidents or sickness. If he cannot keep himself right on account of dissipation he will be fined or suspended.

The only man ever suspended by the Vernon team was Pitcher Vance, who was put on the shelf for a week and fined $25 two years ago, for drinking too much booze.

In the Vernon practice the three catchers will be kept busy with the ten pitchers that Hogan will start with. The beavers will be Hitt, Willett, Schafer, Brackenridge, Carson, Raleigh, Dye, Castleton, Stewart and Cice. Bill Aldridge is to have charge of the pitchers as trainer and rubber and there will be another trainer for the other men.

The methods to be used by the Los Angeles team in the practice work will be about the same as for the Vernon team, for all the training is done by one system. Hogan intends to keep his Vernon players in this city, while Manager Berry of the Los Angeles team will show a little more class, for he intends to send his team to the springs on March 1 for two weeks.

Jacksonville Results.

JACKSONVILLE (Fla.) Feb. 14.—Probably the largest crowd ever seen at a Florida race track was at Moncrief Park today, the occasion being the third ladies' day of the meeting. As feature attractions, the third and fourth races were arranged for mules and goats. They divided attention and both events resulted in good races and furnished much amusement. Summary:

Four furlongs: New Haven won, Gold Mine second, Arany third; time, 0:49.

Five and one-half furlongs: Rad Bob won, Definite second, Golden Ruby third; time, 1:08.

Mule race, mile: Simon Slick won, Bad Bill second, Steamboat Bill third; time, 2:35.

Six furlongs: Oakhurst won, John A. Munro second, Mapleton third; time, 1:13 3-5.

Goat race, one furlong: Chartee won, Felix second, Rabbitt third; time, 0:46 3-5.

Six furlongs: Melsande won, Governor Gray second, Hanbridge third; time, 1:12 2-5.

Mile and seventy yards: Voltaire won, Rio Grande second, Cheery Valley third; time, 1:45 2-5.

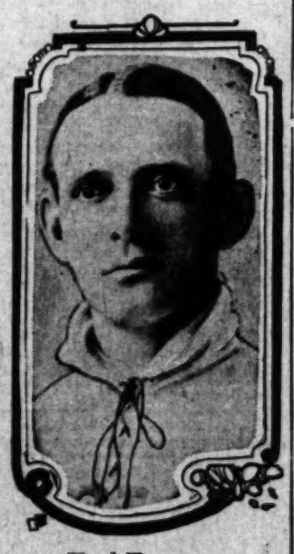
Mile and seventy yards: Radium Star won, Canaplan second, Gladero third; time, 1:45 4-5.

RED SOX HUNT GETS HERE FIRST.

Rain Drives Pitcher Out of Sacramento—Raymer Goes to Vancouver—Joe Tinker Wants to Play Third—Hap Hogan Says His Team Is Well Paid.

Ben Hunt, the former Sacramento pitcher who twirls for the Boston Red Sox, is one of the big leguers to arrive, having reached here yesterday. He intended to remain longer in Sacramento, but there was so much rain there that the wetness made him nervous, and he decided to come to Los Angeles to get away from the storms.

Tom Hasty is to work out with the Vernons when they begin their spring practice, as the Northwest League season will not begin until well along in April.



Fred Tenney,

who is to manage the Boston Nationals this year.

A big lot of fans in this city think that Hogan made a mistake in allowing Lindsay to get away from the Vernon team. They figue there wqill be few shortstops in the league this year that will beat him on eidnfig.

Bill Reidy, formerly manager of the Oakland ball team, is conducting a hotel at Sixteenth street and Broadway in Oakland and is doing well. Some of the boys say he has made a little money this winter playing the races, but you can guess this way if you want to. All the ball players that made any money playing the races could be counted on one finger with little effort.

Hamilton Patterson, the Vernon first baseman, has been living this winter at his home in Belleville, Ill. In the town paper he is spoken of as a bowler, which shows he is something else in the sporting line besides a ball player.

Fred Raymer, the second baseman with the Sacramento team a part of last season, intends to get back into the game this season and has signed to play with Kitty Brashear's Vancouver team. Raymer played good ball until he was put out of business by being hit on the head with one of Moser's pitched balls.

Shortstop Joe Tinker of the Chicago Cubs wants to play third base this year and says that when he signs this year it will be with the understanding that he will play third. There is no reason why he could not beat Steinfeldt to it, for Stein is said to be all in.

Cleveland takes four players from the Portland team this year and gives McCredie four to replace them. These are pitchers Koestner and F. Breaden, infielder Roger Peckinpaugh and catcher Jack Bradley.

Hap Hogan of the Vernon team says his club was secnod highest last year in the Pacific Coast League in the matter of salaries, but he refuses to state which club paid more than the Vernons. It must have been the Oakland team, for it was made up of a bunch of real ball players.

You have to go away from home to get news about your own locality. A Portland paper very solemnly asserts that Hap Hogan got his new outfielder Tico at "Oxnard College," and signed him at once. Furthermore, it is declared that Hen Berry wanted him and the Portland paper wants to know who Tico belongs to. Berry probably never heard of Tico and naturally did not want him very much.

The Oregon Juornal figures this year that the Coast League teams will finish Portland, San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles, Sacramento and Vernon. This is a terrific slap at Hap Hogan, who does not see how he can keep from winning the pennant with his Vernon team.

"From long experience, I feel sure that the links would not be as expensive as Mr. Silent imagines. In my opinion they would be self-supporting.

"The city should charge 50 cents a month for the golf privileges.

"This sum could easily be collected by issuing cards once a month. Although the links extend over a good stretch of ground, there is only one place you can begin play.

"The custodian of the links could collect or punch the cards as every person stepped up to tee and nobody could escape him. This small fee would be nothing to the players, but it would keep up the links.

"Golf is too great a game to keep secluded. We ought to pass it around. Los Angeles is full of men and women living on small incomes who fearned to play golf in the East, but who can't afford to belong to country clubs out here.

"It is much better for a park to be a place for healthful, wholesome outdoor athletics than to fill it with mutton chop lawns and benches and mud hens and toy lakes.

"Griffith Park ought to be the great playground for Los Angeles when the city becomes too big and too crowded to offer play space to the general public.

"In Golden Gate Park in San Francisco, they have an immense stadium where you can see ten or a dozen different games all going on at the same time—baseball, hockey, la crosse, tennis, football and so on. We should have some such place in this city.

"We have the climate that permits us to play all the year around; we certainly ought to provide the places to play."

Vernon Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Vernon Baseball Association was held yesterday and the officers were re-elected as follows: Ed Maier, president; H. J. Lelande, secretary; Henry Koch, treasurer. The club was shown to be in good financial condition and what money was made last year is being put into the new Washington Park, which is being built jointly by the two local clubs.

COASTER RACES AT LUNA PARK.

"The Times" Midwinter Boys in Big Tourney.

First World's Championship to Be Decided.

Prizes to Be Awarded to All the Winners.

Luna Park is to be the center of interest for the small boy population of Los Angeles next Saturday morning when The Times "Rockaway" coaster tournament is pulled off.

Hundreds of boys won these speedy little coasters last month by selling Midwinter numbers of The Times. The meet is open to every boy who got a coaster. Already dozens of entries have come in and the baseball and athletic goods which are offered as prizes are attracting youngsters from all over Southern California.

The race will take place on the eight-lap board track at Luna Park at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. The park is to be thrown open free to every boy in Southern California.

The Luna Park management is making special arrangements to accommodate a host of spectators. The park has been recently overhauled and made one of the most attractive amusement places in the city. It is likely that special rates will be secured in some of the concessions so that the boys may have a day of fun.

A number of boys have already been down to the park to try out on the course. The conditions of the race require some previous practice so that the exhibition can be the best possible.

SPECIAL PRIZES.

One hundred special prizes are to be given out during the programme to boys in Southern California who did not sell enough copies of The Midwinter Times to get a coaster but who succeeded in disposing of more than twenty numbers.

A number of the prizes are on exhibition in the window of The Times office at No. 531 South Spring street. Several cash prizes are to be given out in addition to the athletic goods.

One lap dash for boys under 12 years: catcher's mitt, first prize; "Nemo" cap, second prize.

One lap dash for boys 12 to 15 years: Sweater, first prize; "Nemo" cap, second prize.

One lap dash, free for all: Reach catcher's mitt, first prize; first baseman's mitt, second prize; "Nemo" cap, third prize.

One lap race against time: $2.50 in cash, first prize; $1.50 in cash, second prize. The winner of this race will hold the world's Rockaway record for one-eighth of a mile.

Two-lap race against time: $2.50 in cash, first prize; $1.50 in cash, second prize, $1.00 in cash, third prize.

One mile relay race: (open to three teams of eight boys each.) A sweater will be given to each member of the wining team; "Nemo" cap to each member of the second place team.

Quick turning races for time: Baseball mitt, first prize; "Nemo" cap, second prize.

Exhibition on "Rockaway" speed skates that are to be given to boys who sell The Sunday Times.

FISH AND GAME COMMISSION OUT.

[Associated Press Night Report.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 14.—The bill to abolish the Fish and Game Commission and to place the work formerly done by the commission under the State Forester, was passed by the Assembly, 42 to 34, at this afternoon's session.

The State Forester is empowered to appoint a deputy at a salary of $3600 per year, who shall have the appointment of six other deputies for six different districts, at salaries of $150 a month each.

The bill was opposed by Assemblymen Chandler and Bohnett. It was defended by Griffiths. The argument occupied most of the two sessions today.

Doyles Win Again.

The Doyles ball team, made up largely of players from the McCormick team, beat the colored Giants yesterday at the Vernon grounds by a score of 4 to 3. Jones and Williams were the heavers and both pitched good ball. Only a small crowd of fans saw the contest.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The matchmaker of the White Rock Athletic Club announces he has signed up his two events for Friday night's four-round boxing show at Dreamland Pavilion. Willie Ritchie, new claimant for the lightweight title, will oppose Charlie Reilly, a seasoned San Francisco boxer, in the wind-up. Ritchie has not fought since he defeated Abe Label so handily and is in good shape. Reilly has been acting as sparring partner for the boxers who have been furnishing the twenty round contests in San Francisco during the last few months, and will enter the ring in fine condition. Rufus Williams, the colored welterweight who has been bowling over all comers, will be resurrected by the club for the special event. Sailor Ed Bowers, who knocked out Patsy McKenna last month, will be the colored pugilist's opponent. Six other four round goes will precede these two bouts.

JOCKEY LEAVES FORTUNE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Racing men here declare that the will of the late Tom Loates, the famous English jockey, who died in Paris last week, shows an estate valued at about $450,000. This is said to be the largest fortune ever left by a professional jockey.

MRS. MADDEN LOSES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

COLUMBUS (Ohio) Feb. 14.—Mrs. Anna E. Madden, now the wife of Louis V. Bell of New York, lost both her cases in the Supreme Court today by which she sought to retain her alimony interest in the estate of her divorced husband, John E. Madden of Cincinnati.

TEN ROUND DREW.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Young Ahearn and Tommy Maloney boxed a slashing, smashing ten round draw at the Fairmont Athletic Club tonight. Maloney had a shade the better of the early milling, but Ahearn finished strong and evened up the score. There never was a dull second in the ten rounds.

KID HENRY WINS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ALBANY (N. Y.) Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jeff Smith, the Bayonne fighter, did well to stay ten rounds with Kid Henry, Troy's classy negro welterweight, at the Knickerbocker Athletic Club here tonight. The bout was fast and both men took enough punishment to keep the crowd on edge throughout, but Henry had the better of the argument by a shade.

MACKEY GETS DRAW.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Biz Mackey and Al Delmont fought a fast ten-round draw at Brown's Gymnasium tonight. In the first round Delmont scored a knockdown, but Mackey was up immediately and forced the fighting.

KILBANE BEATS WHITE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COLUMBUS, Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland easily outpointed Jack White of Chicago here tonight and gained the decision at the end of the twelfth round. White had the more steam to his blows, but he landed only six times during the entire bout. Kilbane jabbed White repeatedly with his left and drew blood and also had White's eyes badly puffed at the finish. Kilbane did not show a mark.

Prizes for Our Boosters.

League balls, catchers' mits, fielders' mits, first basemen's mits, fine high-grade sweaters, Little Nemo caps will be among the prizes to be awarded at The Times coaster races at Luna Park next Saturday. These prizes will also be given to the boys who secured over twenty Midwinter orders, but did not get enough to win a coaster.

A "satisfactory season" is reported by members of the Blue Wing shoot preserve. Attorney George P. Adams, Dr. A. F. Schiffman, Hugh Glassell, E. L. Allen, Dr. C. B. Jones, C. W. Leffingwell, Jr., C. A. Stilson and W. F. Ball were prominent Blue Wing shooters who managed to "scratch out" ten or fifteen birds every time they hunted the elusive duck.

Samuel Hall, Louis Decker, Jacob Danz, E. A. Featherstone, A. E. Morro, Ed Hedderly and L. E. Parker did most of the shooting at the Canvasback Gun Club. Prominent among the huntsmen who shot at the Cazadores resort were: Fred A. Watson, J. T. Bailey, Edward Zobelein, P. S. Hardin, H. J. Brainerd, W. H. Bullinger, F. H. Lyon and A. K. Bratter. Shooting was excellent the foregart of the season on the Cazadores preserve.

Attorney John W. Kemp, Dr. S. Gibbons, Ralph Moss, George P. Taylor and J. E. Parker enjoyed fine sport at the Algonquin Gun Club. Barrister Kemp bagged the limit early in the season.

Members of the Blue Bill Gun Club enjoyed fair shooting. D. I. Polhamus, C. L. Bisbee, W. T. Graham, Edward S. Shattuck and C. H. Eaton did most of the hunting.

Shooting at the Bolsa Chica grounds was excellent until the last three weeks, when the flooded marshes and heavy rains interfered with the sport. M. J. Connell, William M. Garland, E. J. Marshal, F. S. Hicks, Lawrence Burck, A. L. Auten, F. H. Stevens, Howard Huntington and Dr. Mubank Johnson scratched out good numbers of the feathery water birds at odd times during the season.

W. H. Holmes, F. M. Notmen, F. M. Lyon, E. B. Tufts, F. R. Harris and Dr. A. C. Thorpe passed many enjoyable hours on the Pacific Gun Club grounds and several bagged the limit.

W. H. Stimson, George Bayley, C. M. Wood, R. Llewellyn, H. H. Kerckhoff, H. W. Keller and A. R. Maines were "entertained" by the ducks at the Del Rey resort.

Among the hundreds of Los Angeles duck hunters who indulged in the keen sport during the season were: Joe Welsh, W. E. Griggsby, James Cuzner, W. L. Valentine, E. M. Wilson, E. Schulte, B. V. Collins, S. P. Dysinger, Fred W. Flint, J. A. Anderson, J. W. Burson, W. R. Leeds, Ben Williams, Bernal Dyas, Fred Hartman, Joseph Levy, J. J. Streets, J. P. Amestoy, Fred Hines, George W. Lasher, H. S. Lewis, J. B. Banning, J. M. Larronde, E. A. Badie, Thomas Barnett, Frank Hill, L. Hughes, E. W. Murphy, W. H. Nevin, Frank Garbutt, O. P. Roller and Edward Mitchell.

GOSSIP ALONG GASOLINE ROW.

H. O. Harrison is coming today. This time he says there will be no change in his plans. He is due in Los Angeles this morning. Welcome, Harry.

Don Lee is not here yet. Having a good time? Why, of course he is. He's having the time of his life.

P. H. Greer is holding a contest. He is sure that he got the most benefit out of the San Diego trip. He sold cars and, better still, he has a number of prospects which are red hot.

Bill Ruess did not go to San Diego. He perhaps did better. "Cap" Jargstarff was sent and closed two sales for Pope-Hartford cars.

Oscar Werner sold a Simplex car while in San Diego. He went to Coronado and watched the polo game and secured a prospect which netted him a sale yesterday.

Tom Williams is planning a tour over one of the routes which this pink sheet is to publish. Tom says he has one of the best ever. He ought to know, because he has driven the Peerless and the Everitt over many miles of road.

Lewis Schwaebe is in San Diego watching the hills in the direction of Tia Juana. He wants to see some of the insurrectos bagged by the government troops and will probably drive the Premier "pathfinder" to the borderland to watch the fun when the popping begins.

Charles Cotton is studying the methods of other salesmen. His have proved mighty good for the past year, but he wants to get all the pointers possible.

Harry Lord is among the top-notchers in sales for January. The Flanders and the E-M-F are being disposed of in numbers and Lord is happy.

Lester Patee came in from Pasadena yesterday to talk over affairs with "Doc" Green at the Lee Motor Car Company. Lester is doing remarkably well in the Crown City and is selling many Cadillacs.

P. A. Renton is selling cars. Let him show to you his list of sales for January. It is a long one. P. A. is right there when it comes to closing deals and he has a host of devoted agents.

W. H. Halliwell is doing well, he is glad to tell. The Warner autometer is being placed on many big cars and the business is excellent, according to Charles, manager of the local branch.

Fred Flint was surprised to see what a fine market for motor cars has been opened in San Diego. The Stoddard-Dayton business there is excellent.

Woods R. Woolwine has taken a new lease of life. He looks younger and handsomer than ever. He is making a great showing with the Cartercar.

THREE HOME RUNS.

Ping Bodie Drives the Ball Over the Vallejo Garden Walls—Good Day's Work.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VALLEJO, Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Ping" Bodie is up to his old tricks. Big as the local grounds are, the outfield fences are not too far away for the champion home run slugger of the Pacific Coast League, to swat the pellet over three times in one practice game. The fans here are all talking about his furious drives to the outskirts. They were really long hits—hits that would go for homers on most any field.

A local curve artist took a stand in the box and pitched to Bodie, who was in fine fettle. The first ball the Seal outfielder missed, but the next one he planted where the daisies grow. When the ball disappeared over the boards it looked about the size of one of those liver pellets you read about.

"That felt so good, throw me up another," snorted "Ping," pounding his club in the dirt. The pitcher heaved up another and bing, it flew over the same garden wall. The fans were beside themselves with joy and Bodie was tumultuously applauded. After a few more swipes of various lengths "Ping" set himself and scored his third homer for the afternoon.

After the ball had disappeared Bodie grunted, "Guess I'll call it a day's work," and he slipped on his sweater and jogged back to the Monticello Athletic Club, which is his headquarters.

Going Again.

RIVERS BALKS ON HIS WEIGHT.

ASKS REAGAN TO FIGHT HIM AT "CATCH" FIGURE.

Northern Boy Gives His Consent and No Further Hitch Is Looked for—Chico and Austin Are Hammering Away and Are Expected to Furnish a Main Event in Bout.

There has been another change in the articles for the Rivers-Reagan fight at Vernon on February 22, and this time it is Rivers again. He has arrived at the conclusion that he cannot make 122 pounds for Reagan and at a conference yesterday between the representatives of the pugs it was decided to have the boys fight at catch weights.

This will put Reagan at a slight disadvantage for he can easily make 122 pounds ringside and probably could get to 120 pounds. Rivers at catch weights will doubtless weigh about 125 pounds, but will not try to take on weight, for he is not naturally a heavy boy. He probably realizes, however, that he is growing out of the featherweight division and does not wish to hurt himself too much by any strenuous reducing.

Reagan is taking many chances in allowing Rivers to go on overweight, but as neither of the boys are champions and are not fighting for a championship, it really makes little difference as long as they get the money.

The past week has necessarily been a rather quiet one in the boxing camps, for the rain storms have come so close together that the roads have not had time to become dry and there has been little or no road work. The boys, however, have made up for this by more gym work and all of them are reported in good shape. Austin and Chico are going at it hammer and tongs and the fight bugs are already figuring on this little bout to furnish as much excitemnt as the main event.

McCARTHEY IMPROVES.

Morris Bloom to Go Against San Francisco Boy Friday Night—Good Workouts.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Harry Foley is so elated over the improvement shown by Johnny McCarthy since his trip to Kansas City, where he engaged in several battles with success, that he is already figuring on matching him with the winner of the Lew Powell-Frankie Burns bout.

McCarthy will have a clever opponent in Morris Bloom of Chicago at the Wheelmen's Club across the bay Friday night. The Windy City scrapper has shown himself to be a very shifty lad, and the local boy will have to go at a fierce clip in order to beat him decisively in a six-round battle. The Chicagoan has shown rare cleverness in his workouts.

Both lads have trained hard for the bout and will easily do the weight called for in the articles.

The special bout between Willie Canoles and Ray Baughman gives promise of being a fast one. Canole and Baughman have met before, the bout ending in a draw after a tough bout. Both lads have shown speed in their recent scraps, and are exceedingly shifty boxers.

Pat Bradley, the heavy-hitting Western Club boxer, and Jim Butler are to meet in a six-round special. Bradley has not fought for some time, but has been keeping an edge on his condition by boxing regularly at the Western Club gymnasium.

MT. WILSON CLIMB.

The Mt. Wilson race will be held this year on April 12, under the auspices of the Sierra Madre Board of Trade. The winner of the mountain climb will receive a gold watch. Second and third finishers will receive silver and bronze medals, respectively. The race will start at 8:30 in the morning.

Lee Arthur,
who denounces the muck-raker, and conclusively shows that in the arts he is an out-of-date figure.

What's in You?

AN ALLEGORY OF JIMMY.

On the Rise and Fall of the Muckraker.

Popular Dramatist Shows Up This Croaking Bird.

In World of Letters He's Now a Fossil.

Author of "The Fox."

Jimmy, our neighbor's boy, and my Raymate, was a natural born muckraker. When he was about four weeks old, the old negro mammy who nursed him said that he was marked for unrest and trouble, and, if I am any judge, her prophecy came true.

I received my first lesson in muckraking from him. It was about a week before Christmas. All the boys in the neighborhood were speculating as to what Santa Claus was going to bring them. And as it had been an unusually cold winter, we had been having fires in the fire places, and one of the boys proposed that we ought to clean out the chimneys to make it easy for Santa Claus to make his descent with the toys.

Jimmy stood by with his hands in his pockets and when all the boys had left to carry out their plan of cleaning out the chimneys, he turned to me and said:

"Say, Lee, do you believe in all this bosh about Santa Claus?"

I told him that I did. Then he gave me the "ha-ha" and sneraked:

"There ain't any Santa Claus, and I can prove it."

I was dumfounded and expected Jimmy to be smitten dead on the spot for daring to utter such sacrilege. The whole of the neighborhood then proceeded to prove his assertion.

He took me to the secret of his home and showed me all the toys and presents that he and his brothers and sisters were to receive. Then we went to my home and found out where my parents had secreted the Christmas offerings.

It certainly was a shock, and as usual, when anyone receives a valuable piece of information, I wanted to impart it to my brothers and sisters. Ah, but Jimmy was not only a muck-raker; he was a philosopher, and he cautioned me to keep my mouth shut, warning me that if our parents ever got next to the fact that we were onto the Santa Claus game there would be no Christmas for us.

Well, I hung my stocking as usual, said nothing to anyone about my newly acquired knowledge, and Christmas morning I received my presents as usual, pretending that I still believed in their supernatural source. But it wasn't the same Christmas to me, and when I heard my brothers and sisters talking about Santa Claus, how he came down the chimney, his sled and his reindeers waiting above, for the first time in my life I realized that it is better to believe some things that are not true, than it is to learn the truth about matters that will mar our happiness.

My next lesson in muck-raking was received from Jimmy several years later when we were attending high school. We were going home from school one afternoon when he stopped me in front of the home of the Poo Bah of our village. The millionaire was just stepping out of his carriage when Jimmy pointed at him and began to tell me what an awful man he was.

He told me how this rich man had made all his money off the poor by charging them usurious interest, by taking their homes away from them. He was very eloquent. In a very short space he persuaded me that we both had the moral right to go to the rear of this man's home and rob his plum orchard. We did so. I did feel some pain and regret afterward, but it was caused by the fact that the plums were not ripe.

It was some years afterward that I met Jimmy again, and he coached me in my post-graduate course in muckraking.

I met him this time in New Orleans. We were both in hard luck, and needed a drink badly. But there was only one quarter between us, and this I happened to possess, for the reason that I couldn't spend it. It was counterfeit. Then, to my surprise, Jimmy lay bare before me all the evils of the liquor traffic. He dilated upon the wrongs of the saloon keeper. He depicted homes ruined and families broken by the evils of strong drink. He said that we would be conferring a great boon upon society in wresting from the rum seller some of his illgotten gains, by passing this spurious coin in exchange for a couple of drinks.

I was convinced.

Naturally you want to know what became of Jimmy. He is not writing plays for a living; neither is he serving time in any of our State prisons. He is filling the pulpit of one of the largest congregations in this country. And he also has been cured of muck-raking. It came about in this way:

When Jimmy started out to preach the gospel he was first called to a church in a small town in Kentucky. His first sermon was almost identically the one he had delivered to me outside of the saloon that day in New Orleans, about the evils of strong drink. After the services the elders of the congregation called upon him and told him that they did not want anything said in their pulpit that would injure the interests of several of the most generous contributors to the contribution box, and who happened to be manufacturers of very fine whisky.

So next Sunday Jimmy took a different tack and preached about the evils of gambling. Again the elders called upon him and told him that the greater part of his congregation was composed of men who bred race horses, and they objected to the tenor of his remarks. He then asked the elders, in the name of heaven, what must he preach about.

"Give the Mormons hell," was the unanimous reply.

Well, the elders of Jimmy's congregation are just like the owners of a lot of the popular magazines today. Whenever they are short of material they send for one of our muck-rakers and give him a commission to write an article attacking one of our public institutions. If half of the space that has been devoted to muck-raking in this country, attacking corporations, railroads, and so forth, had been used for telling the advantages we possess over all countries in the world, our credit would not have been destroyed abroad and the American who crosses the water to interest foreign capital in our industries, would not be looked upon as a crook.

Muck-raking was invented in this country by a man who, according to his own statements, is not entitled to any more respect or sympathy than a thug who turns State's evidence and informs on his pals.

The first muck-raking play that was a success was written by Charles Klein, "The Lion and the Mouse." At that time muck-raking was a disease, and nearly everyone in this country had it in a more or less aggravated form. Everyone believed that Mr. Klein was sincere, and actually believed the teachings and principles he set forth in his drama. But since then the epidemic has passed away and in his latest play, "The Gamblers," he is counsel for the defence. The only villain in this play is a muck-raker and his hero is a bank looter. Believe me, Mr. Klein gets away with it for the simple reason that the public is sick and tired of the muck-raker and his rake.

There is no limit to these muck-raking articles. Recently I read one in a magazine in which the writer had figured out exactly how many hundred thousand pounds of wood were sold for beef in the form of skewers. I wonder how much time it would take this same gentleman to figure out how many stomach aches a barrel of green apples would produce, if it were left open in a female seminary.

SEYMOUR IN LEAD.

Defeats Chick Wright in First Block of Handicap Match at Balk Line Billiards.

Arthur Seymour, the local cue artist, defeated "Chick" Wright of San Francisco, in the first round of their handicap match at the Brunswick Billiard Parlors last night. Seymour got 300 points while his opponent was rolling up 256. They played 18.2 balk line.

According to the handicap arrangement, Wright is to make 1200 points while Seymour gets 900. The match is divided into three rounds, with a 300 to 400-ball series each evening.

Seymour had his opponent beaten on an even basis last night. It will be necessary for the San Francisco player to make 544 points while Seymour is making 300 tonight, to put him on an equality for the closing round tomorrow evening.

The northern expert made high run of the evening of 72, in the eleventh inning. Seymour made his high run of 66 in that inning. The twelfth inning was also marked with high scores. Seymour secured a record of 50 to 33 by his opponent in this frame.

Sixteen innings was necessary for the winner to roll up the necessary 300 points. This made his average for the evening 18¾. This is an unusually high standing and ranks well up with the class A players.

The Los Angeles crack practically won the game through his strong sprint at the beginning of the match. He gained a good lead at the start. This somewhat nettled his opponent and enabled Seymour to keep the lead throughout the evening.

In the seventh inning Seymour secured 59 points, making a difficult masse, but failing to get the balls out of balk by a fraction of an inch. The runs were bunched all through the match.

A big crowd witnessed the contest and became very enthusiastic as the local man maintained a good margin over the expert from the north. Tonight is ladies night at the Brunswick parlors and special seats are to be reserved for the women who wish to attend the match.

BRANDON TO FLIT.

Well-Known Sydney Sport to Start for Australia Monday to Make Dates for Oldfield.

Harry Brandon, the sporting man from Sydney, N. S. W. who has been here several months on business and pleasure, is to start next Monday morning for San Francisco and will leave there Saturday night of next week for Sydney. He goes as the representative of Barney Oldfield who intends to race in Australia next fall.

Barney figures on reaching there in September and will take three or four automobiles with him and several aviators and their machines. Jim Jeffries declares that he is going also and in all probability there will be other sports in the party, for that is a great country for the sporting element. Some good American light weight fighters would do well there next fall. The rainy season is on there now and there will be little doing in the sport line until fall. Australia is distinctively an outdoor sporting country and all the big events of all kinds are shown from September 1 to March 1.

FACTS FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN.

By Olive Gray.

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: "To create and maintain a clear complexion," says a French beauty specialist, "it is necessary to partake of an orange fruit at least once a day." This rule is easy to follow, in California.

It seems to me that household inventions and conveniences have taken a new activity, during the past year or two. Have I observed so many little gadgets for simplifying and lightening the household tasks. They were brought especially to my attention recently when one of the leading home-furnishing stores established a demonstration table for the purpose of showing a few of the late novelties in this line.

Among those shown the little potato ricer, which I have heretofore described, the newest egg beater, a potato and bread slicer, and several other contrivances, each vieing but not quite obviously each a help in the kitchen. By-the-bye, I notice that the public is very ready to welcome anything new in this line. I have noticed that so many women who are housekeepers has much time. When a utensil is invented that will show just who is to use it it will be appreciated by the tired and fur.

Yesterday afternoon, a demonstration of cooking was in progress. The dainty food under consideration had a most delightful sight to make it the more appetizing, and my daintily-dressed lady demonstrator explained that it was delicious, without odor, having no cooking material is in itself apt to be unhealthy.

With regard to the shields cannot be overestimated. I have seen many pretty women whose very beauty is offensive, because of a defect in this one respect.

Spring Gowns.

Among the most beautiful of the new effects I refer to those which are made by combining two kinds of material and a number of colors. This is a style which can be ever done and, in the hands of a clever dressmaker, is not difficult. The French exhibits at the Ritz, and when their fondness for fussy to imitate them, fall in love, for the least variation in proper shades will result rather than harmony.

Shopping Bag.

Very important as the "emergency bag." It is to be made from some sanitary cloth such as white oil cloth or felt, which may be had in any strong washable material. It should contain tightly-fitting purse for use in making change in the different places, a small flask and narrow ribbon or linen for tying on the bag. It will be well to place in the flask a perfectly pure vaseline, which will be at hand and other purposes in case it is needed.

Perhaps many seem the prohibition of such articles, when the need arises, it is most urgent.

Of the big sensible views of many things says that she cannot see why so many women are wrecks in that they overwork too much, but they do not realize the burden of all are trying to accomplish. "Why," said she, "that includes today the work of tomorrow and nothing done yet! Even Thursday the day for, Thursday the shall be intended as a joke, there is much truth in it. Women do not quite as much as they seem to do in future when they are dying."

A Saving.

While women are naturally economical, I do not think that as a rule, they figure much upon percentages. When a man sees some article at a special price, he says: "I can save 25 per cent. by buying that," or "that is equal to making 30 per cent.," but a woman simply says "That's a bargain," and figures the saving by cents or dollars, as the case may be. It all amounts to the same thing, but it is one of the differences in the way of looking at the same thing.

A glove sale, which is going on at one of the Broadway stores, where $1 gloves, actual value, are selling for 50 cents, is a lesson in percentages, which is good to figure upon.

In a High Place.

I was rather surprised, in reading an article in a current magazine, upon the President's daughter, that no mention was made of the fine stand that she has made in several matters which girls should regard as important. First of all, Helen Taft put her ban upon the smoking of cigarettes, by allowing it to be distinctly understood that she did not approve of cigarettes either for girls or boys. Next, the young lady set the fashion of walking to afternoon social affairs, as she believes in walking and thinks that girls walk too little, in face of the ever present lure of the automobile. Her last move has been to use her influence for earlier hours in the social set to which she belongs. To those who have watched the blighting effect of the late hours and continuous strain thus imposed by the whirl of a Washington season, this is no unimportant innovation. I have seen a girl begin a Washington season with a complexion like milk and roses and by Lent, appear sallow and hollow-cheeked. Much of this was doubtless due to late hours. When a girl begins her day at ten or eleven and is constantly on the go until the next down, she must necessarily lose somewhat of her freshness and beauty.

There is a marked preference for the high, buttoned boot, with its Cuban heel, which is shown in calfskin and suede and also in velvet, for the tendency of fashion to make much of rich fabrics has extended even to the world of footwear.

drawn-work decorations, or else daintily embroidered floral designs.

Dull jet or enamel jewelry is invariably worn for deep mourning. Brooches, belt buckles and long neck chains for lorgnette or watch are about all that is really necessary.

The butterfly is the dominant novelty in this season's fashions. It is seen ornamenting stunning evening gowns, perched airily on charming coiffures, resting lazily on hats of velvet and fur.

Bowl-shaped turbans, hand-crocheted, are being shown at some of the best shops. They are made quite deep, fitting far down over the head, and a turned-back brim is usually of a contrasting color.

WOMEN'S WORK. WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY ROSE L. ELLERBE.

On account of the rain the meeting scheduled for teachers, Monday afternoon, was postponed until next Monday, when it will take place in Blanchard Hall. Miss Lloy Galpin has charge of the programme and is arranging for a rousing meeting. The Votes for Women Club, also postponed their election until next Monday evening. Miss Mary Foy gave a resume of the work accomplished and planned in organizing the Senatorial districts for an active campaign.

The first board meeting of the new executive board of the Political Equality League was held on Monday. Plans are well matured, Mrs. Edson having charge of the work or organization; Mrs. Tolhurst will arrange for speakers for the campaign and Mrs. Berthold Baruch has charge of public meetings. After February 25 a public meeting will be held every Saturday afternoon. The press work, under the supervision of Mrs. D. C. McCan, is being vigorously pushed.

Susan B. Anthony Memorial.

At the memorial meeting in the Woman's Clubhouse on Wednesday, Miss Jessie Anthony placed her collection of photographs and mementos of her aunt on exhibition. These include a number of interesting reminders, one of them being the card of admission to the United States Senate used by the suffrage leader.

Hollywood Woman's Club.

At its club rooms in the Library the Hollywood Woman's Club will holds its regular meeting Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. D. C. McCan will talk on Ceylon and its cities, as seen in her extended tour through the island.

George Junior Republic Benefit.

Club and society women are taking an active interest in the comedy, "Prince Chub, The Boy of the Hour," which will be put on at a matinee and in the evening, Saturday, February 18, at the Auditorium. It is hoped that a fund will thus be raised which will materially assist in carrying out the plans for the new Republic.

Matinee Musical Club.

The Matinee Musical Club meets Thursday morning in Gamut clubhouse to liten to a programme devoted to two composers, Schubert and Leschitetzky. The programme includes both vocal and piano numbers and a talk upon Schubert, by Mrs. C. A. Stutman, while A. T. Anderson will discuss the Russian composer. Tea will be served by the hostesses, Mrs. Elbert Rank, Mrs. Grant Goucher and Mrs. William Reeve.

Rosecrans Club.

At the next meeting of the Rosecrans Club, to be held Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. George B. Dexter, 2408 Juliet avenue, J. F. Kanst, will speak on "Art." Visitors will be welcome.

Friday Morning Club.

Mr. and Mrs. John Burroughs will be the guests of the club on Friday at luncheon, after the lecture on "The Psychology of Fashion," by Rev. E. Gaston Hodgin. It is hoped that our own naturalist John Muir may be able to be present also.

LADY DECIES IN HER BRIDAL GOWN, COSTLIEST EVER WORN AT SOCIETY WEDDING.

Lord and Lady Decies, Who Was Miss Vivien Gould, are enjoying their honeymoon, presumably on Devil's Island in the Atlantic off the southern coast of the United States. The costume was planned to serve the double purpose of wedding and coronation gown. It is the costliest and heaviest in weight of the gowns worn by any bride in the history of society weddings, being designed of the most expensive French fluid satin embroidered with pearl orange blossoms.

FAMOUS WOMEN.

Agnes Weston, Letter Writer. Rebecca Gratz, Heroine of Ivanhoe.

How few, like thee, inquire the wretched out,
And court the offices of soft humanity.
—Rowe.

When a little seed is sewn no one is able to tell to what a mighty tree it is liable to spring, nor when a little word of kindness is spoken or a little act from the heart is done in the right way, what a world of good either will eventually accomplish. By a little act of kindness Agnes Weston became world famous, and what she accomplished in her particular field ranks equally with the attainments of Florence Nightingale, Elizabeth Fry and other great women of the world.

Agnes Weston began her charity work early in life and along various paths, but it was through a rather interesting circumstance that she came to take up that line through which, during most of her years, she was so closely identified—the bettering, morally and spiritually, of sailors. In the early part of 1863 she wrote a letter to a Christian soldier, then on passage with his regiment from England to India. He read it and reread it, and finding comfort and help from its words of Christian sympathy, he showed it to a seaman. The seaman's eyes glistened as he handed it back, with the remark: "That is good; we poor fellows have no friend. Do you think that lady would write to me? I would give anything to receive a letter like this."

This little incident was communicated to Miss Weston. She wrote to the sailor, and that letter was the germ of all her work in the service. Her letter to the seaman brought a grateful reply, including the names of many sailors who would be glad to receive letters. Every week the correspondence grew larger. She made friendships with hundreds of blue-jackets in this simple way. "We never light our pipes with your letters," wrote one sailor, "because you think about and care for us."

The demand for letters became so great that Miss Weston was obliged to supplement them with a printed one monthly, and during the first year of issue 500 copies a month were sent to individual men, and the circulation increased so steadily that today many thousands of printed letters reach the sailors at almost every port. They are also sent to all the English naval hospitals, the coast guard stations and even to the lighthouse-keepers.

Nor did Agnes Weston's work end here. One day a deputation of lads from H. M. S. Impregnable went to her with the request: "Please, ma'am, do you think you could write us boys a letter all to ourselves? We don't understand the men's." Their wish was gratified and today the lads of the British navy receive their monthly letters distributed in sackfuls all over the world to every ship in the service.

But the most sublime of all the accomplishments by this noble woman was the establishing of a sailors' rest. She noticed that when the sailors were ashore they wandered aimlessly about the streets, getting into bad company. How was she to remedy this? She distributed notices and invited them to a large public room in Devonport for singing and reading on Sunday afternoon. Gradually the way opened and larger quarters were secured, where the sailors could pass their time in social, as well as religious communion, and the final result was the establishing of the Royal Sailors' Rests at Portsmouth and Devonport.

There were two things about Rebecca Gratz that must ever make her an interesting figure to all women. First, and most important, was that she gave almost her entire life over to charitable work, and, second, that she was so interesting a character, and impressed Washington Irving so forcibly with that that he spoke of her to Sir Walter Scott, and the Scottish novelist made her the heroine of his novel "Ivanhoe."

Rebecca Gratz was born in Philadelphia and lived in Philadelphia all her life. Her father was a prominent merchant; she received a liberal education, and soon became conspicuous among her people for her learning, beauty, social accomplishments and her interest in religious, educational and charitable enterprises. Although the greater part of her time and energy was devoted to the welfare of her people, yet she labored with equal zeal for the uplift of the poor and afflicted wherever she found them.

Her first work was as secretary of the Female Association for the Relief of Women and Children in Reduced Circumstances, and she held that position for many years. In 1815 was founded the Philadelphia Orphan Asylum, principally through her instrumentality, and she was secretary of that institution for forty years. She also assisted in founding many other very excellent charities in Philadelphia.

Rebecca Gratz was modest, dignified and devout, and had a large and select circle of friends and admirers among all classes. She was not only beautiful, but was a charming conversationalist. It is said that Henry Clay, the American statesman, paid her marked attention, but although loved by a worthy man, she put from her heart all thoughts of marriage, and unselfishly devoted her time and attention to benevolent purposes.

In 1833 Rebecca founded a mission Sunday-school for Hebrew children in Philadelphia, where prayers of her own composition were in daily use and for which she procured the writing and compilation of text-books. This is said to be the oldest institution of the kind in America. She died on August 27, 1869, at the age of 88.

One of her brother's most intimate friends was Washington Irving, then in the early freshness of his literary fame. When in Philadelphia, Irving was a welcome guest at the mansion and the "big room" was assigned him to "roost in," as he termed it. The beauty and character of Rebecca, together with the fact that she was a representative of a race whose history is full of romance, deeply impressed him, and the foundation was laid of a cordial friendship and admiration which lasted through life.

It was in the fall of the year 1817 that Scott and Irving met for the first time. To this friendship we owe the character of "Rebecca" in "Ivanhoe." During one of their many conversations, when personal and family affairs was the topic, Irving spoke of his own and that of the Gratz family and described to Scott the wonderful beauty of Rebecca, related the story of her firm adherence to her religious faith under the most trying circumstances, and particularly illustrated her loveliness of character and zealous philanthropy.

Scott was deeply interested and impressed and conceived the plan of embodying the pure, moral sentiment that like a thread of silver ran through the story. The charm of this book lies in the sad, devoted and unrequited tenderness of the Jewish damsel. Rebecca is the angelic being in "Ivanhoe" and to the last engrosses all the interest. It is by far the most finished and the most romantic creation of female character that the author ever conceived, and ranks with any in the annals of poetry and romance.

A Booklet for Investors.

The Harris Trust and Savings Bank, 204 Dearborn street, Chicago, has issued a booklet entitled "Bonds for Safe Investment," intended for the use of persons planning to invest in bonds for the first time. Its aim is to explain in simple terms the purposes and uses of various classes of bonds, and to indicate the value of bonds as safe investments for individuals, as well as institutions. Copies may be had free upon application.

ENTHUSIASTIC FOR LAND SHOW.

Salt Lake Official Praises Exposition Plan.

Says Big Display Should Be Fine "Result-Getter."

Strong Men Added to Roll of Advisory Committee.

"The Chicago land show was the greatest colonization agent the West ever has had enlisted in its behalf," said Douglas White, industrial agent of the Salt Lake Railroad, yesterday. White has just returned from an eastern visit and is an enthusiastic land show booster.

"The Los Angeles land show, as a result-getter, should eclipse the Chicago enterprise," he added, "for we have many things in the West to contribute to its success that were beyond the reach of the managers of the Chicago show. The results of the land show in Chicago in 1909, so far as the Salt Lake is concerned, although the road was out of business for six months because of the water troubles in the Meadow Wash in Nevada, were very apparent and because of the show last year we expect, this year, to do the largest land-settling business in the history of the company. The fact that there are thousands of acres of choice agricultural lands open to settlement in our territory militated, of course, in our favor, but just the same the publicity given them at the Chicago land show was a great factor in the satisfactory results recorded."

The Salt Lake road, through White, has contracted for a large space in the Pacific Lands and Products Exposition, which will be held in this city March 18 to April 2, and will make a characteristic effort to attract the attention of settlers to the lands in that part of the West it calls its territory.

CALIFORNIA DAY.

"I shall never forget California Day at the Chicago land show," said White, after discussing the exhibition plans of the Salt Lake. "More than 5000 persons were turned away from the Coliseum. It was a jam for hours. The exhibits of the Sacramento Valley, Fresno and Los Angeles, were the objective points of every sightseer. Advertising literature was in great demand and early in the day the souvenirs were exhausted.

"During the exhibition the Salt Lake gave away 150,000 pieces of advertising literature and all the representatives of California and other western exhibits were kept busy answering questions about the West, the resources of its lands and their adaptability for homes and farms. The amount of good accomplished for the West cannot be calculated in dollars and cents. It seemed to me that every person who attended the show was interested in western lands. It was a great "back to the farm" movement in itself.

"The results of the Chicago land show, great as they undoubtedly are, will be eclipsed, in my opinion, by those of the Pacific Land and Products Exposition. I am certain that the enthusiasm will be greater and that the whole Coast, as well as the Rocky Mountain States and the west coast of Mexico, will feel its effects in an influx of settlers and consequently in increased sales of lands, for years to come. It was a glorious idea and the men behind it are of the caliber that failure is a stranger to. The Salt Lake railroad will avail itself to the limit of the great advertising advantages the exposition will offer."

HOLABIRD ON COMMITTEE.

Two additions have been made to the advisory committee, in the persons of Col. Holabird, receiver of the California Development Company, and E. O. McCormick, vice-president in charge of traffic on the Southern Pacific, with headquarters in San Francisco.

Col. Holabird, in his letter of acceptance, wrote: "I was present at the Chicago Irrigated Lands Exposition in 1909, where three times a day I gave stereopticon talks on the attractiveness of California, and I was profoundly impressed by the wonderful interest taken by the masses in the matter of lands in the Western States, particularly on the Pacific Coast. I confidently believe the results of this exposition in Los Angeles will be of great benefit and congratulate you and your associates on the interest you have awakened in a matter of such importance."

THEY'RE STIRRING.

All was animation at the offices of the land show, rooms 200 and 201 Grosse Building, yesterday, the number of visitors being the greatest since the launching of the project. Considerable space was engaged by exhibitors and a considerable amount spoken for.

The Sacramento Chamber of Commerce reserved space for a fine exhibit, the nature of which will soon be determined upon.

The Los Angeles Investment Company announced that one of the features of its display would be a model street from one of its subdivisions.

George McCaskey, local representative of the Northern Pacific, stated that his road had asked him for full particulars on the land show and that an exhibit from this source is practically assured.

A wire from the representative of the exposition in the Northwest stated that splendid exhibits from both Seattle and Portland can be counted upon by the land show management.

Today, bids from the concerns which are competing for the commission to make the proposed replicas of the Owens River Aqueduct and the Los Angeles City Market will be opened and passed upon. Another thing to be determined upon will be the form of the official programme and souvenir of the land show.

On Friday, the members of the Los Angeles Realty Board will meet at luncheon at Christopher's, No. 551 South Broadway, and will there discuss the land show and its purposes. The members of the executive committee of the exposition will be present and deliver talks on the scope of the project.

OFF TO THE CONVENTION.

Many Fruit Men Leave Here Today for Sacramento to Attend Meeting for Growers and Jobbers.

An exodus from this city of fruit jobbers and managers of the various fruit-selling firms will take place this morning, in answer to the call of the Western Fruit Jobbers' Association, which will meet this year at Sacramento. The large convention will open today, and the capital city's gates are wide open to welcome the handlers of citrus and deciduous fruits.

Manager B. A. Woodford of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange will be one of a large party to attend from this organization. The independent fruit concerns of Southern California will be very largely represented. The convention held last year in Denver opened up large possibilities in the way of getting together on marketing questions. Manager Woodford said yesterday that in these conventions the fruit managers become intimately acquainted with a large number of shippers and sellers throughout the United States. The programme of the convention will continue until Saturday.

REVIVALS TO COVER CITY.

BLOCKING OUT THE WORK TO BEAT THE DEVIL.

Church Federation Forms Twenty-two Districts and Will Conduct an Evangelistic Campaign Lasting Three Weeks—More Than Half Already Organized for the Work.

The Church Federation held a meeting yesterday and completed arrangements for a three weeks' evangelistic campaign, to cover the entire city, commencing Sunday, March 19.

It is not proposed to import any evangelists for this siege against the devil, but the work will be divided among the ministers of the city and will include the holding of meetings on the streets, in churches, halls, shops, and other public places. Los Angeles has scores of able preachers of the gospel, and this campaign will give them the opportunity of being heard in a wider pulpit than the one they usually occupy.

The city has been divided into twenty-two districts, with the following Executive Committee in general charge of the work: Rev. E. P. Ryland, chairman; Rev. William Horace Day, Rev. William MacCormack, Rev. R. P. Howell, Rev. W. Leon Tucker, Rev. A. C. Smither, Rev. W. B. Gantz, Rev. J. A. Gwissinger, Rev. T. C. Horton, Rev. Herbert J. Weaver, Maj. Campbell, Maj. Hughes and Walter H. Fisher.

The ministers of each of the districts will organize for the work in their territory, and will have entire control of their own meetings. The districts are as follows, but where no chairman or secretary are given, no organization has yet been effected:

No. 1. Central District — Chairman, Rev. Charles Edward Locke; secretary, Rev. W. E. Gill. The district includes the First Methodist, First German M. Kept Busy.

FEDERAL JUDGE OVERBURDENED.

LOCAL LEGAL BUSINESS SWAMPS U. S. DISTRICT COURT.

Judge Wellborn, Who Is Regarded by Members of Bar as One of Ablest Jurists in Western Circuit, Finds It Difficult to Speedily Dispose of Criminal and Civil Cases.

Judge Wellborn of the local United States District court is perhaps the most diligent and busiest incumbent of a judicial position in America. Notwithstanding his capacity for disposing of legal tangles expeditiously, it is impossible to keep pace with the stress of business.

One man now lies in jail, unable to give bonds and demanding an immediate trial, which is guaranteed to him by the Constitution. Others are fretting under bail. Civil cases are piled up and no one knows when it will be possible to hear them. Attorneys in many instances have compromised litigation at substantial losses to their clients because those demanding their rights could not afford to await long delays.

Although there has been more litigation in this district than could be properly disposed of by the facilities provided for several years, new burdens have been added recently.

Judge Wellborn must now go to San Diego twice each year to hold court, each session consuming at least one week. Two similar trips must be made to Fresno annually.

Judge Wellborn sits here in a dual capacity. Judge Ross of the Circuit Court is continually occupied in the Circuit Court of Appeals and has little time to attend to local matters. The District Court judge must exercise his functions in the Circuit Court here.

The amazing condition of the calendar in the local Federal courts was disclosed yesterday during the hearing of ex parte matters before a trial was taken up.

The court is now engaged in the trial of the suit of H. A. Talbot, trustee in bankruptcy, against the Pacific Light and Power Company. The suit has been in hearing for a week and will not be finished before Saturday next. A similar case is scheduled to follow it, and at the completion of that one, an intricate patent suit will be taken up.

The suit of the government against the Rindge estate in regard to opening roads through the Malibu ranch is now ready for trial. No one will venture to estimate how long it will continue. The testimony taken before a commissioner numbers approximately seventy-five volumes. It will be necessary to assign an Oregon judge to hear the case.

NEW STATION NOT NEEDED.

Manager Protective League Gives Reasons for Opposing Establishment of Another Citrus Experiment.

To augment the present agricultural experiment station at Whittier and Riverside by the addition of another at any point in the citrus-growing belt is not a wise or feasible plan, in the estimation of Manager Powell of the California Citrus Protective League. The growing importance of the movement to ask the Legislature to favor the establishment of a third station is seen in the fact that prominent members of citrus organizations in several localities have begun a campaign to excite the attention of the Legislature as a preparatory measure to the introduction of a bill. Riverside and Covina are both making tentative offerings for this proposed station.

Manager Powell, who for ten years was actively engaged in this work with the United States Bureau of Plant Industry, stated yesterday that such a movement would be retrogressive, a reversion to methods abandoned ten years ago.

"The department abolished the substation, after a thorough trial," said Powell. "It was found that work of the most efficient character could not be carried on when the forces were so scattered. It is an extremely difficult thing to secure competent investigators and scientists for the work in an experiment station, and it never has been possible to secure any more than were necessary for the principal stations. The establishment of a third station at any point in the State would simply be that of creating a sub-station."

Powell also stated that the present experiment stations should be in a position to cover all the territory through the efforts of the field men, and through co-operation with the ranchers of all the agricultural and citrus growing districts.

The determined movement for a station at Covina has grown out of a feeling among the ranchmen that this particular territory has not been receiving the attention that it should from the scientific workers at Whittier and Riverside. Among those who have been influential in calling this fact to the attention of the citrus experts are Ben F. Thorpe, president of the Covina Valley Farmers' Club, and Prof. J. J. Morgan, president of the Covina Chamber of Commerce. These organizations intend to work in conjunction for closer supervision of this big citrus territory by the departmental experts.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

The Common Drinking Cup.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] We laugh at the old country man who treats all of his friends from the same bottle, each one getting a little spittle left on the bottle from the last one who drank. But he laughs best who laughs last. The alcohol in the whisky of the countryman disinfects the sputum on the bottle's mouth and renders it innocuous. But how is it with the common drinking cup at our public stations in our cities and on our railroad trains? Are these drinking cups not perfectly filthy? All classes of people, with all the diseases known to afflict the human family, drink out of these cups, one after another, without being disinfected, or even washed with a little whisky.

Some years ago Kansas passed a law prohibiting the common drinking cup being used on railroad trains. At first it created severe and unfavorable comment, but soon reaction set in, when its protective importance was appreciated and when you see a tourist in Los Angeles take out a drinking cup from its case in his pocket or bag, you can safely ask him, "what part of Kansas are you from?" A New York City gentleman, formerly from Kansas, on his way to Topeka, having passed through Missouri into Kansas went to the cooler to get a drink, but failed to find the public drinking cup and called to the train porter for the cup. "No, sah," said the poster. "You are in Kansas now and yo' must get yo' own cup." At that information the New Yorker began a tirade of abuse of Kansas, her cranks, her climate, her everything, and glad that he left suca a State of long-haired men and short-haired women and fools. But, lo and behold, the New York Legislature has a bill before it now to do away with the common drinking cup on all railroad trains and in public places. Sho-ly the effete East is beginning to "sit up and take notice" of real western progress.

The City Council of Los Angeles is to be commended for an effort along the line of public hygiene and health in an ordinance passed to prohibit spitting on the sidewalks of our beautiful cosmopolitan city. It is not only the duty of the officers of the city to enforce this anti-spitting ordinance, but it is the duty of every law-abiding citizen to assist in its enforcement by calling the officers' attention to its infraction and to follow it up by voluntarily witnessing when required to do so. Prevention of the spread of disease means cleanliness. Cleanliness is the line of demarcation which differentiates man from the brute.

The sputum is much more dangerous to life by way of spreading disease than the other excrements from the human body. A man is a safer man in the community who will attend to the other calls of nature on the streets and on the street cars than the man who spits promiscuously. The sputum being fresh gives off no odor to warn us, so that we may be on our guard to protect ourselves, but it carries the deadly germ, and when the spittle dries it is carried in small quantities in the dust and we inhale these germs and they find a lodgment in the human body and soon do their deadly work.

[Signed] DR. J. E. MINNEY.

THE RAILWAY WORLD.

E. L. Copeland, secretary and treasurer of the Santa Fe, talked about the financial department of the company at Denver the other day. "When you consider the various interests that must be dealt with in the management of the railway system of today," he said, "you must necessarily conclude that the president of a railway company, with his official staff, must have all of the qualifications which are required in other lines of trade. The interests which must be considered are, first, the owners of the company, as stockholders; second, the public, as shippers and passengers; third, the labor organizations with petitions for increased wages and less hours; fourth, regulation by the United States governmental commissions. Every new obligation caused by expansion must have careful consideration as to how these four interests will be affected and the regulation which will be required, and in addition, the State Legislatures and State railroad commissioners must be considered."

"We are optimistic, and believe the freight rate troubles of the railroads are on the wane," said J. A. Munroe, fright traffic manager of the Union Pacific Railroad at Denver last week. "The year is starting out nicely," continued Mr. Monroe. "We are doing business on a conservative basis and think the same course is being followed by the commercial interests in general. There are always periods when conservatism is desirable, and we are going through such a period now. The underlying conditions, however, are good, and as I said, we are optimistic as to the future."

A bulletin issued by the engineering experiment station of the University of Illinois presents a compilation of tests made on thirty-two freight trains in regular service by Edward C. Schmidt, to determine freight train resistance and its relation to car weights. For trains composed of cars weighing fifteen tons on the average, the resistance is shown to vary from seven and one-half pounds per ton at five miles per hour, to thirteen and one-half pounds per ton at forty miles per hour. For trains composed of cars weighing seventy-five tons, the resistance is shown to vary from three pounds per ton at five miles per hour, to five and one-half pounds per ton at forty miles per hour.

A job which carries with it a salary of $100,000 a year is going begging because no one can be found who will take it. The presidency of the Missouri Pacific has been offered to W. H. Truesdale, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, and to Howard Elliott, president of the Northern Pacific, and declined—with thanks—by both, according to New York financial papers.

Trackwalkers on the Pennsylvania Railroad are now required to register as they make their rounds. The system consists of a specially designed clock, four of which are placed on every subdivision. The average time the men will be required to make is thirty-five minutes between each clock. Under the system there will be no possibility of the men shirking their duty without it being known to their superior officer.

THE ROMANCE OF SONORA HANES, THE PRETTY LITTLE INDIAN TELECONI

WILL THE FAMOUS TELECONI MAN BECOME A FA

CLAREMONT, Okla., Feb. 11.—A pretty little romance involving a pretty Indian maiden, a New York millionaire and the Teleconi man, who is now at the Hotel Rosslyn in Los Angeles, it is said, is about to culminate in a happy marriage. The romance began in Denver nearly two years ago, when Miss Sonora Hanes was taken there by her mother on the recommendation of the family physician that the girl's only hope of life was in a change of climate.

Sonora was beautiful as a child, so fair and with such bloom in her cheeks that no one would recognize the Indian blood, but as she turned into womanhood a change came that dimmed the luster of her cheeks and dulled the brightness of her eyes. She contracted a cough that wasted her plump young form until the local physicians pronounced her a consumptive, and named the higher altitude of Colorado as the last hope. When the change of climate proved ineffective, the family doctor advised the mother that since all hope was gone she might as well return with her daughter to where the invalid could at least enjoy the comforts of home and be surrounded with the attention of friends and kindred, little suspecting that ere his advice could be followed the girl would find health by the drugless route and happiness and wealth by the marriage route. It was in Denver that Sonora met the Teleconi man by whom she was brought back to health and vigor, and it was in Denver that she met the son of a New York millionaire. Nor did this wealthy New Yorker suspect when he met the fair and beautiful descendant of an Osage chief that but a few weeks before she had been brought to Denver a hopeless invalid. It is said that upon learning the means by which such a wonderful change had been wrought in her condition, he went to the Teleconi man and presented him with a check almost as large as the famous Armour check given to Lorenz, and today he insists [illegible] bride as his little [illegible] further evidence [illegible] what Teleconi has [illegible] he will endow [illegible] State where some [illegible] of the treatment.

trio is that he recently took great pains to have gold crowns extracted from his teeth.

The dynamiter's crowns were noticeable, and this was one of the marks which the officers realized would attract attention. While the suspect was under surveillance, he went to a dentist and had the crowns taken off. The circumstance was strange as they seemed to have been perfectly fitted.

Information was received by Capt. Fredericks yesterday that the man giving the name of A. P. Rush, who was arrested in Lewiston, Idaho, is not Schmidt.

FATE PLAYS A TRICK.

Fate played a trick with him similar to the one of which Teller Evans of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank was a victim. Evans put into port to get supplies and was taken as a suspect. He was then discovered to be the missing defaulter.

The moment Rush was taken in custody, the officers began to trace back his record. They followed it for seven years and discovered that he was almost seven times a bigamist, if he is not a dynamiter. He must now stand trial on a charge of bigamy in Oregon

HERMIT DIES IN CABIN HOME.

Note on Table Tells What to Do With Body Should He "Be Found Dead."

VISALIA, Feb. 14.—Evidently having been dead for three to four days, a party of neighbors found Silas R. Hoover dead in his lonesome mountain cabin in the Sierras, twelve miles east of this city, yesterday. ...ages were sent to Coroner Locey, who made an immediate investigation. Hoover evidently felt that his end was ...r, for on the rude table in his hut there was a note written in pencil in which he said that if he were to be found dead, to notify his cousin, Bert Camp, a resident of Scandinavian Colony, near Fresno.

Hoover has lived a hermit-like existence for several years, prospecting and trapping for a livelihood. He very seldom visited the valley, and he depended upon his neighbors to bring him the few provisions he required for his wants.

Hoover was in his apparent usual health when a party of mountain people passed his cabin early last week. They were on their way to the valley and took an order from Hoover for groceries. They were four days on the trip and when they returned they found the note and Hoover lying dead upon his bunk. Hoover is reputed to have considerable property, all of which, it is said, was left to his cousin, Camp.

Famous "Pint of Cough Syrup" Receipt

No Better Remedy at Any Price. Fully Guaranteed.

Make a plain syrup by mixing one pint of granulated sugar and ½ pint of warm water and stir for two minutes. Put 2½ ounces of pure Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of $2. It never spoils. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It seems to take hold instantly, and will usually stop the most obstinate cough in 24 hours. It tones up the jaded appetite and is just laxative enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasing taste. Also excellent for bronchial trouble, throat tickle, sore lungs and asthma, and an unequaled remedy for whooping cough.

This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) is a prime favorite in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, though never successfully. If you try it, use only genuine Pinex, which is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this recipe.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET

The demand for eggs became so insistent on the local markets yesterday morning that every offering of case-count was snapped up with prices as high as 30 cents, at which figure the market remained. Candled naturally took a sympathetic jump. Northern and Imperial Valley eggs advanced to a range from 29 to 32 cents a dozen. The first car of eastern eggs will arrive in Los Angeles this morning. They are from Kansas and the opening price on the market is expected to be 27 or 28 cents, depending on what the local market does. The eggs are fresh and are intended for immediate distribution rather than storage. Receipts of local eggs yesterday were 5328 cases.

There were few features in the butter market. The Elgin quotation was up to 26½ cents. Chicago making exactly the same selling price. New York reported 29 cents on creamery extra, while San Francisco is back up to 32 cents. The production is on the increase locally and the market remains a trifle shaky. Yesterday 50,070 pounds were received.

The local cheese, under anchor brand, is again off the market. The factory at Compton has been closing very little manufacturing, owing to scarcity of milk for that purpose. Northern full cream, fresh and storage, imported Swiss wheel cheese and eastern twins were the best sellers of the day. Receipts were 2710 pounds.

Potatoes ruled firm. Receipts were among the heaviest in the past two weeks, 5500 sacks, but the demand is very heavy again and this is helping the market to remain steady. New potatoes from the Imperial section are arriving. They are very fancy, but it will be two months before sufficient local stock is arriving to effect the market to any degree.

A car of northern onions arrived. An advance of 25 cents was reported on Nevada and Oregon onions, which are of very fancy quality. Northern onions were firm at 2.50 per hundred.

Baby Washington beans moved at 2.75. Other varieties were very quiet. The call for sweet potatoes was fair. Only seventeen sacks were reported in.

Fresh mushrooms are still in good demand and the supply seems to keep up pretty well. The field stock is selling at 60 cents per pound on the best. Mexican tomatoes are moving freely and are selling from 1.50 to 1.75. There is a firmer feeling in crate vegetables on account of the light receipts. Cold weather is expected to do some damage and advances in lettuce, cauliflower and one of the other similar vegetables are expected.

Candled naturally took a sympathetic jump. Northern and Imperial Valley eggs advanced to a range from 29 to 32 cents a dozen. The first car of eastern eggs will arrive in Los Angeles this morning. They are from Kansas and the opening price on the market is expected to be 27 or 28 cents, depending on what the local market does. The eggs are fresh and are intended for immediate distribution rather than storage. Receipts of local eggs yesterday were 5328 cases.

There were few features in the butter market. The Elgin quotation was up to 26½ cents. Chicago making exactly the same selling price. New York reported 29 cents on creamery extra, while San Francisco is back up to 32 cents. The production is on the increase locally and the market remains a trifle shaky. Yesterday 50,070 pounds were received.

The local cheese, under anchor brand, is again off the market. The factory at Compton has been closing very little manufacturing, owing to scarcity of milk for that purpose. Northern full cream, fresh and storage, imported Swiss wheel cheese and eastern twins were the best sellers of the day. Receipts were 2710 pounds.

Potatoes ruled firm. Receipts were among the heaviest in the past two weeks, 5500 sacks, but the demand is very heavy again and this is helping the market to remain steady. New potatoes from the Imperial section are arriving. They are very fancy, but it will be two months before sufficient local stock is arriving to effect the market to any degree.

A car of northern onions arrived. An advance of 25 cents was reported on Nevada and Oregon onions, which are of very fancy quality. Northern onions were firm at 2.50 per hundred.

Baby Washington beans moved at 2.75. Other varieties were very quiet. The call for sweet potatoes was fair. Only seventeen sacks were reported in.

Fresh mushrooms are still in good demand and the supply seems to keep up pretty well. The field stock is selling at 60 cents per pound on the best. Mexican tomatoes are moving freely and are selling from 1.50 to 1.75. There is a firmer feeling in crate vegetables on account of the light receipts. Cold weather is expected to do some damage and advances in lettuce, cauliflower and one of the other similar vegetables are expected.

OLD PROBLEM FACES LOVETT.

Espee Head Expected Here May Settle Station.

Each Railroad Seems to Have Own Pet Location.

When R. S. Lovett arrives in Los Angeles on his annual tour of inspection this month, he will find important Southern Pacific changes effective since his last official visit. Unless he has something new to offer on the subject, the old problem of a new union passenger station will be found in the same unsettled condition as heretofore.

The first of the changes referred to is the recent taking over of the interurban lines adjacent to the city by the Southern Pacific, with the consequent establishing here of the official headquarters of Paul Shoup, vice-president, in charge of electric lines controlled by the Southern Pacific.

A dispatch in The Times yesterday told of the realization of a matter outlined recently in these columns to give Los Angeles officials of higher rank authority to deal with the problems presented by the constantly expanding traffic out of this territory. It took specific form in the creation of the southern traffic district with headquarters in Los Angeles, embracing the territory south of Santa Barbara and Mojave east to the Texas border, practically the same territory which in the operating department, is in charge of H. V. Platt, general superintendent, with headquarters in Los Angeles.

The change takes away from Los Angeles a popular official, namely, T. A. Graham, who, as assistant general freight and passenger agent, was the ranking traffic official in this territory. He is promoted to general freight agent, succeeding G. W. Luce, who becomes assistant to E. O. McCormick, vice-president in charge of traffic, in San Francisco. Graham's place here is taken by two officials, to wit, F. E. Batturs, general passenger agent, and J. G. Stubbs, general freight agent.

Graham, Batturs and Stubbs have been long in the service of the Southern Pacific. Graham began his railroad career twenty-nine years ago, advancing rapidly and holding important positions at Oakland, Seattle, San Jose and San Francisco, coming to Los Angeles in 1906 as assistant general freight and passenger agent. Batturs has had an equally promising record. His previous promotion was in 1909, when he succeeded Paul Shoup as assistant general passenger agent at San Francisco. Stubbs has had various positions in the general freight office, and was made assistant general freight agent at San Francisco three years ago.

Harriman promised the Chamber of Commerce that when Congress returned the money spent by the Southern Pacific in protecting the Imperial Valley from flood, the Southern Pacific would build a new union station in Los Angeles. Lovett repeated this promise when here last year. Meanwhile, there has been an active demand for a new union station, and the Chamber of Commerce has a committee to promote the project, consisting of F. W. Blanchard, H. Hawgood, Arthur Letts, R. A. Rowan and Robert Marsh.

The Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe, according to statements of officials, favor a new union station, but each appears determined in favor of a particular location; the Salt Lake will be satisfied with either location. E. P. Ripley, president of the Santa Fe, insists that the only practical location for a union station is on the river front. There are those who insist that, inasmuch as the Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific trains pass under the same arch of the Buena Vista-street bridge, entering the city from the north, east or west, some location in this vicinity, contiguous to the Salt Lake Railroad, would be preferred to rebuilding on the present site of the Arcade station, which is further uptown. Those who support this proposition insist that the first-named location would save time, even with the present trolley accommodations at that point. They also insist that this location would remove the necessity of hauling steam trains through the already congested business part of the city.

Concedes a Point.

The Santa Fe Railroad, rather than lose the National Educational Association to the Pacific Coast, yielded its contention that the railroad tickets be validated at Los Angeles. The tickets will be validated for return passage at San Francisco, and the convention will be held as scheduled.

The National Educational Association has added generously to its fund every year by $2 placed on the regular excursion rate, which was classed as a membership fee in the association. Hundreds of people travel on the rates given by the railroads who are not members of the association, and the extra $2 was so much "velvet" for the educational association.

The Santa Fe wanted Los Angeles made the validating point for the reason that tickets could be stamped for return passage here, hundreds of the excursionists not caring to go to San Francisco. Under the agreement reached, however, all traveling on the rates granted for the convention will have to start back from San Francisco where the tickets will be validated. The fight was won when the officials of the educational association threatened to take the convention away from the Pacific Coast.

Oranges Travel Fast.

The Gould lines have made a new record in moving oranges from Southern California to the East. Recently a train of oranges was taken from Colton to Indianapolis in 68½ hours, which is a new record. It was handled over the Southern Pacific, Texas and Pacific, and the Iron Mountain lines to St. Louis. Another shipment went to Kansas City on equally fast time, this train leaving the Texas and Pacific at Sweetwater, and running over the tracks of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient, and Missouri Pacific to Kansas City.

Want "Flyer" Service.

Petitions are out asking for a flyer service to supplement the local service on the old line of the Pacific Electric from the junction point near the County Hospital through Highland Park to South Pasadena. It has been practically decided that the Pacific Electric will give the asked for service a try-out before permanently rejecting the service or installing it for keeps.

Another Rate Fight On.

The Associated Jobbers of Los Angeles met yesterday to outline the campaign for continuing the switching rate case. This is the case won by the jobbers in the lower courts, but which was appealed by the railroads to the Supreme Court of the United States.

THE THEATERS.

applause that at once stamps him as a great popular favorite. He is making a pronounced hit with the official fair song, "'Frisco, You're a Bear," written by Arthur Don and Jack McClellan, and sung this week for the first time on any stage. The song has a catchy swing that popularizes it immediately. The air is one that is easily remembered. Half the audience went out humming or whistling it. Kelly can make almost any song "go," but his repertoire this week is the best he has yet put on. He took several encores and good-naturedly responded each time with a new song.

Disputing stubbornly with Kelly for first place honors are the Three Veterans, in a patriotic act that stirs the heart, and was staged for the first time at the Hyman. In front of an immense American flag drop are three soldiers, two of them old men who saw service in the Civil War, and the other a man in the prime of life, but a veteran of Dewey's famous battle of Manila Bay. These three, playing upon the same instruments that they used in the heat and peril of conflict, make martial music.

Col. George H. Wheelock was known as the "Drummer Boy of Kalamazoo" and was said to be the youngest drummer in the Northern army. He won the snare-drum championship of the world twice in the early '60's. Fife Major Jack Benham marched with Sherman to the sea, winning fame as a fifer and two mentions in dispatches for bravery. S. E. Gallagher was in the navy during the Spanish War and later went around the world with the squadron.

Tony Ryder's monkey circus is always sure fire. He has a splendidly trained troupe of little animals that work as though they enjoyed every moment.

A most attractive singer is the dainty soubrette, Edyth Molar. Her voice and selections are excellent and she made friends with the audience from the start. Her numbers were sung with a vim and go that were delightfully refreshing.

The first run pictures deserve praise for the good judgment used in their selection and their photographic excellence.

Mining Man Here Says Rich Gold Strike in Valdez Has Excited Prospectors and Looks for Stampede.

Alaska is on the verge of a greater gold rush than happened in 1897 and 1898, according to J. M. Lathrop, who with his wife, is staying at the Alexandria. He has many interests in that country.

"Valdez is in the throes of excitement over the many discoveries of gold, and engineers who have been investigating some of that territory state that it will be the Cripple Creek district of Alaska," he stated.

"One prospector's three stamp mill in six months of last year before the season closed, pounded out $225,000. Other instances of similar prosperity have caused the beginning of the rush. Throughout the northwestern territory, through British Columbia and in Alaskan cities, there are many men outfitting for the new Valdez territory, and the break up of winter will see the rush on."

Lathrop has been in Alaska many years. He lived in California for about thirty years before going North.
